Draft Champions Mode

What Is Draft Champions?

Draft Champions is a brand-new way to play Madden NFL 16. It is a free-to-play game mode that builds in the excitement of a fantasy football draft with on-the-field Madden NFL action. Players in Draft Champions can choose to compete in a solo draft against the CPU or in a head-to-head (H2H) draft. Players start by picking a coach, which gives them their playbooks and team style. From there, the fun begins and they will draft 15 rounds of players before playing with their team. The more you win, the greater the rewards you can earn!

Draft On

TIP

Check your base team for sleepers — they may change your draft plan!

Keep an eye out for legends; drafting one is an excellent way to give your team an identity.

From the main menu, select the Draft Champions panel to get started building your team. Once you select solo or head-to-head, you can enter a draft and start selecting your team. The game will give you a starting roster with base players who generally have around a 68 to 70 Overall rating. You won't have enough selections to fully create a lineup, so keep an eye on these players, as they will see the field at some point. All of these players have strengths and weaknesses, so try to get the most out of them if they make the lineup. Know which positions you need elite talent at and which ones you don't value unless something great comes up. If you grab an elite QB but keep a base left tackle, will you have enough time to consistently throw downfield? This is what makes Draft Champions so compelling. Remember that there are no wrong answers.

TEAM STYLES

TIP

Your coach will be the biggest factor in your team's style. Each coach grants +50 to style on offense and defense.

Choosing between a coach with a good playbook and one with a good style is one of the toughest decisions in Draft Champions: Lean towards playbook!

Building up your team style is a great way to get your team some boosts during gameplay. Keep an eye on what items you are starting to collect and start to build out a lineup. By flipping over an item, you can see how much style it will add to your team. Make sure to get your players in their proper positions to receive the boost. Styles and boosts work the same way as in Madden Ultimate Team, so test them there and find one you are comfortable with. This way you can experiment with the effects of style. For example, is a plus-50 boost enough or do you like to go higher?

AFTER THE DRAFT

After the draft is complete, you can adjust your lineup and play your Draft Champions game. You can also evaluate your coaching and equipment like uniforms and stadiums. Taking a few seconds to adjust your lineup can pay off in a big way once you hit the field. Make sure you get all the talent you selected into the best positions to make plays. If you selected two HBs, consider moving one to receiver if he has a high Catch rating. If you selected two OLBs who play the same side, move the backup to the other side to replace a base-level player.

All the small tweaks will help you get the most from the lineup once you get on the field. Using the Compare Items option in the Lineup screen is a great way to evaluate players' abilities and see who matches your team's play style. Finding good Formations is crucial to success. For example, you want a formation to spread out the defense if you went heavy on receivers, but you'll need different options for pounding the ball if you went with a halfback and strong offensive line. Check out play-calling sheets in the Teams chapter to help find the best plays in your playbook.

Your opponent will have some great players but will also be weak at a few positions. Try to target them and get your best talent matched up against their weaker positions (but know that they will do the same). Using the matchup stick in-game is a good way to keep an eye on these potential ratings mismatches.

The game will keep you up to date on your wins and losses. Don't worry if you take a loss, because that just means you get to do another draft! If you keep racking up the wins, you will keep earning better rewards. If you chose the solo challenge route, you need to win three games before you lose one to earn rewards. If you chose head-to-head, you must win four games before you lose one. Once you lose, you get your rewards depending on how many games you won, and then you draft a new team all over again.

Offensive Styles

- Short Pass style boosts Catch in Traffic and Pass Blocking to improve your ability to complete short to intermediate passes.
- Long Pass style boosts Route Running and Pass Blocking and improves your ability to complete intermediate to deep passes.
- Ground and Pound style boosts Trucking and Run Blocking, thus increasing your effectiveness with a power running game plan.
- Speed Run style boosts Elusiveness and Run Blocking, increasing the effectiveness of a running game plan built around quickness.

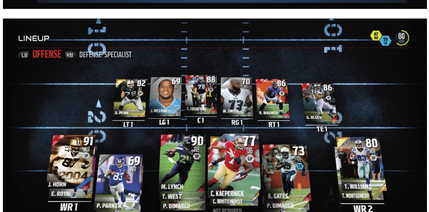

Defensive Styles

- Zone Defense style boosts Play Recognition and Zone Coverage, so there's an increased chance of success when you call zone coverage plays.
- Man Defense style boosts Play Recognition and Man Coverage for an increased chance of success when you call man coverage plays.
- Pass Rush style boosts Pursuit and Block Shedding, so players blitzing the QB are more likely to escape blocks.
- Run Stuff style boosts Tackling and Block Shedding, so defenders have a better chance of shutting down plays.

TIP

You will be given a heads-up if a player in the draft matches your coach's style.

TIP

Don't forget to optimize your lineup for the 4-3 or 3-4 defense depending on which coach you selected and his playbook.

You will be able to see your opponent's best players when loading into the game, so think about how they will use them!

Top 5 Tips for Draft Champions

Draft Champions is a brand-new mode that puts every player on equal ground when putting their team together. Since the rounds are totally random and no two drafts are the same, your results will vary. You may feel very confident about your team after one draft and the next time feel like you made a mistake. No matter what, your team will be able to win games on the field, so stay cool and be ready!

5 HAVE A PLAN

TIP

Taking on a human opponent is one of the biggest challenges. In general, they tend to draft their favorite players or skill positions and leave the offensive line weak.

Knowing what type of team you want to build is extremely important when starting a draft. Although you never know which players will appear, you can ask yourself a few questions about your play style to really have an advantage.

- Is my defensive playbook a 3-4 or 4-3?
- Would I rather be a run-first or pass-first player?
- Which position is the most valuable to me on offense?

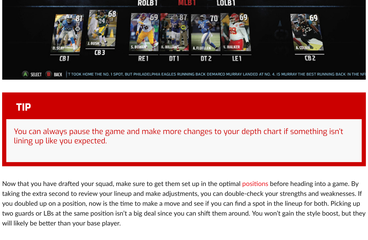

TIP

QB is the most important position in Draft Champions; however, if you favor a run-heavy style and get an elite offensive line, your HB could be your most important player.

- If a certain elite player is available, will I select him even if I already have that position covered and a need at another spot?
- Who would be a fun player to user-control on defense?
- Should I draft based on ratings or based on name recognition?
- How much do I value whether or not a player matches up with my team style?

The best part is that even if you don't have quite the draft you planned for, you will still have a solid team that can win games.

4 SET YOUR LINEUP

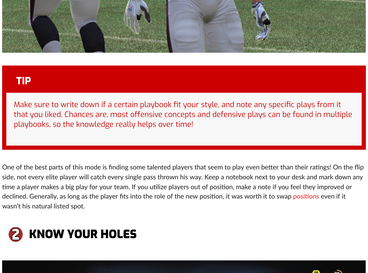

TIP

You can always pause the game and make more changes to your depth chart if something isn't lining up like you expected.

Now that you have drafted your squad, make sure to get them set up in the optimal positions before heading into a game. By taking the extra second to review your lineup and make adjustments, you can double-check your strengths and weaknesses. If you doubled up on a position, now is the time to make a move and see if you can find a spot in the lineup for both. Picking up two guards or LBs at the same position isn't a big deal since you can shift them around. You won't gain the style boost, but they will likely be better than your base player.

3 TEST EVERYTHING AND KEEP NOTES

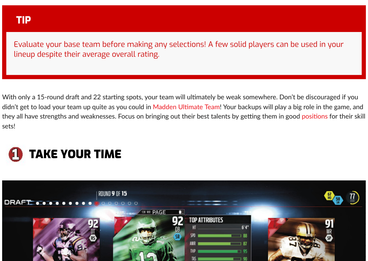

TIP

Make sure to write down if a certain playbook fit your style, and note any specific plays from it that you liked. Chances are, most offensive concepts and defensive plays can be found in multiple playbooks, so the knowledge really helps over time!

One of the best parts of this mode is finding some talented players that seem to play even better than their ratings! On the flip side, not every elite player will catch every single pass thrown his way. Keep a notebook next to your desk and mark down any time a player makes a big play for your team. If you utilize players out of position, make a note if you feel they improved or declined. Generally, as long as the player fits into the role of the new position, it was worth it to swap positions even if it wasn't his natural listed spot.

2 KNOW YOUR HOLES

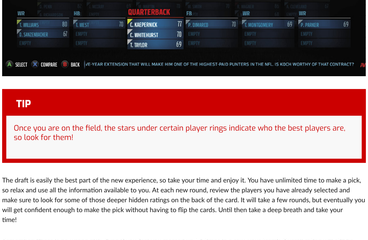

TIP

Evaluate your base team before making any selections! A few solid players can be used in your lineup despite their average overall rating.

With only a 15-round draft and 22 starting spots, your team will ultimately be weak somewhere. Don't be discouraged if you didn't get to load your team up quite as you could in Madden Ultimate Team! Your backups will play a big role in the game, and they all have strengths and weaknesses. Focus on bringing out their best talents by getting them in good positions for their skill sets!

1 TAKE YOUR TIME

TIP

Once you are on the field, the stars under certain player rings indicate who the best players are, so look for them!

The draft is easily the best part of the new experience, so take your time and enjoy it. You have unlimited time to make a pick, so relax and use all the information available to you. At each new round, review the players you have already selected and make sure to look for some of those deeper hidden ratings on the back of the card. It will take a few rounds, but eventually you will get confident enough to make the pick without having to flip the cards. Until then take a deep breath and take your time!

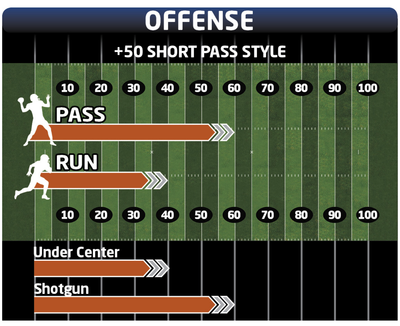

Remember: There is no wrong pick. Even if you feel you messed up 15 times in a row, your team's Overall rating will still be high enough to win a game against someone who made 15 "perfect" selections. "Scheme over team!"

EA SPORTS MADDEN NFL 16

Draft Champions Mode

Chicago Bears

Offense

The Bears' playbook has seen some big changes in Madden NFL 16 and is now a balanced playbook with plenty of chances for big plays downfield. Run-first players will need an all-around HB, while pass-first players should aim for a big receiving target.

Key Formation

Singleback Tight Flex is the optimal formation to start out in, especially if you get a balanced TE who can run-block and hit the seam. If you can't block your opponent's pass rush, drop back to shotgun.

Key Player

QB with 95+ Throw Power

Formations

- Singleback: Ace, Ace Close, Ace Pair Twins, Doubles, Y-Trips Bear, Tight Flex
- I-Form: Pro, Flex Twins, Tight
- Strong: Pro, Tight Pair
- Weak: Twins Flex
- Pistol: Ace, Slot Wing, Y-Trips
- Gun: Split Offset, Doubles Wk, Y-Trips Wk, Trio, Bunch Wk, Snugs Flip, Dice Y-Flex, Trey Open, Empty Trey, 5WR Trio

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- HB (SPD, TRK, CTH)
- WR (6'3"+ RTE, SPC)
- QB (THP, DAC, PAC)

PRO TIP

No matter what style you want to run, having a big arm to unleash an attempt downfield once per half will keep the defense hesitant to cram the box.

Defense

The Bears have changed over to a 3-4 playbook and will really benefit from pass-rushing defensive ends who won't need to drop into zone too often. No matter what, you will still want a solid MLB who is built for zone coverage.

Key Formation

The Bears' Nickel 2-4-5 Prowl is a great defensive formation that can really give the offense headaches. Start with the Cover 2 Drop and see if all the commotion before the snap doesn't throw your opponent off for a while!

Key Player

MLB with 85+ Play Recognition

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Under, Over, Even, Bear
- Nickel: 2-4-5 Even, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, 2-4-5 Prowl, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6 Even, 2-3-6 Will
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- MLB (PRC, ZCV, SPD)
- DE (STR, BSH, PMV)
- CB (MCV, ZCV, PRS)

PRO TIP

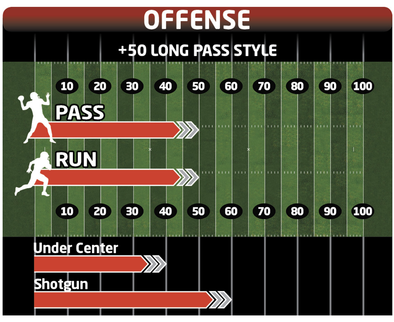

Drafting a second MLB isn't a terrible move if a good one appears during your draft. This would have you using 3-3-5 Wide less often or using formation subs to get crafty.

MADDEN NFL 16

Draft Champions Mode

Cincinnati Bengals

Offense

The Bengals' offense is optimized for either a power or speed back, which makes it versatile. If you get a power back, stick with the under-center run Formations. If you find an elusive player, get him out in space for screens and counters from shotgun.

Key Formation

Gun Trips Y Iso will let your best offensive playmaker get a chance downfield!

Key Player

WR/TE with 85+ Spectacular Catch

Formations

- Singleback: Ace, Ace Pair, Ace Pair Twins, Doubles, Y-Trips, Snugs Flip, Bunch
- I-Form: Pro, Pro Twins, Tight Pair
- Strong: Pro, Close, Pro Twins
- Weak: Pro Twins
- Pistol: Strong Twins
- Gun: Split Slot, Ace Offset, Ace Twins Offset, Doubles Offset, Y-Trips Bengal, Trio, Bunch Wk, Double Stack, Normal Y-Flex Tight, Trips Y Iso, Trey Open, Empty Trey, Empty Base Flex
- Wildcat: Bengal

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- WR (SPD, RTE, SPC)
- QB (THP, MAC, DAC)
- HB (SPD, CTH, ELU)

PRO TIP

The Bengals' playbook has some solid one-on-one routes if you can land a star WR, but make sure your QB has the throwing power to get the ball downfield!

Defense

The Bengals' defensive book contains lots of versatility for a 4-3 playbook. By dropping defensive ends into coverage and sending LBs on blitzes, there is plenty of confusion to be created.

Key Formation

The 46 Normal is perfect for slowing down the run and testing your opponent's passing game. Move your defensive linemen around to find them good rushing matchups!

Key Player

DT with 85+ Finesse Moves

Formations

- 4-3: Stack, Under, Over, Over Plus, Wide 9
- 46: Normal
- Nickel: Normal, Double A Gap, 3-3-5, 3-3-5 Wide
- Dime: Normal
- Quarter: Normal, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- DT (FMV, ACC, STR)
- MLB (POW, ZCV, PRC)
- DE (SPD, FMV, ZCV)

PRO TIP

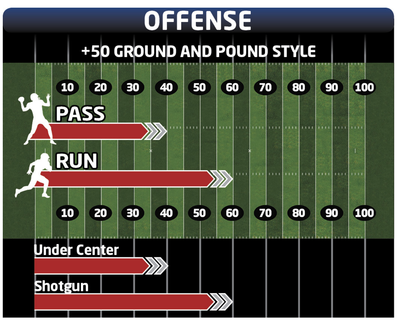

If you can draft a more athletic pass-rushing DT, it will pay off more than a stronger run-stuffing type.

Draft Champions Mode

Buffalo Bills

Offense

The Bills' offense is perfect for players who like to mix two HBs into their game plan. If you can commit to running the ball and keeping your backs fresh, you will have great success.

Key Formation

Buffalo has an excellent formation with the Dbls Wing Offset Wk. This allows you to run inside or outside to set up quick throws to the edge. Use this formation to get your fastest playmakers a mismatch on the outside.

Key Player

HB with 90+ Speed

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo Pair, Ace, Ace Close, Ace Pair, Ace Pair Flex, Bunch Ace, Bills Doubles
- I-Form: Pro, Pro Twins, Tight, Tight Pair
- Strong: Pro, Tight Pair
- Weak: Pro
- Pistol: Full House TE, Full House Base, Strong Twins, Weak Twins, Ace Twins
- Gun: Doubles, Dbls Wing Offset Wk, Y-Trips Wk, Trio Offset Wk, Bunch HB Str, Spread Flex Wk, Trey Open, Empty Trey Flex

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- HB (SPD, ACC, ELU)
- WR (SPD, ACC, RLS)
- QB (ACC, PAC, MAC)

PRO TIP

Look for a mobile QB rather than a pocket passer, especially if the difference in Overall rating is within a few points.

- OLB (ZCV, PRC, PUR)
- SS (PRC, SPD, ACC)
- DT (STR, BSH, PMV)

Defense

The Bills' playbook has always been built around solid defensive linemen and fast edge rushers. However, add more blitzes to your game plan with a new coach in town.

Key Formation

Look to the Nickel 2-4-5 Even as a formation where you will be able to get the most out of your lineup. The 3-3-5 Wide is also an option if you are more comfortable and want to shut down the edge runs.

Key Player

OLB with 90+ FMV/PMV

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Predator, Over, Over Ed, Bear
- Nickel: 2-4-5 Even, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6, 1-4-6
- Dollar: 3-2-6
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

PRO TIP

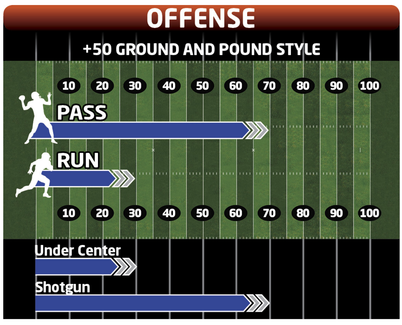

Getting one elite player in your secondary will make you feel that much more comfortable when sending heavy pressure.

Draft Champions Mode

Denver Broncos

Offense

The Denver offense has some unique formation names, with "dice" and "deuce" showing up, but don't be fooled, because it is one of the best playbooks for passing downfield in Madden NFL 16.

Key Formation

Pistol Bunch TE forces the defense into a tough alignment against the offense and allows you to take any area they leave weak! Start out by targeting the flats early and often until they commit to slowing you down. Short passes not only set you up for later in the game, but one broken tackle can turn a short gain into a first down.

Key Player

WR with 90+ Route Running

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo Z, Deuce, Deuce Pair Twins, Dice Slot, Y-Trips
- I-Form: Pro, Tight
- Strong: Close
- Pistol: Ace, Ace Twins, Bunch TE, Slot Wing, Y-Trips, Trips
- Gun: Deuce, Dice Slot, Dice Slot Wk, Y-Trips HB Wk, Bunch Wk, Snugs, Dice Y-Flex, Empty Trey, Empty Bronco

- WR (6'3", RTE, SPC, ACC)
- TE (RTE, ACC, SPD)
- QB (THP, SAC, DAC)

PRO TIP

This playbook has multiple receiving options from every formation; however, any time you get one-on-one coverage, take a chance downfield if you have a good matchup.

Defense

The Broncos use a 3-4 defensive scheme in Madden NFL 16 and have great coverages that allow for CBs to play physical man coverage. This is a fairly rare style, but it can be a tough matchup for players who don't face heavy man coverage.

Key Formation

The Nickel 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap formation is a little aggressive, but it lets you bring serious pressure on third down. If your opponents didn't build heavily on the offensive line, they are in trouble!

Key Player

CB with 90+ Press

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Under, Over, Even, Solid
- Nickel: 2-4-5, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6, 2-3-6 Will, 1-4-6
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- MLB (SPD, MCV, PUR)
- CB (MCV, PRS, TAK)
- OLB (STR, PMV, MCV)

PRO TIP

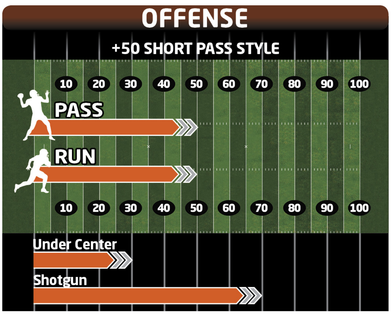

The defensive line doesn't need to be talented with pass-rush moves, but it must be strong to slow down the offensive line and keep it from getting to the second level and blocking LBs who are built for speed.

Draft Champions Mode

Cleveland Browns

Offense

The Browns have a pretty versatile offensive playbook with the ability to build schemes from under center, pistol, or shotgun. Your final scheme will vary heavily depending on what players you find in the draft.

Key Formation

Gun Split Close Browns is one of the best Formations in the game, especially for players who want to throw the ball. Look for a halfback who can catch out of the backfield and a big, safety-valve style tight end, who will really help make this formation tough to stop.

Key Player

QB with 88+ Short Accuracy

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo, Ace, Ace Pair, Ace Pair Twins, Doubles, Y-Trips
- I-Form: Pro, Pro Twins, Tight Pair
- Strong: Close
- Weak: Pro, Pro Twins
- Pistol: Strong, Ace, Slot Wing
- Gun: Split Close Browns, Doubles, Wing Trio Browns, Trips TE, Bunch Offset, Tight Doubles On, Snugs Flip, Spread, Trey Open Offset, Empty Browns, Empty Y-Flex
- Wildcat: Trips Over

- WR (SPD, CTH, RTE)
- QB (PAC, SAC, ACC)
- LT (IPB, STR, PBK)

PRO TIP

Effective use of play action and new rollouts will make the Cleveland offensive playbook much more successful.

Defense

The Browns' defensive scheme is best with strong players built to stop the run on the defensive line. This means the pressure will come from the OLB positions, especially if the secondary can stick with their matchups for a bit after the snap.

Key Formation

Nickel 2-4-5 is a crucial formation to optimize. If you can stay in this most of the game, your opponent will be forced to make solid reads!

Key Player

CB with 85+ Man Coverage

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Predator, Over, Over Ed, Bear
- Nickel: 2-4-5, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6, 1-4-6
- Dollar: 3-2-6
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- CB (MCV, SPD, PRC)
- MLB (SPD, MCV, PRC)
- OLB (PMV, STR, BSH)

PRO TIP

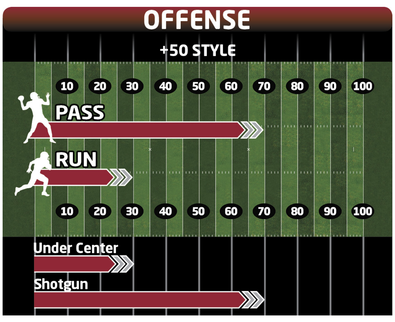

The longer your secondary is able to cover and even press the WRs, the better it is for your defense.

Draft Champions Mode

Tampa Bay Buccaneers

Offense

If you select the Bucs' playbook, you will live and die by the big passing play downfield. If you feel comfortable with the new aggressive catch in Madden NFL 16, this playbook is perfect for you.

Key Formation

The trio alignment in Gun Trio Buc is very tough for defenses to line up against no matter what type of talent you end up drafting. If you get your big WR, make sure to take a shot deep with PA Shot Wheel!

Key Player

Finding a big WR in the draft can pay off. If your opponent didn't land an elite CB, they will be forced to double-team your receiver nearly all game.

Formations

- Singleback: Ace, Ace Pair, Ace Pair Twins, Doubles, Y-Trips, Bunch
- I-Form: Pro, Twins Flex, Tight Pair
- Strong: Close
- Weak: Pro, Pro Twins
- Pistol: Ace Twins, Slot, Trips
- Gun: Doubles, Y-Trips HB Wk, Trio Buc, Bunch Wk, Tight Flex, Spread, Buc Trips, Empty Buc, Empty Trey, SWR Trio

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- WR (6'3"+, CIT, SPC, RTE)
- QB (DAC, THP, MAC)
- WR (6'3"+, CIT, SPC, RLS)

PRO TIP

If you don't get a great offensive line, create more time in the pocket by blocking both of your backs in certain Formations.

Defense

Tampa has a nice mix of 4-3 Formations that can be used against a balanced offense. If they are run-heavy, get into the 46 Bear Under. If they are pass-heavy, the Big Dime can be a solid formation to get faster players on the field.

Key Formation

Big Dime 4-1-6 is a unique formation that should help slow down pass-heavy teams without sacrificing too much in the run game.

Key Player

MLB with 80+ Zone Coverage

Formations

- 4-3: Stack, Under, Over, Over Plus, Wide
- 46: Bear Under
- Nickel: Normal, Double A Gap, Wide 9
- Dime: Normal
- Big Dime: 4-1-6
- Quarter: Normal, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- DT (PMV, STR, BSH)
- MLB (ZCV, PRC, SPD)
- SS (ZCV, PRC, PUR)

PRO TIP

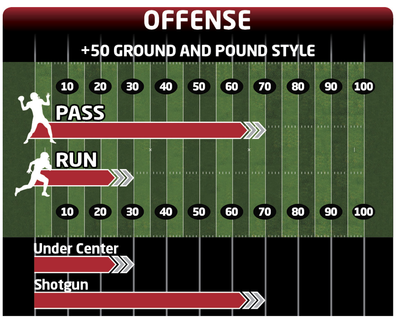

Having a third safety in this defense can be a benefit if the right draft situation occurs.

Draft Champions Mode

Arizona Cardinals

Offense

The Arizona Cardinals' offense is loaded with big passing plays for players who like to attack downfield. While this isn't the style for everyone, a confident passer can really tear up defenses that don't build up their secondary. Consider drafting some linemen, too, to allow your QB the time he needs in the pocket.

Key Formation

Gun Flip Trips is an excellent formation with every concept needed for a successful attack. Use the plays with built-in auto-motion to switch between attacking the corner and over the middle. Your opponent won't be able to tell what is coming next!

Key Player

90+ QB with 88+ Deep Accuracy

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo, Jumbo Pair, Ace, Ace Pair, Pair Tight Twins, Ace Pair Twins, Bunch Ace, Tight Doubles On, Doubles, Zona Y-Trips, Wing Trips
- I-Form: Pro, Pro Twins, Tight Pair
- Strong: Pro, Pro Twins
- Weak: Flex Twins, Tight Pair
- Pistol: Twin TE Flex
- Gun: Split Close, Ace Twins Offset, Doubles, Y Trips Wk, Wing Trio Wk, Trey, Bunch HB Str, Snugs, Flip Trips, Spread, Trips HB Wk, Empty Trey Flex

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- QB (THP, DAC, MAC)
- LT (STR, PBK, RBK)
- WR (6'3"+ SPC, CIT)

PRO TIP

If you don't land a big-time WR in the draft, use a tight end! They have similar size and should be able to go up for the new "high-point" throws with aggressive catch.

Defense

The strength of the Cardinals' defensive playbook is the LB corps. Since you can have up to five on the field at any time, you can never go wrong selecting just one more! Grab a big DT if available, but otherwise try to stack your LBs.

Key Formation

The Nickel 2-4-5 Prowl will provide the blitzing firepower and confusion you need to get your opponent off the field on third down. It is best with man coverage, so look for good Speed and Man Coverage ratings in your back seven.

Key Player

CB with 85+ Man Coverage

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Under, Over, Even, Solid
- Nickel: 2-4-5 Even, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, 2-4-5 Prowl, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6, 1-4-6
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- CB (SPD, ACC, MCV)
- LB X 2 (SPD, MCV, ACC)
- DT (STR, BSH, TAK)

PRO TIP

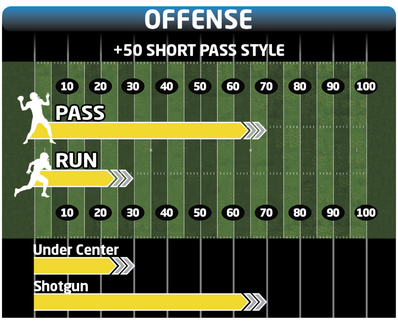

Adjusting an athletic defensive end to "man up" a TE or drop into a highly targeted zone area is a great way to slow down an offense.

Draft Champions Mode

San Diego Chargers

Offense

The Chargers have a pretty balanced playbook that allows them to be effective running or by throwing the ball downfield. If you plan on using both options, make sure to get a QB who can get the ball into tight windows downfield to really take advantage.

Key Formation

Gun Trips Y-Flex Tight formation will consistently be a tough matchup for man coverage due to the tight alignment. A TE who can run crisp routes will deliver first downs all game long.

Key Player

QB with 90+ Throw Power

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo, Ace, Ace Pair, Ace Pair Twins, Tight Doubles, Doubles, Y-Trips, Bunch
- I-Form: Pro, Pro Twins, Tight, Tight Pair
- Strong: Pro
- Weak: Tight Pair
- Pistol: Ace Wing, Doubles
- Gun: Split Y-Flex, Doubles Wk, Y-Trips Wk, Trips TE, Bunch Wk, Normal Y-Flex Tight, Spread, Y-Trips Open, Trips Y-Flex Tight, Trey Open Charger, Empty Base Flex

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- TE (CIT, RBK, SPC)
- QB (THP, DAC, MAC)
- HB (SPD, AGI, CTH)

PRO TIP

If a second tight end catches your eye during the draft, don't hesitate to select him, because you can always find a spot in the lineup for him.

Defense

The Chargers have a solid 3-4 playbook that requires good strength from the defensive line with fast finesse rushers at outside linebacker.

Key Formation

Big Dime 2-3-6 Will positions your secondary players in unique spots and hopefully will confuse the offense. Don't sleep on a solid FS/SS combo!

Key Player

FS with 85+ Play Recognition

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Under, Over, Over Ed, Solid
- Nickel: 2-4-5 Even, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, 3-3-5, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6, 2-3-6 Will
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- DE/DT (STR/BSH/PMV)
- OLB (SPD, FMV, ZCV)
- FS (PRC, ZCV, SPD)

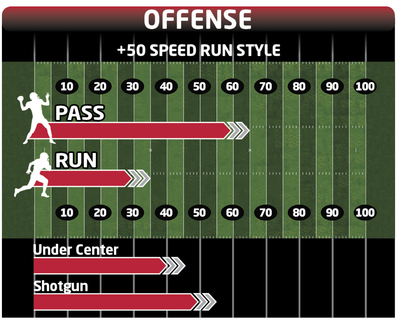

PRO TIP

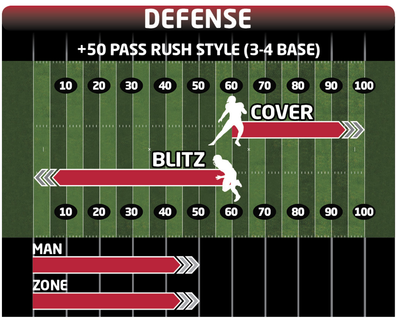

Nearly all of the Chargers' Formations require a minimum of three linebackers, so don't worry about overlap in the front seven.

Draft Champions Mode

Kansas City Chiefs

Offense

The Kansas City playbook has not only some good power running sets but also a surprising number of four-plus WR sets, so you can really pick apart the defense with short passes.

Key Formation

Gun Trips TE is the best formation in the KC playbook. Try saving it for the second half to give your opponent a completely different look. It can light up the scoreboard quickly if you can't consistently pound the rock.

Key Player

HB with 88+ Overall

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo Pair, Ace, Ace Twins, Chief Doubles, Y-Trips
- I-Form: Pro, Twins Flex, Tight
- Strong: Pro, Tight Pair
- Weak: Close
- Pistol: Strong Twins, Weak, Ace
- Gun: Doubles, Y-Trips Wk, Wing Deep Offset, Trips TE, Bunch Wk, Snugs Flip, Trips Y-Flex Tight, Trey Open, Empty Chief, Empty Trey, Bunch Quads
- Wildcat: Chief

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- HB (SPD, ELU, CTH)
- TE (RBK, CIT, RTE)
- QB (SAC, PAC, MAC)

PRO TIP

Aim for an all-around TE if one becomes available; you can always play him at WR if you need to air it out.

Defense

The KC defensive playbook is another 3-4 base, so having a solid corps of LBs can't really hurt you. While picking strong defensive linemen isn't the fanciest move, they will really help stop the run!

Key Formation

Nickel 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap puts tremendous pressure on the offensive line of your opponent. Send blitzes early and often!

Key Player

OLB with 85+ Block Shedding

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Under, Over, Solid, Bear
- Nickel: 2-4-5, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, 3-3-5, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6, 1-4-6
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- OLB (STR, PMV, BSH)
- SS (POW, TAK, PUR)
- DT (STR, ACC, PMV)

PRO TIP

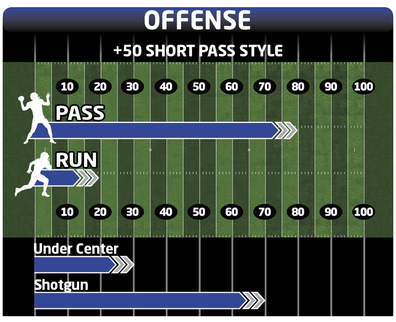

If you get strong OLBs, the Nickel 2-4-5 can be an all-around zone defense that allows you to mix up coverage and then send solid blitzes.

Draft Champions Mode

Indianapolis Colts

Offense

The Colts' offensive playbook can be one of the most balanced in the entire game. While they have newer Formations like Pistol, don't sleep on their power running sets, which have been around forever and can still be tough to stop depending on your team build.

Key Formation

The Colts are the only team in the game with Gun Bunch TE, and it should be heavily used. The formation should easily beat zone coverage, and it contains nearly every concept without needing to adjust.

Key Player

QB with 85+ Deep Accuracy

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo, Ace, Ace Close, Ace Pair, Pair Tight Twins, Bunch Ace, Doubles, Y-Trips TE Slot, Wing Trips Open
- I-Form: Pro, Twins Flex, Tight, Tackle Over
- Strong: Pro, Twins Flex, Tight Pair
- Weak: Pro
- Pistol: Slot Wing, Y-Trips
- Gun: Split Close, Doubles, Y-Trips HB Wk, Bunch TE, Bunch Wk, Snugs Flip, Double Flex, Y-Trips Open, Trey Open, Empty Trey, Empty Trey Flex
- Wildcat: Trips Over

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- QB (DAC, SPD, THP)
- WR (SPD, RTE, CTH)
- TE (CIT, RBK, SPD)

PRO TIP

If you build a dominant lineup for the power run game, try the I-Form Tackle Over until your opponents prove they can stop it!

Defense

The Colts' defensive book is set up for quick finesse rushers to attack off the edge. This can leave them vulnerable to the run on early downs but really makes a lead valuable.

Key Formation

The Nickel 2-4-5 is your most balanced formation, and it can be crucial if an opponent is looking to scramble or run off the edge. Bring a safety down by calling "show blitz" if an opponent starts to run at your weakest OLB.

Key Player

MLB with 85+ Zone Coverage

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Predator, Over, Even, Bear
- Nickel: 2-4-5, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, 2-4-5 Prowl, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6 Even, 2-3-6 Flex
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- CB (ZCV, PRS, AWR)
- MLB (ZCV, AWR, PRC)
- OLB (FMV, SPD, ACC)

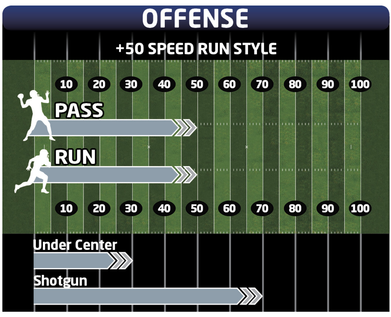

PRO TIP

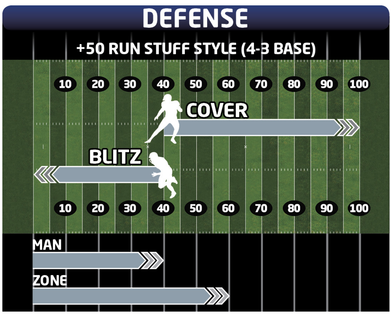

The Colts' playbook will really shine if you can secure an early lead, so this is one of the few situations where it makes sense to receive the kickoff.

Draft Champions Mode

Dallas Cowboys

Offense

The Cowboys' offensive playbook has a variety of Formations that allow a balanced attack. Look for a safety valve TE who can run-block rather than a more explosive type, and use him to keep the chains moving.

Key Formation

Gun Empty Trips TE is perfect if your offensive line can win the battle. The TE has some solid routes that allow him to get position on defenders for possession catches.

Key Player

TE with 70+ RBK, 85+ CIT

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo, Ace, Ace Close, Ace Pair, Ace Pair Flex, Doubles, Y-Trips, Bunch
- I-Form: Pro, Twins Flex, Tight Pair
- Strong: Close
- Pistol: Ace Twins, Y-Trips, Bunch
- Gun: Split Cowboy, Doubles, Y-Trips Cowboy, Wing Deep Offset, Trio Cowboy, Snugs Flip, Norm Y-Flex Tight, Flip Trips, Trey Open Cowboy, Empty Trey, Empty Trips TE, Empty Cowboy
- Wildcat: Cowboys

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- TE (RBK, CIT, RTE)
- HB (TRK, SPD, CTH)
- LT/RT (STR, RBK, PBK)

PRO TIP

You can really generate a strong ground attack with this playbook on early downs to make your third downs very manageable.

Defense

The Cowboys' 4-3 defensive playbook is perfect for aggressive players who love to get eight defenders in the box and force their opponents to pass. Keep an eye out for any opposing receivers who need extra attention, and shade your safeties in that direction.

Key Formation

The 46 Bear is a unique formation that isn't in available in many playbooks. Make sure to try this as your base formation to stop the run, especially up the middle.

Key Player

LB with 87+ Acceleration

Formations

- 4-3: Stack, Under, Over, Over Plus, Wide 9
- 46: Bear
- Nickel: Normal, Double A Gap, Wide 9
- Dime: Normal
- Big Dime: 4-1-6
- Quarter: Normal, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- SS (PRC, PUR, TAK)
- FS (ZCV, PRC, SPD)
- OLB (STR, ACC, ZCV)

PRO TIP

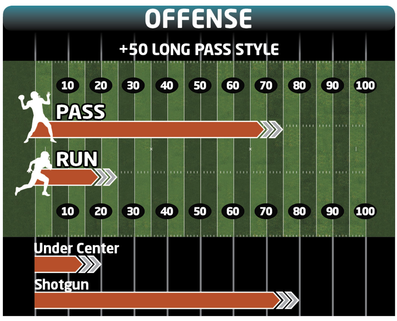

Most players haven't seen the Bear, so you may get be able to get out to a fast start. The pressure usually generates from the right of the screen, so look out for lefty QBs.

Draft Champions Mode

Miami Dolphins

Offense

The Miami playbook features multiple shotgun Formations and can really be solid for a player who is balanced but has a bit more of a pass-first mentality. You don't have to run if the numbers in the box aren't in your favor.

Key Formation

The Gun Wing Trips Dolphin formation is just one example of a wing formation in this playbook that allows for solid pass protection and versatility at the TE position.

Key Player

TE with 75+ RBK

Formations

- Singleback: Ace Wing, Ace Pair, Ace Pair Flex, Doubles, Wing Trips Open, Wing Trio
- Pistol: Ace Wing
- Gun: Split Dolphin, Ace Offset, Ace Twins Offset, Twin TE Flex Wk, Doubles Offset, Doubles Wing Offset, Doubles Offset Wk, Tackle Over Trips, Y-Trips Offset, Wing Trips Dolphin, Wing Trips Dolphin Wk, Trey Offset, Bunch, Bunch Open Offset, Tight Offset TE, Double Stack, Dbls Y-Flex Offset, Double Flex, Trey Open Offset, Empty Bunch, Empty Base Flex

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- TE (RBK, CIT, RTE)
- QB (SAC, PAC, ACC)
- HB (TRK, AGI, SPD)

PRO TIP

The Dolphins' playbook is another that only improves with the presence of a mobile QB. You don't need a speedster, but the ability to pick up a first down when scrambling on third and 5 is important.

Defense

The Dolphins have all of the traditional defensive Formations of a 4-3 playbook, so generating pressure without using too many exotic blitzes will be important. If you play an opponent with a spread passing game who loaded up on receivers, use the Dollar 3-2-6.

Key Formation

The 46 Bear Under provides a unique look to most defenses and can shut down the inside run if the 4-3 Wide 9 isn't getting it done!

Key Player

DT with 90+ PMV

Formations

- 4-3: Stack, Under, Over, Over Plus, Wide 9
- 46: Bear Under
- Nickel: Normal, Double A Gap, Wide 9
- Dime: Normal
- Dollar: 3-2-6
- Quarter: Normal, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- DT (PMV, STR, TAK)
- SS (PRC, PUR, POW)
- DE (SPD, FMV, ACC)

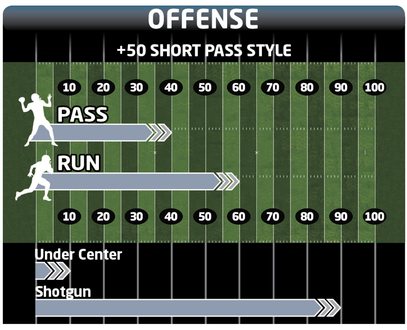

PRO TIP

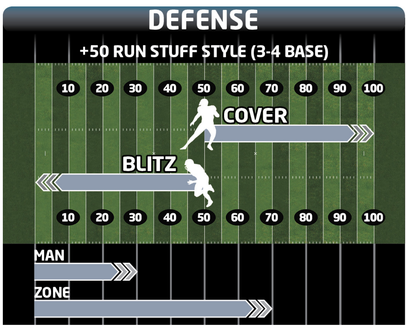

The Dolphins have some really wide alignments on defense, so don't go for strength off the edge; look for speed instead.

Draft Champions Mode

Philadelphia Eagles

Offense

The Eagles' offensive playbook is a unique one in Madden NFL 16 and contains far and away the most shotgun Formations. You must be comfortable passing and running from shotgun to have optimal success.

Key Formation

In the Gun Ace Offset, learn how to run Inside Zone consistently and the rest of your offense will open up. Every formation should have an inside run, outside run, screen, and deep pass off play action.

Key Player

HB with 80+ Catch

Formations

- Singleback: Ace, Ace Pair, Ace Pair Twins, Doubles, Wing Trips Open
- Weak: Pro
- Pistol: Doubles
- Gun: Split Slot, Slot Offset, Ace Offset, Ace Twins Offset, Twin TE Flex Wk, Doubles Offset, Doubles Wing, Doubles Offset Wk, Tackle Over Trips, Y-Trips Offset, Y-Trips Offset Wk, Wing Trips Eagle, Wing Trips Eagle Wk, Tackle Over, Trio Offset, Trio Offset Wk, Bunch Open, Bunch Open Offset, Double Stack, Spread HB Wk, Flip Trips Eagle, Trey Open Offset, Empty Trey

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- HB (CTH, AGI, ELU)
- QB (PAC, SAC, DAC)
- WR (6'3", SPD, SPC)

PRO TIP

You don't need much throw power or speed at QB, but it doesn't hurt if the right player shows up!

Defense

The Eagles have a solid 3-4 defensive playbook and also rely on multiple LBs moving around to create confusion.

Key Formation

The 3-4 Predator allows an LB to rush from the DE position and hopefully outmaneuver a slower tackle with acceleration or finesse. Don't use this set on a running down, because this player won't be your strongest option.

Key Player

OLB with 87+ FMV

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Predator, Over, Even, Solid
- Nickel: 2-4-5, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, 2-4-5 Prowl, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6 Even, 2-3-6 Will
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- OLB/DE (ACC, FMV, ZCV)
- SS (PUR, ZCV, TAK)
- DE (STR, BSH, TAK)

PRO TIP

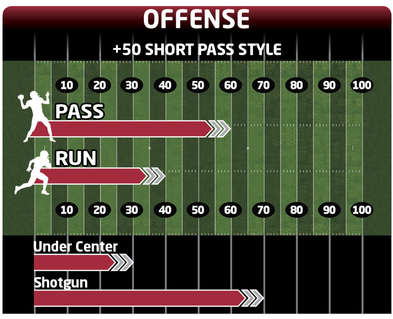

Keep an eye out for a strong safety, because the Eagles' main pass-defense Formations use a player up in the box.

Draft Champions Mode

Atlanta Falcons

Offense

The Atlanta Falcons playbook is excellent for players who want to air the ball out! While it requires an elite WR and solid offensive line, you can certainly win some shootouts with this playbook.

Key Formation

Pistol Ace is an excellent formation that will allow you to start the game very balanced as you learn the strengths of your team.

Key Player

WR with 85+ Spectacular Catch

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo, Ace, Ace Pair Twins, Tight Doubles, Doubles, Y-Trips, Bunch
- I-Form: Pro, Twins Flex, Tight Pair
- Strong: Pro, Close
- Weak: Pro Twins
- Pistol: Ace, Slot, Y-Trips
- Gun: Split Offset, Doubles On, Wing Trips, Trio Falcon, Bunch Offset, Tight Flex, Spread, Trey Open, Empty Falcon, Empty Base

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- WR (SPD, SPC, CIT)
- TE (6'4"+, CIT, RTE)
- QB (PAC, DAC, THP)

PRO TIP

Try adding a pass-catching HB or TE if one becomes available, to give you the most flexibility with your lineup.

Defense

The Falcons have really expanded their defensive schemes to allow for multiple DEs/LBs to rush and drop into coverage at different times.

Key Formation

Nickel 2-4-5 is a perfect point to build from for this playbook. If you end up slightly off either way, you will still have plenty of options!

Key Player

DE with 75+ Zone Coverage

Formations

- 4-3: Stack, Under, Over, Over Plus, Wide 9
- 46: Bear Under
- Nickel : Normal, Double A Gap, Wide 9
- Dime: Normal
- Dollar: 3-2-6
- Quarter: Normal, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- DE (SPD, ZCV, ACC)
- SS (PRC, PUR, POW)
- DT (STR, BSH, TAK)

PRO TIP

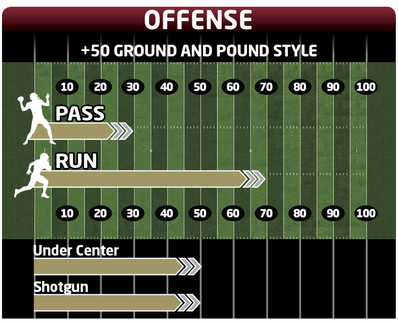

Adjusting an athletic defensive end to "man up" a TE or drop into a highly targeted zone area is a great way to slow down an offense.

Draft Champions Mode

San Francisco 49ers

Offense

The 49ers' playbook is mainly best for players who want a power rushing attack. However, players who enjoy using a mobile QB and the shotgun running game can still find success if they can strike the right balance.

Key Formation

Pistol Full House TE is the best example of what this playbook has to offer. A solid power rushing attack with easy throws if the defense gets greedy.

Key Player

HB with 90+ Trucking.

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo Z, Ace, Ace Close, Ace Pair Flex, Doubles, Y-Trips, Bunch
- I-Form: Pro, Pro Twins, Tight, Tight Pair
- Strong: Pro, Tight Pair
- Weak: Pro, Tight Pair
- Pistol: Full House TE, Full House Base, Strong, Bunch
- Gun: Doubles, Dbls Wing Offset Wk, Y-Trips Wk, Wing Trips Wk, Trips TE Offset, Trio Offset Wk, Bunch HB Str, Double Flex, Trey Open, Empty Trey Flex

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- HB (TRK, STR, BCV)
- QB (SPD, THP, SAC)
- TE (SPD, ACC, RTE)

PRO TIP

Picking up a mobile QB for this scheme is important if you want to run the ball from pistol or shotgun.

Defense

The 49ers' defense is best when constructed with two different linebacker types. Look for two balanced defenders at the MLB position with a strong OLB on one side and a quicker pass rusher on the other! One of your MLBs and your pass-rushing OLB will be on the field nearly every down, so go elite.

Key Formation

The 3-4 Odd is a great starting formation to see if your opponent can beat your zone coverage with passing, and it doesn't give up too much in the run game.

Key Player

OLB with 85+ Acceleration

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Under, Over, Even, Bear
- Nickel: 2-4-5, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, 2-4-5 Prowl, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6, 1-4-6
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- MLB (SPD, PRC, ZCV)
- OLB (SPD, ACC, FMV)
- DT/DE (STR, BSH, PMV)

PRO TIP

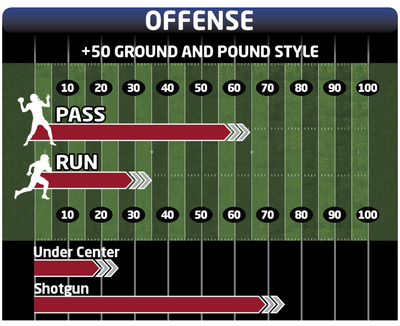

Getting a strong defensive end who can move inside to DT on passing downs is important to get the most bang for your buck.

New York Giants

Offense

The Giants' playbook has been completely overhauled in Madden NFL 16 and is perfect for players who like to utilize quick throws and the tight end position.

Key Formation

Gun Trips Y Iso is just one of many new Formations in the Giants' playbook. If you pick up multiple WRs, you can use this formation to draw attention to one receiver while another gets open for a big play.

Key Player

WR with 90+ Route Running

Formations

- Singleback: Ace, Ace Close, Ace Pair, Ace Pair Twins, Bunch Ace, Giant Doubles, Y-Trips, Wing Trio
- I-Form: Pro, Pro Twins, Tight
- Strong: Pro, Pro Twins
- full house: Wide
- Gun: Doubles Flex Wk, Doubles Flex Wing, Doubles Wing Wk, Y-Trips Wk, Wing Offset Wk, Trio Offset, Spread, Y-Trips Open, Trips Y Iso, Giant Trips, Empty Giant, Flex Trey

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- WR (RTE, SPD, CIT)
- TE (CIT, RBK, RTE)
- QB (PAC, SAC, MAC)

PRO TIP

This playbook really works well if you can master the new RAC move!

Defense

The Giants' defensive playbook is a solid 4-3 that relies on the ability of multiple pass rushers as the bread and butter.

Key Formation

Nickel NASCAR allows you to get DTs out of the game and DEs into unique spots along the line. Look for speed/size mismatches at the guard spot and get your best pass rusher in there!

Key Player

DE with 90+ FMV

Formations

- 4-3: Stack, Under, Over, Over Plus, Wide 9
- 5-2: Normal
- Nickel: Normal, Double A Gap, NASCAR

Jacksonville Jaguars

Offense

The Jaguars' offensive playbook has some very solid shotgun Formations, which don't require a ton of great pass-blocking up front. Hit your quick passes to HBs and TEs before going deep, or your QB could be in trouble.

Key Formation

Gun Bunch Quads is one of the most distinctive Formations in the game and should crush zone defense. If you master multiple concepts, you can stay in this formation for a good chunk of the game against defenses deficient against the pass.

Key Player

HB/WR with 90+ Agility

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo Z, Ace, Ace Twins, Ace Pair Twins, Doubles, Bunch
- I-Form: Pro, Tight, Tight Pair
- Strong: Pro
- Weak: Pro Twins
- Pistol: Weak, Ace, Slot Wing
- Gun: Split Jaguar, Y-Trips HB Wk, Trips TE, Bunch Wk, Snugs Flip, Spread Y-Flex, Trips Y Iso, Trey Open, Empty Y-Flex, Empty Base, Bunch Quads

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- WR (ACC, AGI, CTH)
- TE (RBK, CIT, STR)
- QB (SAC, MAC, PAC)

PRO TIP

The Jaguars' playbook has plenty of ways to get the ball to an athletic player in space. Master the RAC move to become a master of this scheme.

Defense

The Jaguars' playbook is built around a 4-3 defensive scheme. They don't have tons of flash in their plays, but if you can get a good pass rusher at either DE or OLB, he won't go to waste.

Key Formation

The 46 Normal is a great way to shut the run game down early. It's a nice perk of the Jaguars' defensive book. If your opponent completes some passes, drop down to the Dollar 3-2-6.

Key Player

DT with 85+ Block Shedding

Formations

- 4-3: Stack, Under, Over, Over Plus, Wide 9
- 46: Normal
- Nickel: Normal, Double A Gap, Wide 9
- Dime: Normal
- Dollar: 3-2-6
- Quarter: Normal, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- DT (STR, PMV, BSH)
- OLB (ZCV, PRC, PUR)
- FS (ZCV, TAK, PRC)

PRO TIP

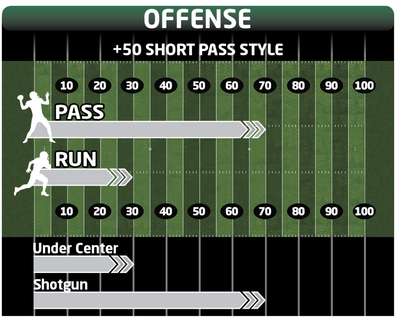

The Jaguars' defensive book doesn't really put a premium on speed at the LB position, which is a nice difference from many of the 3-4 playbooks.

Offense

The Jets' offense won't have you winning shootouts, but it works well in combination with their aggressive defense. If you can grab a lead, it will put too much pressure on your opponent. The offensive line is an underrated area in Draft Champions. Not many players love selecting the big guys up front — until they get into a game and control the line of scrimmage, resulting in a win.

Key Formation

Singleback Wing Trips is just one example of the Jets' new spread-style offensive playbook. Approach it as a run-first set before looking to the quick pass.

Key Player

HB with 90+ Trucking

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo, Ace, Ace Pair Twins, Bunch Ace, Doubles, Y-Trips, Wing Trips
- I-Form: Pro, Pro Twins, Tight
- Strong: Pro, Twins Flex, Tight Pair
- Pistol: Strong Slot, Slot, Wing Trips
- Gun: Split Jet, Doubles, Y-Trips Offset, Bunch Wk, Snugs, Spread Y-Slot, Y-Trips Open, Trips Y-Flex Tight, Trips Open Left, Trey Open, Empty Jet, Empty Spread, Bunch Quads

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- C (STR, RBK, IPB)
- LG (STR, PBK, RBK)
- LT (STR, PBK, RBK)

PRO TIP

Although you may expect to see power run sets, it is a fairly spread-heavy playbook.

Defense

The Jets have one of the most aggressive blitzing playbooks in all of Madden NFL 16. Take advantage of these plays on third and long to generate sacks and even some turnovers!

Key Formation

Rely on the 3-4 Solid early in games to shut down the run. Be sure to pass-commit if you think your opponent is going to call play action, and try a play like Trio Sky Zone.

Key Player

CB with 90+ Man Coverage

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Under, Over, Even, Solid
- Nickel: 2-4-5 Even, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, 2-5-4 Prowl, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6, 1-4-6
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep
- goal line: 5-3-3, 5-4-2

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- DT (STR, BSH, PUR)
- CB (MCV, SPD, PRS)
- MLB (SPD, MCV, PRC)

PRO TIP

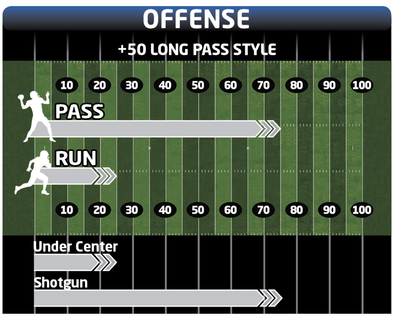

The strength of the playbook is heavy pressure on passing downs with man coverage. This can feel risky, but if you draft the right players in the secondary and call for pressure at the right time, the rewards can be huge!

Draft Champions Mode

Detroit Lions

Offense

The Lions' offensive playbook is built around the passing game and is one of the best to take advantage of the all-new catching in Madden NFL 16! Although the playbook requires a big WR and a strong-armed QB, any opponent who didn't get an elite pass-rushing or cover CB will be out-matched.

Key Formation

Gun Split Lion is a great early test for your opponent. Isolate your best WR on the outside and see if you have a favorable matchup. You can always check down to your HBs or keep them in to block if you notice an elite defensive pass rusher.

Key Player

6'4"+ WR with 90+ Spectacular Catch

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo, Ace, Ace Pair, Ace Pair Flex, Doubles, Y-Trips Lion
- I-Form: Pro, Twins Flex, Tight Pair
- Strong: Close
- weak: Pro
- Pistol: Strong, Ace, Slot Flex Lion, Y-Trips
- Gun: Split Lion, Ace Twins, Doubles, Y-Trips Wk, Snugs Flip, Spread Y-Flex, Trey Open Lion, Empty Lion, Empty Trey

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- WR (SPD, CIT, SPC)
- QB (THP, DAC, MAC)
- WR/TE (SPD, RTE, CIT)

PRO TIP

A smaller WR with great route running (RAC) can shift this book to more of a short-passing one that occasionally takes big shots downfield.

Defense

The Lions' defensive playbook is built around getting a solid pass rush from the defensive line. This allows gold-level LBs to stay unblocked and to make plays. Since nearly all the Formations use four defensive linemen, you can't afford to come up short here, but the composition isn't a huge deal.

Key Formation

The 5-2 formation can really lock down the run, even if your opponent went heavy on the offensive line in the draft.

Key Player

DT with 85+ Power Moves

Formations

- 4-3: Stack, Under, Over, Over Plus, Wide 9
- 5-2: Normal
- Nickel: Normal, Double A Gap, Wide 9
- Dime: Normal
- Big Dime: 4-1-6
- Quarter: Normal, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- DT (PMV, STR, BSH)
- DE (SPD, FMV, ZCV)
- FS (SPD, ZCV, PRC)

PRO TIP

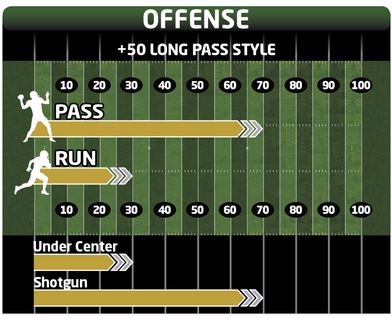

Defensive ends that are capable of dropping into zone coverage to give a different look to the QB are key, especially against short-pass offenses.

Draft Champions Mode

Green Bay Packers

Offense

The Packers' offensive playbook favors the passing game, but the right power back can really find some nice holes from the shotgun sets. Don't draft two big WRs unless an amazing opportunity appears; instead look for one that can be elusive across the middle and run after the catch (RAC).

Key Formation

Gun Doubles Flex Wing is an excellent formation that provides not only a running threat but the ability to block for a deep attempt downfield.

Key Player

QB with 93+ Throw Power and 85+ Medium Accuracy

Formations

- Singleback: Ace, Ace Twins, Ace Pair, Doubles Pack, Tight Flex, Bunch
- I-Form: Pro, Slot Flex, Tight Pair
- Strong: Close
- Weak: Slot
- full house: Wide
- Pistol: Slot Flex Packer, Y-Trips
- Gun: Doubles On, Doubles Flex Wing, Y-Trips Wk, Wing Offset Wk, Bunch Wk, Normal Y-Flex Tight, Double Flex, Trips Y Iso, Pack Trips, Empty Trey, Flex Trey

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- QB (THP, SAC, DAC)
- WR (RLS, RTE, SPD)
- HB (TRK, SPD, CTH)

PRO TIP

The ability to control the pass type is huge in Madden NFL 16, and the Packers' book will really benefit from an accurate QB.

Defense

The Packers run a 3-4 style playbook with strong defenders up front. These players generally come off the field on rushing downs, so don't invest too much unless an elite DT is there who can be an every-down player. Selecting LBs doesn't really hurt you, as you can stack five on the field in most situations, as long as they are versatile.

Key Formation

The Big Dime 2-3-6 is an excellent formation for passing downs and will really punish an opponent who didn't invest in an offensive line. Make sure to grab an extra CB or safety to maximize your effectiveness.

Key Player

OLB with 85+ PMV

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Under, Over, Even, Solid
- Nickel: 2-4-5, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, Psycho, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6, 2-3-6 Will
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- OLB (SPD, PMV, POW)
- CB (SPD, MCV, ZCV)
- DT (STR, PMV, ACC)

PRO TIP

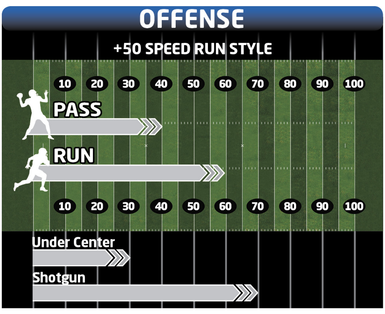

Finding an OLB who can rush the passer is great, but consider moving him to DE or MLB to keep your opponents guessing.

Draft Champions Mode

Carolina Panthers

Offense

The Carolina Panthers have not only one of the most fun playbooks in Madden NFL 16, but also one of the most effective in the hands of a skilled player who enjoys running the ball.

Key Formation

Pistol Full Panther: This formation can utilize all the talent you are targeting and really foil opponents who don't bolster their front seven during the draft.

Key Player

A mobile QB is essential to getting the most out of this offensive playbook. However, you also want some depth at HB, which is tough with only 15 rounds!

Formations

- Singleback: Ace, Ace Pair Flex, Bunch Ace, Panther Doubles, Tight Slots
- I-Form: Pro, Tight Pair
- Strong: H Pro, H Twins
- Weak: Pro Twins
- Pistol: Full Panther, Strong, Weak
- Gun: Split Panther, Heavy Panther, Ace, Ace Twins, Doubles Offset, Dbls Flex Wing Wk, Y-Trips TE Slot, Trips TE, Bunch Wk, Double Stack, Normal Y-Flex Tight, Trey Y-Flex, Y-Trips Open, Empty Panther
- Wildcat: Slot Flex

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- QB (SPD, PAC, THP)
- HB (CTH, ACC, SPD)
- FB (TRK, RBK, IPB)

PRO TIP

This is one of the few playbooks where drafting a fullback might pay off big. If your opponent doesn't invest in the defensive line, you may be able to run all game.

Defense

This is a very solid 4-3 defensive book with some pretty standard coverages that can be tough to beat! Unless your opponent drafted multiple WRs, you should be able to play 4-3 man-to-man coverage and feel pretty confident in many situations early in the game.

Key Formation

Nickel 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap is a great way to bring pressure if you aren't feeling a more passive coverage set like 4-3 Wide 9.

Key Player

Drafting a stud MLB and allowing the CPU to let him make plays is very important with this playbook. For players who don't fear user-controlling a safety or who would rather control a defensive end, this is a great move.

Formations

- 4-3: Stack, Under, Over, Over Plus, Wide 9
- 5-2: Normal
- Nickel: Normal, Double A Gap, 4 D Ends
- Dime: Normal
- Big Dime: 4-1-6
- Quarter: Normal, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- MLB (PRC, SPD, MCV)
- OLB (SPD, ACC, MCV)
- DT (PMV, STR, BSH)

PRO TIP

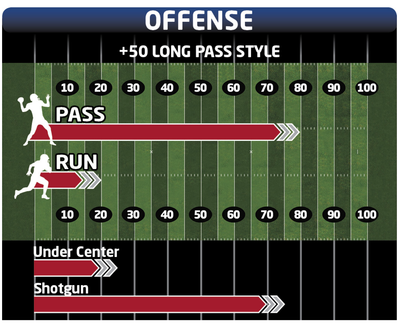

Make your opponents prove they can beat your strength before you adjust. If you can run man coverage successfully on the first drive, stick with it until they adjust their game plan.

Draft Champions Mode

New England Patriots

Offense

The Patriots' offense is excellent for players whose focus is a quick passing attack all over the field.

Key Formation

Gun Trips Y Iso allows you to use lower-rated WRs and concepts to get open on the trips side. Anytime you get a one-on-one matchup to the iso side, take a shot downfield.

Key Player

TE with 90+ Overall who has the size to be split out wide and can win one-on-one matchups downfield

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo Pair, Ace, Ace Overload, Ace Pair Twins, Bunch Ace, Normal Patriots, Y-Trips, Tight Slots
- I-Form: Pro, Pro Twins, Tight Pair
- Strong: Pro
- Weak: Close
- Gun: Split Close Pats, Ace, Ace Pair Flex, Doubles, Normal Wing Pats, Tight Doubles On, Normal Flex Wk Pats, Pats Wing Trips, Trips TE, Bunch Wk, Normal Y-Slot, Trips Y Iso, Empty Ace Patriot, Empty Base Flex

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- QB (SAC, MAC, THP)
- WR/TE (6'4"+, CIT, SPC, JMP)
- WR (RTE, ACC, CIT)

PRO TIP

New England has great Formations to get the HB the ball quickly out of the backfield, especially under center.

Defense

The Patriots' playbook is one of the most versatile in the entire game and features both 3-4 and 4-3. Drafting a strong OLB is crucial to the Patriots' success on defense! This player needs to be a hybrid rusher who can stand up in the 3-4 or drop down on early downs and hold up at end in the 4-3.

Key Formation

The Nickel 3-3-5 Odd is a unique formation that should fool your opponents early in the game. Keep switching between 3-4 and 4-3 fronts to see if it throws them off.

Key Player

DE/LB with 90+ Finesse Moves

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Under, Solid
- 4-3: Under, Over
- Nickel: 2-4-5, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, 3-3-5 Odd, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6 Sam, 1-4-6
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- DE/OLB (PMV/FMV, STR, ZCV)
- OLB (ACC, SPD, ZCV)
- FS (ZCV, PRC, SPD)

PRO TIP

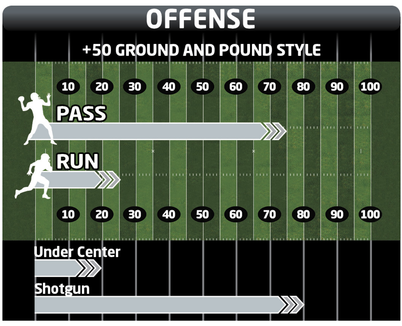

Taking advantage of all the Patriots' formation sub packages at the play-calling screen is the best way to get the most out of your playmakers.

Oakland Raiders

Offense

The Raiders' offense was extremely popular last season and has received some brand-new Formations. If you love to play out of the shotgun and utilize auto-motion, this is a playbook for you.

Key Formation

Gun Flip Trips Raider is an excellent formation for offenses that pick up plenty of receivers. Learn to target short passes like Slot Trail on early downs, and take a look downfield with Oak Post Shot on third down.

Key Player

QB with 80+ Speed

Formations

- Singleback: Ace Wing, Ace Pair, Ace Pair Twins, Doubles, Wing Trips Open
- I-Form: Pro, Tight Pair
- Pistol: Doubles
- Gun: Split Raider, Ace Offset, Ace Twins Offset, Twin TE Flex Wk, Doubles Offset, Doubles Wing Offset, Doubles Offset Wk, Tackle Over Trips, Y-Trips Offset, Wing Trips Raider, Wing Trips Raider Wk, Trio Offset, Trio Offset Wk, Bunch Open Offset, Double Stack, Dbls Y-Flex Offset, Double Flex, Flip Trips Raider, Trey Open Offset, Empty Trey

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- TE (RBK, SPD, CIT)
- HB (TRK, AGI, CTH)
- QB (SPD, PAC, MAC)

PRO TIP

This is one of a few playbooks where a FB/TE can be used in multiple Formations, giving you great value if the right one appears.

Defense

The Oakland playbook contains many ways to slow down your opponent from the 4-3 formation. By using the multiple setups, you can properly align against most sets that opponents will try to use early in the game.

Key Formation

The 4-3 Under Odd is a unique formation in the Raiders' playbook that can be tough for offenses to run against. Be sure to run the excellent blitzes from the LB position, which can sneak through the line and drop ball carriers in the backfield.

Key Player

OLB with 85+ Strength

Formations

- 4-3: Stack, Under, Under Odd, Over, Over Plus, Wide 9
- Nickel: Normal, Double A Gap, 4 D Ends
- Dime: Normal
- Dollar: 3-2-6
- Quarter: Normal, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- OLB (STR, PUR, BSH)
- DE (STR, BSH, PMV)
- CB (SPD, ZCV, MCV)

PRO TIP

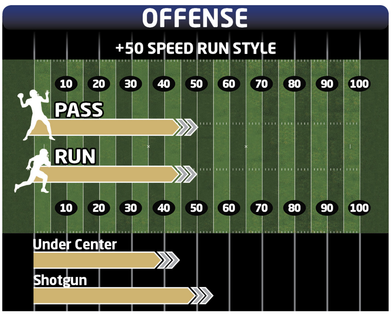

If you come up short on stud DEs in the draft, you can always look to play DTs with high Power Moves at the end position, but you shouldn't try to drop them into coverage.

St. Louis Rams

Offense

The Rams have a nicely balanced offensive playbook that allows a power running back to really take over games. They also have a few Formations and plays that allow a quick WR to get the ball in space and hopefully make some defenders miss.

Key Formation

Gun Tight Offset TE is a great formation that allows you to take advantage of a big or fast player at tight end who will be a matchup nightmare for the defense. Use the HB Counter, HB Slip Screen, and O 1 Trap to turn it into a great base formation.

Key Player

TE with 83+ Speed

Formations

- Singleback: Ace, Ace Pair, Ace Pair Twins, Doubles, Bunch
- I-Form: Pro, Pro Twins, Tight, Tight Pair
- Strong: Pro, Twins Flex, Twins Over, Y-Flex, Tight Pair
- Weak: Pro, Close, Tight Twins
- Pistol: Wing Trio
- Gun: Split Ram, Doubles Offset Wk, Y-Trips Offset, Wings Trips Wk, Bunch Wk, Tight Offset TE, Normal Y-Flex Tight, Split Ram, Trey Open Offset, Empty Base

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- HB (TRK, SPD, CTH)
- WR (SPD, AGI, ACC)
- QB (PAC, DAC, THP)

PRO TIP

You can get away with nearly any type of QB in this offense, but when in doubt, look for high Play Action and Deep Accuracy ratings.

Defense

The Rams' defensive playbook is built around their defensive ends. While you may worry about drafting four DEs and leaving weaknesses elsewhere, remember that you can also use DTs and OLBs who are solid pass rushers in your scheme.

Key Formation

Nickel 4 D Ends is a great formation on passing downs if you can stop the run early and get your opponent into a third and long!

Key Player

DE with 90+ Power Moves

Formations

- 4-3: Stack, Under, Over, Over Plus, Wide 9
- 46: Bear Under
- Nickel: Normal, Double A Gap, 4 D Ends
- Dime: Normal
- Dollar: 3-2-6
- Quarter: Normal, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- DE (PMV, SPD, BSH)
- DT (ACC, PMV, SPD)
- OLB (MCV, SPD, PUR)

PRO TIP

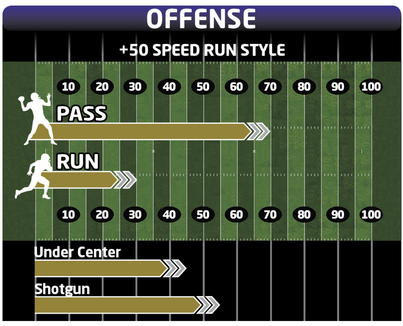

The Rams' defensive book is ideal for a players who want to lean towards more basic man coverage in their game plan. Many players will struggle to beat this type of scheme consistently.

Baltimore Ravens

Offense

What makes the Ravens' playbook unique is its variety of "tight" or "close" Formations, where receivers line up close to the line of scrimmage. This makes it tough for man-to-man defenders to stick with them because of all the traffic in the area.

Key Formation

I-Form Close is an example of a tight formation that can burn heavy man-to-man coverage with plays like Mesh..

Key Player

WR with 90+ Route Running

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo, Ace, Deuce Wing, Ace Pair, Ace Pair Twins, Bunch Ace, Tight Doubles, Doubles, Y-Trips TE Slot, Trio
- I-Form: Pro, Close, Pro Twins, Tight Twins, Tight, Tight Pair
- Strong: Pro, Pro Twins, Tight
- Weak: Pro, Tight Twins
- Gun: Doubles, Y-Trips HB Wk, Bunch Wk, Spread Y-Flex, Y-Trips Open, Trips Y-Flex Tight, Flip Trips Raven, Empty Base Flex

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- WR (SPD, RTE, CTH)
- HB (ELU, CTH, SPD)
- QB (THP, DAC, SAC)

PRO TIP

The Ravens have plenty of tight options from shotgun sets, too, if you aren't a fan of under center or didn't get to solidify your offensive line.

Defense

The Ravens' mixture of Formations allowing their LBs to get in great matchups is second to none. Get comfortable with all of the 3-4 fronts, including the Bear, to keep your opponents off-balance.

Key Formation

The Nickel 3-3-5 is an ideal formation to be balanced against any offensive attack and lineup. It requires drafting an extra CB, but if he can be physical in the run game, you will feel comfortable stopping the run from a passing set. With a solid LB holding things down in the middle, you can send pressure from the edges!

Key Player

CB with 85+ Press and 80+ Man and Zone Coverage

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Predator, Over Ed, Even, Bear
- Nickel: 2-4-5 Even, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, 3-3-5, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6, 2-3-6 Will
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- MLB (SPD, PRC, ZCV)
- CB (SPD, TAK, PUR)
- OLB (STR, BSH, PMV)

PRO TIP

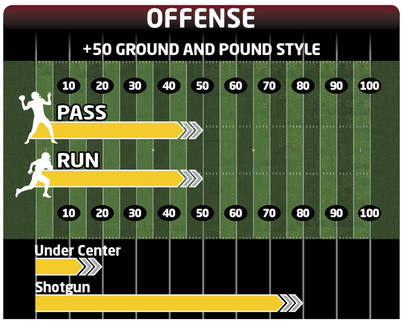

While a strong OLB and DT are ideal, don't forget to move your best run defender in the secondary into the box in many situations.

Draft Champions Mode

Washington Redskins

Offense

The Redskins' playbook is one of the most versatile in Madden NFL 16. You should target a mobile QB, but if don't find any worth selecting, you can still run a scheme good enough to win.

Key Formation

Pistol Ace Wing is crucial to success with the Redskins' playbook. By mixing in the Read Option and HB Stretch runs, you can add a balanced element to your offense.

Key Player

QB with 85+ Acceleration

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo, Ace, Ace Close, Ace Pair, Ace Pair Twins, Doubles, Wing Trio
- I-Form: Pro, Pro Twins, Tight, Tight Pair
- Strong: Pro, Pro Twins
- Weak: Pro
- Pistol: Strong, Ace Wing, Slot, Slot Wing, Y-Trips, Bunch
- Gun: Split Offset, Doubles Wk, Wing Trips Offset Wk, Bunch Offset, Tight Doubles On, Snugs Flip, Dbls Y-Flex Offset, Y-Trips Open, Trips Y-Flex Tight, Trips Y Iso, Trey Open, Empty Trey Flex

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- QB (ACC, SPD, PAC)
- HB (TRK, STR, CAR)
- WR (SPD, RLS, ACC)

PRO TIP

Make sure to check the play art on option runs before the snap — knowing which defender to "read" is important for success.

Defense

Washington has a 3-4 scheme that requires multiple LBs in most of their sets. No matter what, you can always find a spot for them: fast LBs in the middle, stronger LBs on the outside to help set the edge in the run game.

Key Formation

The 3-4 Odd should be a great start against most players. Use the solid zone coverage to fan out and stop those TE routes.

Key Player

Run-stuffing OLB with 85+ Strength

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Under, Over, Even, Solid
- Nickel: 2-4-5 Even, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, 2-4-5 Prowl, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6, 1-4-6
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- OLB (STR, PUR, BSH)
- DT (STR, BSH, POW)
- CB (SPD, MCV, PUR)

PRO TIP

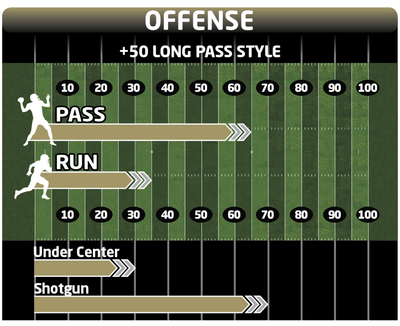

If you don't get the depth you need at LB, aim for big run-stopping DEs and use the Nickel 3-3-5 Wide formation.

New Orleans Saints

Offense

The Saints' playbook has some unique plays and Formations that can fool your opponent, but you can also beat your opponent by simply throwing downfield! You will need some time in the pocket, so keep linemen in mind, because a good defensive line will be a frustrating matchup.

Key Formation

Gun Tight Offset TE allows you to get the most from an elite TE, who basically can be a WR in this playbook.

Key Player

6'4" TE with 85+ Catch in Traffic

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo, Ace, Twin TE Flex, Bunch Base, Doubles, Snugs Flip
- I-Form: Pro, Close, Twins Flex, Tight
- Strong: Close
- Pistol: Slot Wing, Y-Trips, Bunch TE
- Gun: Split Offset, Doubles Wk, Wing Trio Wk, Tight Offset TE, DBL Y Flex Off Wk, Spread Y-Slot, Trips Y Iso, Trey Open Saint, Empty Saint, Empty Trey, Empty Y-Saints

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- TE (6'4"+ CIT, SPC)
- WR (6'3"+, CIT, SPC)
- QB (MAC, DAC, THP)

PRO TIP

The Saints' playbook is still built for big WRs and deep throws downfield, which meshes perfectly with the new catching in Madden NFL 16!

Defense

The Saints have an excellent defensive playbook built around the 3-4. This playbook won't require much blitzing if you grab OLBs with high Speed and Finesse Moves ratings; however, it has plenty of firepower if needed on passing downs.

Key Formation

Big Dime 2-3-6 is a great formation to build towards in the draft. If you come up a piece or two short, you can go to the 3-3-5 or 1-4-6.

Key Player

OLB with 87+ Finesse Moves

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Predator, Over, Even, Bear
- Nickel: 3-3-5 Will, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6, 1-4-6
- Dollar: 3-2-6
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- OLB (SPD, ACC, FMV)
- SS (PRC, POW, ZCV)
- FS (ZCV, SPD, PRC)

PRO TIP

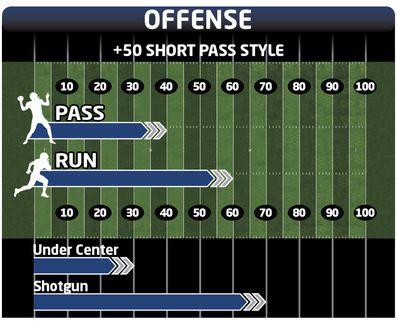

The 3-3-5 Wide can be used to slow down outside runs without having to make too many adjustments.

Seattle Seahawks

Offense

For players who want a power-run-style offense without sacrificing the shotgun Formations, Seattle is a great selection.

Key Formation

Gun Ace Offset can be an every-down formation if you establish the run game from shotgun and learn to use play action. The Read Option in this formation really adds another dimension if you grab a mobile QB in the draft.

Key Player

While a back with 90+ Trucking is ideal, the real key is a QB who has 80+ Speed and will force the defense to commit a defender to slowing him down.

Formations

- Singleback: Deuce Wing, Ace Pair, Ace Pair Flex, Bunch Ace, Hawk Doubles
- I-Form: H Pro, H Slot, H Tight, H Twin Pair
- Strong: H TE Flip, H Slot Flex, H Pair TE
- Pistol: Strong Slot, Ace, Doubles Flex Wing
- Gun: Split Hawk, Ace Offset, Ace Twins Offset, Doubles Wing Offset, Doubles Wing Wk, Y-Trips Hawk, Wing Offset Wk, Trio Offset, Bunch Wk, Tight Slots, Double Stack, Spread Y-Slot, Trey Y-Flex, Trips Y Iso, Empty Hawk

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- HB (TRK, STR, CAR)
- QB (SPD, PAC, SAC)
- C (STR, RBK, IPB)

PRO TIP

Picking up a QB who has some speed can really frustrate opponents who think they have the HB stopped only to see the QB keep the ball on a read.

Defense

The mix of coverages in the Seattle playbook is outstanding if you score a rangy FS. Otherwise, find a defensive line that can overwhelm the offensive line with speed.

Key Formation

The 46 Bear Under is a great way to test your opponent's commitment to the run game early.

Key Player

OLB with 90+ Acceleration

Formations

- 4-3: Stack, Under, Over, Over Plus, Wide 9
- 46: Bear Under
- Nickel: Normal, Double A Gap, Wide 9
- Dime: Normal
- Dollar: 3-2-6
- Quarter: Normal, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- FS (SPD, MCV, ZCV)
- OLB (SPD, ACC, FMV)
- CB (ZCV, MCV, PRS)

PRO TIP

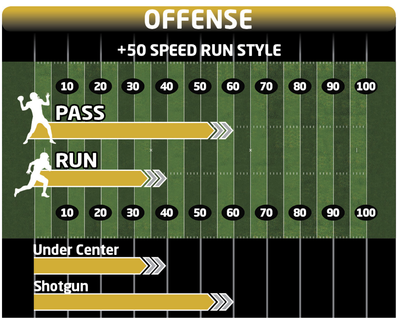

Even without drafting a dominant secondary, you should be able to mix up your coverages enough to confuse your opponent for a half.

Pittsburgh Steelers

Offense

The Steelers' offensive playbook is one of the best schemes for balanced players who love the short passing game. Even if you don't land a big WR, you can still have plenty of success with the concepts and RAC move.

Key Formation

Singleback Pitt Doubles is a solid formation that's tough for defenses to line up against. The key is using your TE as a run blocker early and then a safety valve on third down.

Key Player

WR with 87+ Route Running and Release

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo, Ace, Ace Pair Flex, Bunch Base, Pitt Doubles, Y-Trips
- I-Form: Pro, Pro Twins, Tight Pair
- Strong: Close
- Weak: Pro
- Pistol: Slot Wing, Y-Trips
- Gun: Split Close, Doubles, Y-Trips Wk, Wing Trio Steeler, Trio, Bunch Wk, Tight Doubles On, Snugs, Spread Y-Slot, Trips HB Wk, Empty Trey, Empty Steeler
- Wildcat: Normal

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- WR (SPD, AGI, RTE)
- HB (TRK, SPD, CTH)
- TE (CIT, RBK, PBK)

PRO TIP

The Steelers' playbook has added some new pistol Formations this season, so don't forget to try them out!

Defense

Pittsburgh has built their defensive scheme around the 3-4 for multiple seasons. Aim to get some strength and block-shedding on the defensive line, but don't worry about generating pressure there, as it will mainly come from your LBs.

Key Formation

Nickel 2-4-5 Prowl is a solid formation that could confuse the offense and won't let any drafted LBs go to waste.

Key Player

SS with 85+ Play Recognition

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Under, Over, Even, Solid
- Nickel: 2-4-5, 2-4-5 Dbl a Gap, 2-4-5 Prowl, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6 Will, 1-4-6
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- OLB (PMV, PUR, STR)
- SS (PRC, ZCV, SPD)
- MLB (ZCV, PRC, SPD)

PRO TIP

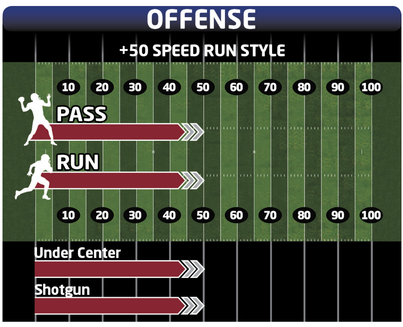

If you can't get enough depth at CB, try to draft an extra FS to play in the slot with mainly zone coverage.

Houston Texans

Offense

The Texans' offense has some different run plays that will really benefit a patient player who can make good cuts at the line of scrimmage. Consider beefing up one side of your offensive line to run behind on most of your play calls.

Key Formation

Gun Tight Doubles On is the formation you should try when you need a first down conversion. If you keep yourself in manageable situations with the run game, there are multiple ways to move the chains.

Key Player

HB with 90+ Ball Carrier Vision

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo Z, Ace, Ace Twins, Bunch Base, Tight Doubles, Doubles, Y-Trips Texan
- I-Form: Pro, Tight Pair
- Strong: Pro
- Weak: Pro Twins
- Gun: Split Texan, Ace Pair Flex, Doubles, Y-Trips HB Wk, Wing Trips Wk, Trips TE, Bunch Wk, Tight Doubles On, Snugs Flip, Normal Y-Slot, Empty Texan, Empty Y-Flex, Empty Base

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- HB (SPD, TRK, BCV)
- RG (RBK, IPB, STR)
- WR (SPD, SPC, RTE)

PRO TIP

This playbook has some nice rollout plays that allow you to attempt deep throws. If you an elite WR appears after you secure your HB, go for him!

Defense

The Texans' entire defense is built around versatility in their front seven to create an intense 3-4 scheme. The great news is that no matter who you draft, you can always use packages and substitutions to get your talent in a spot to make plays!

Key Formation

The 3-4 Under is an excellent base formation that can stop the run and bring pressure off the edge if the offense tries to fool you with play action.

Key Player

DT with 75+ Speed and 80+ Acceleration

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Under, Over Even, Solid
- Nickel: 3-3-5 Will, 3-3-5 Wide, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap
- Big Dime: 2-3-6, 2-3-6 Will, 1-4-6
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- DT (PMV, STR, ACC)
- DE (ACC, SPD, FMV)
- MLB (PRC, SPD, POW)

PRO TIP

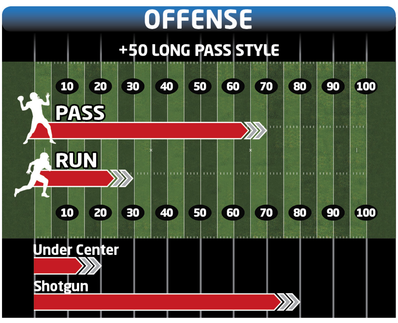

Finding a DT with enough athleticism to rush the passer from every spot is rare. If you only find a (more common) run-stuffing DT, try to use a DE to get after the QB from the inside of the line.

EA SPORTS MADDEN NFL 16

Draft Champions Mode

Tennessee Titans

Offense

The Titans' playbook is a solid way to test your opponent's pass defense. If you can come out early and spread them out, you will see your ground game open up in the second half.

Key Formation

Singleback Wing Trips Open is one of the few under-center Formations that have enough versatility to run all game. Pound the ball up the middle and then use quick throws to get it out in space.

Key Player

TE with 75+ Run Block

Formations

- Singleback: Ace Wing, Ace Close, Ace Twins, Pair Tight Twins, Ace Pair Twins, Bunch Ace, Doubles, Wing Trips Open
- I-Form: Pro, Pro Twins, Tight, Tight Pair
- Strong: H TE Flip, Tight Pair
- Weak: Close, Tight Pair
- Pistol: Y-Trips
- Gun: Doubles, Doubles Wk, Y-Trips HB Wk, Wing Trips Titan Wk, Trips TE, Bunch Wk, Tight Flex, Double Stack, Dbls Y-Flex Offset, Y-Trips Open, Trey Y-Flex, Trey Open, Empty Base Flex

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- WR (SPD, RTE, CTH)
- QB (SAC, MAC, ACC)
- TE (RBK, STR, CIT)

PRO TIP

The Titans' playbook is another that benefits from having two TEs available, even if the second one is mainly a run blocker.

Defense

Tennessee boasts a 3-4 defensive front that is built around strong defenders on the line. If you get a few options at LB, aim for whoever is the strongest of the bunch.

Key Formation

The Big Dime 2-3-6 Will can give you some flexibility depending on how your draft ends up. As long as you get one strong defensive end or tackle, you will be set.

Key Player

CB with 80+ Zone Coverage

Formations

- 3-4: Odd, Under, Over, Even, Solid
- Nickel: 2-4-5, 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap, 2-4-5 Prowl, 3-3-5 Wide
- Big Dime: 2-3-6 Will, 1-4-6
- Quarter: 1-3-7, 3 Deep

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- FS (ZCV, SPD, PRC)
- DE/DT (STR, PMV, BSH)
- OLB (SPD, ZCV, PUR)

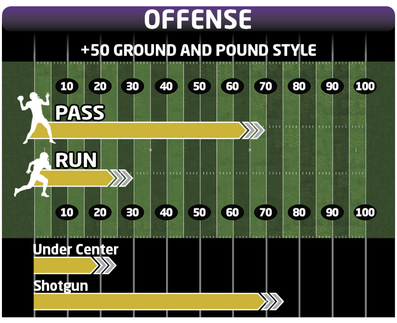

PRO TIP

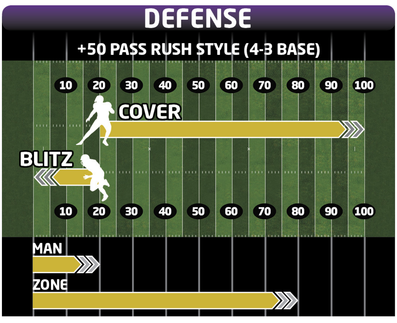

Picking up the tallest defenders available is one way to make your zone coverage seem even tougher to QBs. Taller defenders can reach a higher point on their jumps and can often swat down passes that other players can't reach.

Draft Champions Mode

Minnesota Vikings

Offense

The Minnesota offensive scheme is built around an elite HB who takes pressure off the QB and allows him to make short throws. If the defense over-commits, having a WR with blazing speed will pay dividends.

Key Formation

Gun Split Viking is a formation that you can live in all game long. Learn to run all the different shotgun runs in this formation, and use it to set up the play action.

Key Player

HB with 90+ Speed

Formations

- Singleback: Jumbo Pair, Ace Close, Ace Pair, Ace Pair Twins, Bunch Ace, Tight Doubles On, Doubles, Y-Trips
- I-Form: Pro, Twins Flex, Tight Pair
- Strong: Close, Pro Twins
- Weak: Pro
- full house: Normal Wide
- Gun: Split Viking, Ace Twins Offset, Doubles Offset Wk, Dbls Wing Offset Wk, Y-Trips Offset, Y-Trips Wk, Wing Trips Vikes Wk, Trips TE Offset, Dbls Y-Flex Offset, Doubles Flex, Trey Y-Flex Wk, Trey Open, Empty Bunch, Empty Base Flex

OFFENSIVE Draft Targets

- HB (SPD, TRK, CTH)
- WR (SPD, ACC, SPC)
- TE (RBK, CIT, RTE)

PRO TIP

Being creative with screens and handoffs is a great way to get the ball in the hands of playmakers, no matter where they line up.

Defense

The Minnesota defensive scheme is a solid 4-3 book that doesn't require elite players up front to get the job done. Focus on getting solid depth and strength up front, but don't be afraid if a superstar isn't available.

Key Formation

Dime 46 Normal is a unique formation that can give your opponent a different look than they are used to seeing.

Key Player

FS with 88+ Speed

Formations

- 4-3: Stack, Under, Over, Over Plus, Wide 9
- 46: Normal
- Nickel: Normal, Double A Gap, Wide 9, 3-3-5 Wide
- Dime: Normal
- Quarter: Normal, 3 Deep

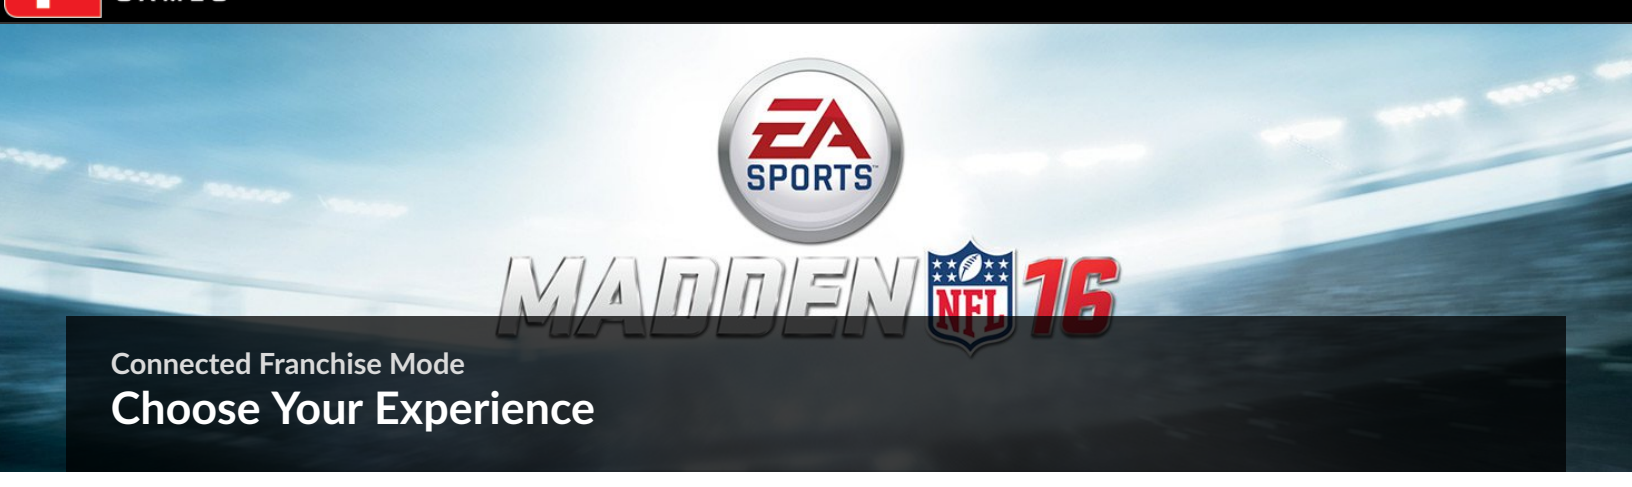

DEFENSIVE Draft Targets

- DE (STR, BSH, PMV)
- FS (SPD, ZCV, PRC)
- OLB (SPD, ACC, FMV)

PRO TIP

Using packages (with the right stick at the play-calling screen) will allow you to get the most from the 46 Normal, depending on how your lineup shakes out after the draft.

CFM: TIPS, TRICKS, AND STRATEGIES TO BUILD A DYNASTY

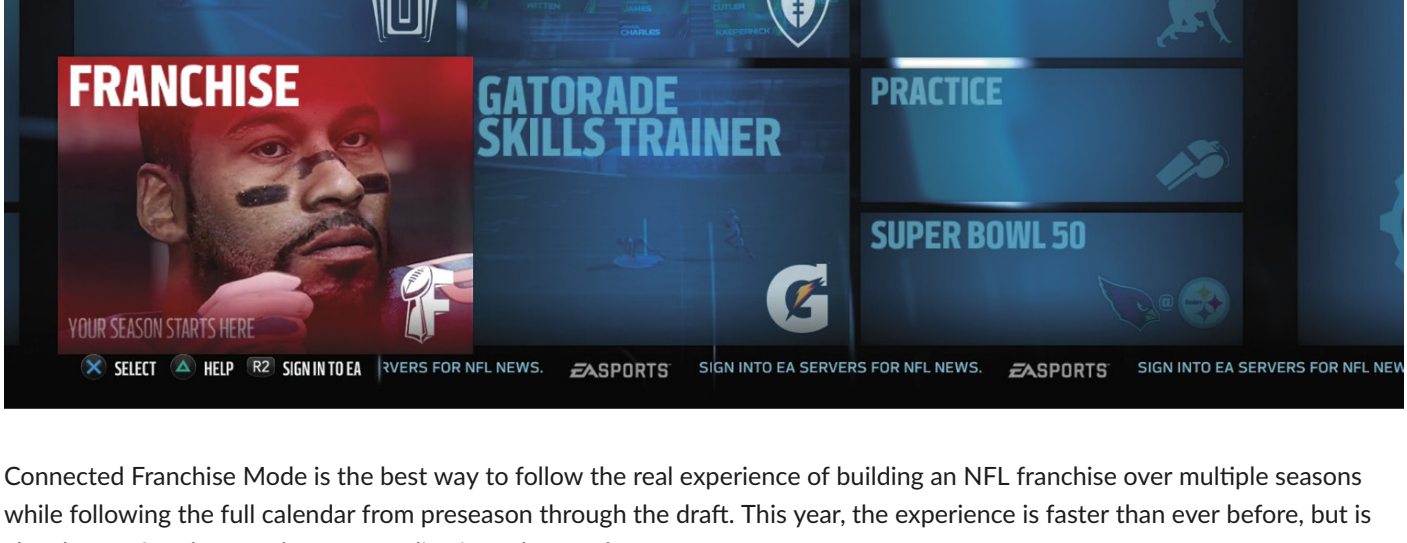

Connected Franchise Mode is the best way to follow the real experience of building an NFL franchise over multiple seasons while following the full calendar from preseason through the draft. This year, the experience is faster than ever before, but is also deeper for players who want to dive in and control every aspect.

If you have ever been too afraid to take the reins of your favorite team, this is the year to get involved with CFM! The CPU will help you get started quickly and will help manage all your day-to-day operations. While many players love playing with their friends in an online franchise with up to 32 total users, a good portion of players still like to play offline with CPU opponents. Why not give both a shot?

Connected Franchise Mode

Choosing a Path

No matter what role you want to play in Connected Franchise Mode this season, the first thing you need to do is to select a team. Check the lists in this chapter to find teams that fit into different categories and match your play style. You can always choose your favorite team, which is a great way to play, no matter what their ratings.

- Player: Selecting a player allows you to focus on controlling just one player. You choose the team you want to play on and focus on earning XP to upgrade your ratings. You can choose an active player or create your own. When creating your own you start as a rookie and choose your position, player type, and backstory.

- Coach: Playing as a coach gives you control over your entire team and allows you to sign, trade, and draft players. You will be responsible for offense and defense as you look to earn XP and progress and develop your players. Players can choose an active coach and take over their default traits, or they can create their own coach, which starts you as a rookie coach and allows you to choose your team.

- Owner: For players who want to control every aspect of their franchise, playing as an owner is the only way to go. Owners get to set all the prices off the field and still manage and coach the team on it. You can continue the legacy of a current owner or create a new one and start as a rookie. Creating a new owner allows you to choose a backstory that will affect your finances, team happiness, and fan happiness.

TOP 5 POSITION TYPES

Choosing a player can be an exciting way to experience Connected Franchise Mode. While it may be hard to compete against other humans who are controlling all aspects of their team, it can certainly be fun. It doesn't take as much planning week to week, and you can build up your player quickly since you are focusing mainly on him. Keeping in mind some of the gameplay features this season, here are our top recommendations for crafting player types.

5 ROUTE RUNNER WR

✔ Good Route Running

✔ Good Agility

✘ Decent Speed

✘ Decent Acceleration

✘ Poor Jumping

✘ Poor Size

Player Example: Odell Beckham Jr., Giants

Man-to-man defense is much tighter this year and will require a wide receiver with good route running to shake loose. Make sure to master the new run after catch (RAC) option, which will turn those short slants and drags into potential huge gains downfield. Until you boost your player's Catch in Traffic rating, work on the conservative catch on plays in traffic over the middle or near the sideline. Use the conservative catch to protect those crucial third-down catches and become your QB's go-to option on clutch downs.

4 STRONG ARM QB

✔ Great Arm Strength

✔ Good Deep Accuracy

✘ Poor Short Accuracy

✘ Poor Medium Accuracy

✘ Decent Awareness

Player Example: Matthew Stafford, Lions

Going downfield in Madden NFL 16 is completely different with a receiver who has the ability to get up for an aggressive catch. Passing accuracy is also very important, so a QB with a strong arm can really deliver some explosive plays. Make sure to use the new shot plays and rollouts to give your QB extra time for routes to develop downfield. Focus on building up short and medium accuracy for the long term. Consider a West Coast QB if you enjoy rollout plays, but be wary of going downfield until you upgrade his throwing power.

3 RECEIVING HB

✔ Good Catching

✔ Good Agility

✔ OK Route Running

✘ Decent Awareness

✘ Poor Trucking

✘ Poor Vision

Player Example: Shane Vereen, Giants

Catching the ball is more fun this year, and having a reliable option out of the backfield makes everything better. Work on your elusiveness to break more tackles in the open field. If you want a more balanced player who can be a threat in the running game, go with a speedy HB and upgrade his catching. Master the patience of a screen pass and waiting for your blockers to get out in front before accelerating.

2 PLAYMAKER FS

✔ Good Speed

✔ Good Acceleration

✔ Good Play Recognition

✘ Decent Man Coverage

✘ Decent Tackling

✘ Decent Zone Coverage

Player Example: Eric Weddle, Chargers

Defenders in Madden NFL 16 now have tools to go up and attack the ball at the highest point too. Learn how to judge the timing of whether to play ball or to play man and you will really benefit your overall defense. Develop your zone coverage to help knock out passes when playing defenses like Cover 2 man and Cover 2 zone. Pass rushing is as fun as ever, so if you aren't comfortable controlling a safety, go for a pass rusher, depending on what scheme your team runs.

1 RED ZONE THREAT WR

✔ Good Catch in Traffic

✔ Good Jumping

✔ Good Spectacular Catch

✘ Decent Speed

✘ Decent Catching

✘ Decent Agility

Player Example: Mike Evans, Buccaneers

With all the new catch mechanics in Madden NFL 16, no player benefits more than a big tall WR who can go up and make aggressive catches. If you focus on the Catch in Traffic rating, your player will be a favorite target of QBs even when seemingly covered. The timing should be easy to learn, and by holding the new aggressive catch buttons, you should see some spectacular catches and great WR/DB interaction. Consider a possession WR if you want to be slightly more balanced and like to work the sideline and middle of the field on routes.

Picking a team to run in a head-to-head game is a big decision, but choosing which team to potentially start the new NFL Access with is even bigger use. This isn't something you should take lightly. If you want to find success, take a minute to read through the following guide. It will help you find the right team for you, and it will help you find success with that team.

Before we get started, we should note that we're using the Madden 16 ratings for the purposes of this article. Ratings can change a lot between games, and we'll be updating this article when the Madden 17 ratings are released. Also, we're not going to cover every team in the league. Instead, we're going to cover a few teams in each tier and use the characteristics of those teams to help you find a team that you will enjoy playing.

TOP 5 WIN NOW TEAMS

Winning games is one of the most crucial parts of playing Madden NFL. As a PC user in last-to-first your friends, and the rest of the Madden community, will look down on you. Nobody wants to start playing you, so they can't blame you and with what you have to work with you should find it to be a lot more fun.

1. DALLAS COWBOYS

- Offensive Scheme: Balanced
- Defensive Scheme: Base 3-4
- 2016 Overall: 85
- Offense: 77
- Defense: 88

The Cowboys went on a run through the NFC East last season and nearly pulled off the upset win at Lambeau in January. This makes Dallas a tempting team to pick with an overall rating of 88. Sure, on face value, the core of the youngest and most physical team in the NFC East is enticing, but there's more to it than that. Dallas has a lot of talent on both sides of the ball, and it's all in the right spots. Most importantly, when Tony Romo is injured or just wasn't up to par in the preseason he needs to deliver a big time win in the NFC East. He knows the schedule, even on the defensive, which won't set you up power right now but the offensive line is one of the best in the league and should be a strength for years to come.

2. DENVER BRONCOS

- Offensive Scheme: Zone Run
- Defensive Scheme: 3-4 Hybrid
- 2016 Overall: 83
- Offense: 81
- Defense: 85

Denver's defense is one of the most accurate QBs in the game and will make passing the ball a breeze. Super Bill looks Nelson as aggressive rushers with Brandon Marshall causing underneath using NAC (run after catch). The Packers also benefit from a strong defensive line and linebacking corps. Denver's defense is one of the best in the league, but the offense is a bit of a question mark. Peyton Manning is a shell of his former self and he lacks some unique coverage. Sure Eli, Clay Matthews and Julius Peppers miss the QB and you should rush up the arm.

3. SEATTLE SEAHAWKS

- Offensive Scheme: Power Run
- Defensive Scheme: Attacking 4-3
- 2016 Overall: 83
- Offense: 81
- Defense: 87

Defense wins championships, and the Seahawks are the only team on the list with a truly lockdown D. The core and speed possessed by Seattle's defense can't be overstated. Sure they took a hit with Jimmy Graham, but they still have the best secondary in football. Richard Sherman, Kam Chancellor and Earl Thomas III are the best safety trio in the league. Don't forget to take the pressure off by hunting the ball to Bill Parcells's Earth, who is the premiere power back in the game. Marshawn Lynch is a beast and Russell Wilson appreciates is something the ball and dodging defensive linemen.

TOP 5 TEAMS FOR THE FUTURE

One of the best parts of EPM is selecting a team that might not be ready to dominate right away but still has some solid pieces to build around. Rebuilding is a process that takes time and patience, but it can be very rewarding when you see your team start to come together. Here are a few teams that have the pieces in place to be successful in the future. Whether it is a draft class, free agent pickup, or simply getting PC Xbox Live® ids ready to use in the future!

Honorable Mentions: Houston Texans, St. Louis Rams

1. JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS

- Offensive Scheme: West Coast
- Defensive Scheme: Attacking 4-3
- 2016 Overall: 80
- Offense: 80
- Defense: 80

The biggest team transformation from a team that acquired a serious rebuild into a potential contender. Focus on getting and keeping the confidence of Blake Bortles in the offense, and Jalen Ramsey should be the cornerstone of the defense. Throw a good roster of talent at QB, so make getting a franchise QB a priority in the draft. On defense, the sky's are a solid group in the front seven, and they've got a good draft class going around Ramsey.

2. OAKLAND RAIDERS

- Offensive Scheme: Power Run
- Defensive Scheme: Base 3-4
- 2016 Overall: 78
- Offense: 81
- Defense: 75

The Raiders also have an excellent combination with rookie RB Amari Cooper and QB Derek Carr. The with the the foundations of the Raiders' future to be the offense. Defensive LB Khalil Mack possesses the ability to be a star and will be the cornerstone moving forward. There is also some great young talent in the secondary, but a better with need to emerge once PC Charles Woodson retires from football.

3. TENNESSEE TITANS

- Offensive Scheme: Spread
- Defensive Scheme: Cover-Man 3-4
- 2016 Overall: 83
- Offense: 83
- Defense: 82

Tennessee made a commitment to the QB position with the the overall selection of Marcus Mariota. Mariota has good accuracy and is a threat to run the ball. He will be a star in the NFL, but he needs to be surrounded by talent around him. Marcus and RBs like Kendall Wright, Dorial Green-Beckham, the Titans should be better with the signing of veteran LB Brian Orakpo. Overall, there are a lot of winners on the side of the ball, but some key pieces missing when it comes to the offensive line.

4. TAMPA BAY BUCCANEERS

- Offensive Scheme: Balanced
- Defensive Scheme: Tampa 2
- 2016 Overall: 79
- Offense: 81
- Defense: 80

Tampa Bay starts with QB Jameis Winston as the #1 overall selection in the NFL Draft quickly due to his excellent arm strength. Winston has top targets on the outside and should be able to deliver a ball pointing offense early. There are to get RB Doug Martin back to his pre-suspension form, but he has the talent around him to be successful. The defense is also a group on the uptrend. Tampa Bay has a solid core on the middle, but picking up some talent for the outside will help speed up the defense.

5. MIAMI DOLPHINS

- Offensive Scheme: West Coast
- Defensive Scheme: Base 3-4
- 2016 Overall: 82
- Offense: 83
- Defense: 80

The Dolphins solidified their plans on top of the list with their offensive moves of extending QB Ryan Tannehill's contract and signing WR Kenny Stills to a big contract. Tannehill has the arm to be a star in the league and Stills is a perfect fit for his offense. RB Lamar Gordon is a solid starter, but he could be the leader of an early rebuild defense with players like DE Cameron Wake that should be a force against opposing passers. Keep building on the confidence of your young NFL and look to add more RBs in the draft.

TOP 5 TEAMS FOR REBUILDING

EPM is a football dynasty in a few ways but the biggest is your ability to build the game. It allows you as the fan to take the reigns of a team and build it from the ground up. Whether you're looking to start a dynasty or just want to take a team that you're not afraid to rebuild, these are the best rebuild teams in the league. Pick one of these teams and you'll have plenty of fun.

Honorable Mentions: Washington Redskins

1. SAN FRANCISCO 49ERS

- Offensive Scheme: Power Run
- Defensive Scheme: Base 3-4
- 2016 Overall: 80
- Offense: 79
- Defense: 80

The team sees for Vikes battles is that QB Colin Kaepernick and MLB Navorro Bowman are still franchise talents to build around. Kaepernick is a dynamic runner and Bowman is a beast on defense. Along with Aldon Smith, they're the NFC's best linebacker corps and young options there. The challenge becomes where to develop to fit for the players who brought so much success over the last few seasons.

2. CHICAGO BEARS

- Offensive Scheme: West Coast
- Defensive Scheme: Base 3-4
- 2016 Overall: 82
- Offense: 75
- Defense: 79

The Bears have about been known for having a solid 3-4 defense but are now switching over to a 3-4. It is a good opportunity to start a full rebuild, so you have what to start to get their players in a position to succeed. Another what the Bears have is a franchise QB in Jay Cutler, but he's not the guy to lead a team to the playoffs. Start looking for a replacement, but the Bears drafted a real talent in WR Alshon Jeffery, who should grow with Cutler.

Honorable Mentions: Cleveland Browns, Buffalo Bills, Jacksonville Jaguars, Oakland Raiders, Tennessee Titans

3. NEW ORLEANS SAINTS

- Offensive Scheme: Vertical
- Defensive Scheme: Attacking 3-4
- 2016 Overall: 82
- Offense: 80
- Defense: 81

New Orleans traded away RB Jimmy Graham to the NFC Champion Seahawks in the offseason. This soon-named them a rebuilding team. Drew Brees is still a franchise QB and Mark Ingram is a solid RB, but the defense is a mess and needs to be rebuilt from the ground up. Defensive end Cameron Jordan should be a solid player to build around, but the rest of the defense is a question mark. The Saints could use some help at multiple positions all defense, so it is totally up to you about how to start the process. Whether you want to go with a quick fix or begin the process, it will be a challenge to get the Saints back to the playoffs.

4. NEW YORK GIANTS

- Offensive Scheme: Balanced
- Defensive Scheme: Attacking 4-3
- 2016 Overall: 80
- Offense: 82
- Defense: 77

The Colts gained one of the players to signing veteran playmakers like WR Justin Tuck and WR Andre Johnson. These two players are good players to help a young quarterback develop, but they're not the future of the team. The Colts have a ton of talent on the defensive side of the ball, but they could use an offensive lineman to shore up the front five. Indianapolis is a team that is a few pieces away from being a contender, but they're not there yet.

5. INDIANAPOLIS COLTS

- Offensive Scheme: Balanced
- Defensive Scheme: Base 3-4
- 2016 Overall: 80
- Offense: 82
- Defense: 77

The team has one of the best safeties in the game in Darrelle Revis, but the rest of the defense is a mess. Revis is a free agent after the season, so he could be a big piece to help a rebuilding team. Quarterback Geno Smith has some talent, but he's not the guy to lead a team to the playoffs. Start looking for a replacement, but the Jets drafted a real talent in WR Eric Decker, who should grow with Smith.

TOP 5 SLEEPER TEAMS

Sleeper teams are a great way to surprise a player with an opponent that you don't have much talent. All this is on the list of teams that are going to be a surprise in the league. Whether you're looking to start a dynasty or just want to take a team that you're not afraid to rebuild, these are the best rebuild teams in the league. Pick one of these teams and you'll have plenty of fun.

Honorable Mentions: Houston Texans

1. CLEVELAND BROWNS

- Offensive Scheme: Power Run
- Defensive Scheme: Base 3-4
- 2016 Overall: 81
- Offense: 87
- Defense: 69

Cleveland has quickly put together a solid defense that will help them in injury every single game. If you can generate some pressure with Paul Kruger and Barkevious Mingo, you're going to be in a lot of games. The problem is that the rest of the defense is a mess. The secondary is a weak spot on the defense and that opponents may not be ready to defend. Make sure you address the secondary and the rest of the defensive offensive line, which is the real reason they are on the list.

2. BUFFALO BILLS

- Offensive Scheme: Power Run
- Defensive Scheme: Hybrid Defense
- 2016 Overall: 83
- Offense: 81
- Defense: 87

What makes the Bills a tough team to play against is their multiple fronts, which can bring pressure from seemingly anywhere. Defensive end Mario Williams is a beast and should be a force against the run and the pass. The Bills have a lot of talent on the offensive line, but there is a concern about the offensive line and where they're going. Make sure you address the offensive line early.

3. WASHINGTON REDSKINS

- Offensive Scheme: West Coast
- Defensive Scheme: Base 3-4
- 2016 Overall: 80
- Offense: 80
- Defense: 81

The Redskins can be a tricky team to defend for players who can't stop the power run game. RB Alfred Morris requires a commitment to take down, which can open up the passing game for Robert Griffin III. Griffin will be the physical ability to create a lot of problems for opponents, but he's not the most accurate passer in the league. Make sure you address the offensive line and speed early. Griffin will have to learn about which receivers he's throwing after the catch, which should help him play without misses the effects and receiver opponents.

4. NEW YORK JETS

- Offensive Scheme: Spread
- Defensive Scheme: Attacking 4-3
- 2016 Overall: 82
- Offense: 83
- Defense: 79

The signing of CB Darrelle Revis to the offseason makes the Jets' defensive scheme a nightmare for opponents who rely on a number one WR. Revis is a dominant defensive free but can stop the run without any help. He and the rest of Jets' defensive backfield will be a force to be reckoned with. The Jets have a lot of talent on the offensive side of the ball, but there are some question marks. Geno Smith has a lot of upside at QB, but he's not the guy to lead a team to the playoffs. Make sure you address the offensive line early.

5. MINNESOTA VIKINGS

- Offensive Scheme: Balanced
- Defensive Scheme: Attacking 4-3
- 2016 Overall: 81
- Offense: 80
- Defense: 79

The Vikings' offensive is still built around RB Adrian Peterson. However, Alan Qb. Teddy Bridgewater, allows them to be a threat to throw the ball down the field and open up the passing game. The Vikings have a lot of talent on the defensive side of the ball, but there are some question marks. Linval Joseph is a beast in the interior that should stand up well with all the speed opposing teams in the division. Expect to put pressure with the front four, and draft LB Anthony Barr to develop into the linebacker he can be.

TOP 5 REBOUND TEAMS

The teams on the list have all had runs to the playoffs in recent seasons but couldn't repeat. Their how-tos they have the talent to get back to the playoffs in the near future. Here are the teams to look out for in the coming years and if you are specific about how their key contenders. The reasons to these may be get the new suit on it.

Honorable Mentions: Pittsburgh Steelers

1. DETROIT LIONS

- Offensive Scheme: Vertical
- Defensive Scheme: Attacking 4-3
- 2016 Overall: 80
- Offense: 85
- Defense: 77

The Lions are looking to take back to back playoff appearances after a slowly showing last year. While they did have some injuries to key players, they also had some issues with consistency and turnovers. Matthew Stafford is a franchise QB, but he has to take care of the football. Calvin Johnson is a beast at WR, but he's not the player he was a few years ago. The Lions have a lot of talent on the offensive side of the ball, but there are some question marks. Ndamukong Suh is a beast in the interior that should stand up well with all the speed opposing teams in the division. Expect to put pressure with the front four, and draft LB Anthony Barr to develop into the linebacker he can be.

2. KANSAS CITY CHIEFS

- Offensive Scheme: West Coast
- Defensive Scheme: Base 3-4
- 2016 Overall: 80
- Offense: 80
- Defense: 80

The Chiefs had a stunning second season start failed to stem to the playoffs, which would have been a huge step forward. Alex Smith is a franchise QB and can make all the throws, with All-Second Charles covering the back and he will get support from Jamaal Charles and Knile Davis. The Chiefs have a lot of talent on the offensive side of the ball, but there are some question marks. Eric Berry is a beast in the interior that should stand up well with all the speed opposing teams in the division. Expect to put pressure with the front four, and draft LB Anthony Barr to develop into the linebacker he can be.

3. SAN DIEGO CHARGERS

- Offensive Scheme: Balanced
- Defensive Scheme: Base 3-4
- 2016 Overall: 81
- Offense: 87
- Defense: 69

The Chargers are looking to start back to back playoff appearances after a slowly showing last year. While they did have some injuries to key players, they also had some issues with consistency and turnovers. Philip Rivers is a franchise QB, but he has to take care of the football. Keenan Allen is a beast at WR, but he's not the player he was a few years ago. The Chargers have a lot of talent on the offensive side of the ball, but there are some question marks. Eric Weddle is a beast in the interior that should stand up well with all the speed opposing teams in the division. Expect to put pressure with the front four, and draft LB Anthony Barr to develop into the linebacker he can be.

4. CAROLINA PANTHERS

- Offensive Scheme: Balanced Offense
- Defensive Scheme: Base 3-4
- 2016 Overall: 87
- Offense: 89
- Defense: 89

Carolina was in the playoff game every 2003 but never. Cam scored the scores was a struggle as they finished with a 7-8-1 record. The bulk of the talent lives, C.J. Fiorek the year before is still there, and everyone expects the Panthers to rebound and make a playoff appearance. Cam Newton is a franchise QB, but he has to take care of the football. Kelvin Benjamin is a beast at WR, but he's not the player he was a few years ago. The Panthers have a lot of talent on the offensive side of the ball, but there are some question marks. Luke Kuechly is a beast in the interior that should stand up well with all the speed opposing teams in the division. Expect to put pressure with the front four, and draft LB Anthony Barr to develop into the linebacker he can be.

5. PHILADELPHIA EAGLES

- Offensive Scheme: Spread
- Defensive Scheme: Attacking 3-4
- 2016 Overall: 86
- Offense: 87
- Defense: 85

Its more than talent not an attempt on rebounding as the Eagles did the offseason. Can an HB Lillian McCoy and QB Nick Foles are the key to the offense, but the defense is where the Eagles have the most talent. Fletcher Cox is a beast in the interior that should stand up well with all the speed opposing teams in the division. Expect to put pressure with the front four, and draft LB Anthony Barr to develop into the linebacker he can be.

Fantasy Draft Guide

Choosing to start your franchise with a fantasy draft roster can make for an extremely fun experience and the chance to build the roster you have always dreamed of. All 32 teams will select from a pool of all the talent in the NFL. The draft timer moves quickly, so have some players in mind. The whole experience took about 30 minutes to complete, so set some time aside.

The draft started out nicely with Calvin Johnson still being available late in the first round. Although he is nearing the end of his prime, his size is exactly what our scheme calls for. He was selected over younger talent like Odell Beckham Jr., who was still available. We were surprised to see Le'Veon Bell still available but it seemed that the computer was undervaluing him; Bell is so multitalented that it was like getting two picks in one. QBs went super fast, and we didn't have the chance to get a top-tier player, so we didn't mind waiting. Instead we will try to harness the ability of RGIII and brought in a strong-armed backup just in case. Our offensive line is extremely young and strong up the middle, as that is where our main run attack will go. We picked up a great run-blocking TE along with a sure-handed pass catcher for third downs. We selected Emmanuel Sanders for his ability to run after the catch and turn shorter passes into big gains. We closed out our WR corps with a rookie to develop heading forward who can play special teams for now.

Defensive Lineup

POS.	1	2	3	4	5
LE	Larry Webster	Michael Buchanan	—	—	—
RE	Dante Fowler Jr.	Randy Gregory	Vic Beasley Jr.	—	—
DT	Henry Melton	Isaac Sopoaga	—	—	—
LOLB	Thomas Davis	Jordan Zumwalt	—	—	—
MLB	Jon Beason	Eric Kendricks	—	—	—
ROLB	Justin Durant	Tavares Gooden	LaMarr Woodley	—	—
CB	Brandon Browner	Trae Waynes	Tharold Simon	Pierre Desir	Zack Bowman
FS	Harrison Smith	LaRon Landry	Dashon Goldson	—	—
SS	Donte Whitner	Deone Bucannon	—	—	—
K	Randy Bullock	—	—	—	—
P	Chris Jones	—	—	—	—

Our defense got a scheme in the second round with FS Harrison Smith, who is a big player with a zone coverage skill set. From there we wanted to fill out our defense and went with LB Thomas Davis. He is a bit on the older side but has proven to be a great player, especially in zone. We reached a bit early for CB Brandon Browner, but we loved his size and skill set. We will need to work on his penalty trait. We loaded up great young depth at CB with size and zone as the focus. Our LB corps finished out nicely with some solid veterans with high play recognition and some young stars in waiting. On the defensive line we went for one anchor with Isaac Sopoaga and one DT who can rush the passer. We loaded up with rookies at RE. All have different skills, and the smart bet is that at least one will hit! We looked for a speed rusher off the LE that we could drop into coverage, and he will be a key to our success.

Madden Ultimate Team

What Is Madden Ultimate Team?

Madden Ultimate Team (MUT) is a free-to-play game mode that combines player trading items with on-the-field Madden NFL gameplay. MUT allows you to earn, buy, auction, and trade players to build your version of the ultimate team. The mode is loaded with player items that include not only the game's current superstars but also past NFL legends. In Madden Ultimate Team mode you put together a team that fits any style or mold you want and then compete against other players or take on the computer in solo challenges. Remember that MUT is a "live" game mode that has new content updated daily. This ranges from new items to challenges that follow the story of the NFL and the Madden season. MUT is the fastest-growing game mode in Madden NFL, which creates a great marketplace to auction and trade for the items you need to build your team.

Introduction: How to Start Your Squad

TIP

Take on the Jaguars for new content every day. It is usually most valuable right when it enters the game!

Every day new cards are added to the Jaguars roster. Complete your objectives as soon as possible to unlock your players and start new challenges. Keep an eye on your offensive and defensive schedules, as the Jaguars will be playing new opponents every week. Check back often for new content!

TIP

Keep an eye out for added live items during the season. You will be rewarded for mixing up its time.

SOLO CHALLENGES

Each challenge set is presented as a series of cards that you can complete. There are two types of challenges: Rookie Vs All Stars challenges and Journey Packs. Rookie Vs All Stars challenges have you go up against a Rookie card and try to defeat them with a higher overall. The higher you play, the more coins and rewards you will earn at once time. Each time you beat a Rookie card, you will receive a Rare Player Pack. Journey Packs are a series of challenges that you must complete in order. Each challenge will have you play a game with specific objectives. Complete all of the challenges in a Journey Pack to receive a Rare Player Pack.

NFL JOURNEY

Unlock the NFL Journey and play through all-new game scenarios in different types of games, and complete unique objectives to earn rewards. Each NFL Journey will have a different theme and will be available for a limited time.

TIP

The Week Journey Pack Challenges are game experiences that are a great place to get started and improve your team.

Madden Ultimate Team

Top 5 Quarterback Items in MUT

Finding an accurate passer in Madden NFL 16 is crucial, especially with all the new upgrades to the passing game. By finding an elite passer early, you will be able to quickly gain confidence in your passing game and start moving the chains. QBs have more tools than ever before, and WRs are bigger weapons than ever before.

5 ANDREW LUCK

Style: Long Pass

Andrew Luck is one of the rising stars in the league and continues to lead his team deeper into the playoffs each season. There isn't a throw he can't make on the field, and his accuracy allows him to fit it into questionable windows at times. Russell Wilson is the only other elite QB who can come close to matching Luck's blend of speed and throwing power.

TIP

Luck can use his speed as a threat in the red zone.

4 BEN ROETHLISBERGER

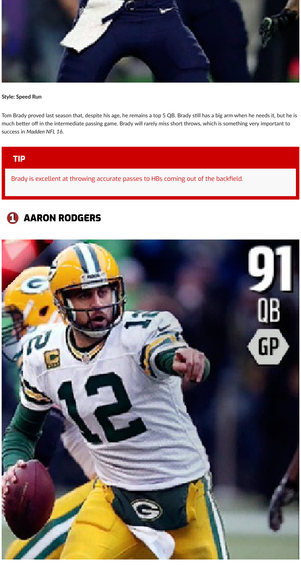

Style: Short Pass

Big Ben is one of the best pocket-passing QBs in the league. Take advantage of his excellent strength by hanging tough in the pocket and waiting for your receivers to get open. Make sure to try a few shots downfield each game, because his arm has the range.

TIP

Big Ben can shrug off would-be tacklers and keep plays alive in the pocket.

3 DREW BREES

Style: Ground and Pound

Brees may not have the throwing power of some of the younger QBs in the league, but his accuracy keeps him in the top 5. Aside from Peyton Manning and Tom Brady, there are no other pocket passers who can deliver throws that allow receivers to turn upfield and pick up yards after the catch. If you learn the throws Brees can and can't make he will be a star for your team.

TIP

Trust Brees to throw into tight windows in the intermediate area of the field. He is that good.

2 TOM BRADY

Style: Speed Run

Tom Brady proved last season that, despite his age, he remains a top 5 QB. Brady still has a big arm when he needs it, but he is much better off in the intermediate passing game. Brady will rarely miss short throws, which is something very important to success in Madden NFL 16.

TIP

Brady is excellent at throwing accurate passes to HBs coming out of the backfield.

1 AARON RODGERS

Style: Ground and Pound

Rodgers has slowed down a bit but remains the best all-around passer in the game. His ability to zip passes into tight windows looks simple but can't be replicated by average QBs. If you have Aaron Rodgers, there is simply no type of offense you can't run and no throw you can't make.

TIP

Rodgers can make all of the new QB passing mechanics this year look simple.

Madden Ultimate Team

Top 5 Halfback Items in MUT

Most players utilize a run-first offense early in the season while they are still looking to build confidence in their passing game. This year, both power backs and elusive backs can be effective with the right play calls. Consider grabbing a backup who is a solid receiver for third downs. However, if you get one of these elite backs, you should let him carry the load for the offense.

5 JAMAAL CHARLES

Style: Short Pass

Jamaal Charles is an excellent back, and not just because of his breakaway speed. Charles also has excellent hands out of the backfield and is one of the best route runners in MUT. If he gets matched up against a linebacker, he will win almost every time.

TIP

Charles is an absolute burner who can break a big play any time he touches the ball!

4 ADRIAN PETERSON

Style: Speed Run

Adrian Peterson can defeat tacklers with both power and elusive moves, which makes him one of the most versatile backs in Ultimate Team. To prevent fumbles, make sure to cover up the ball, and avoid taking unnecessary hits.

TIP

Peterson is very balanced between power and elusiveness, so defenders rarely bring him down on the first attempt.

3 LE'VEON BELL

Style: Ground and Pound

Bell is a powerful runner with a great arsenal of moves to defeat tacklers. While most power runners tend to be straight-ahead-style players, Bell can quickly cut and change lanes. He also is an every-down back, which provides great value to any team.

TIP

Bell proved he belonged in the top 5 last year with an excellent all-around season.

2 DEMARCO MURRAY

Style: Long Pass

Murray has such a tremendous blend of power and speed that not only can he knock over tacklers, but also he can run right past them! Murray is another rare combo player who has hands to go along with his power and is a very valuable back to an offense.

TIP

Murray is an every-down back.

1 MARSHAWN LYNCH

Style: Short Pass

Lynch is the best trucking back in the game and should be used to build a power run offense! While Alfred Morris, LeGarrette Blount, and Eddie Lacy are all solid trucking backs, Lynch is simply head and shoulders better. He will convert consistently in short yardage to keep the chains moving for your offense.

TIP

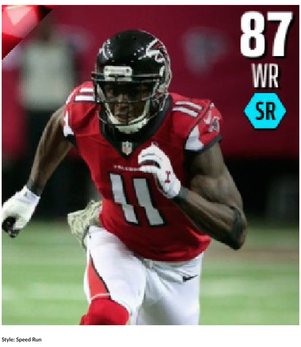

Lynch is an incredibly powerful back and should be trusted with every snap at the goal line.

Madden Ultimate Team

Top 5 Wide Receiver Items in MUT

A dominant WR is a real force in Madden NFL 16, especially with all the new catching mechanics. These elite-level players can ball your QB out on a bad throw and make some spectacular plays. Continue to feed these players the ball until the defense commits to double-teaming them. They may be covered, but they are always open!

5 JULIO JONES

Style: Speed Run

Julio Jones is capable of making every catch type look routine. With a great blend of size and speed, Julio is like a combination of A.J. Green and the more powerful Demaryius Thomas. Jones has everything in one package and can beat nearly any DB one-on-one.

TIP

Jones is the perfect option for players who want to use a speed-run style. Try pairing him with QB Tom Brady.

4 ODELL BECKHAM JR.

Style: Short Pass

Odell Beckham Jr. exploded onto the scene last season and quickly showed off his top 5 talent. Odell Beckham Jr. is an all-around talent and has the added bonus of making highlight reel plays for your offense. If you want spectacular catches, this is your receiver.

TIP

Odell Beckham Jr. may not be the tallest WR in the game, but his Spectacular Catch rating makes him play big!

3 CALVIN JOHNSON

Style: Ground and Pound

Johnson has one of the biggest bodies in all of Ultimate Team and can consistently make an aggressive catch downfield. There is no single defender in the game who isn't a mismatch, so adding Megatron to your lineup will pay off big.

TIP

Megatron is still the most dominant force when throwing downfield into coverage.

2 DEZ BRYANT

Style: Long Pass

Dez Bryant has turned into a red zone machine who is able to hang onto balls in traffic. Bryant is our favorite midrange receiver because he consistently fights defenders for catches and hangs onto them.

TIP

Bryant has a knack for finding the end zone and should be trusted on fade routes.

1 ANTONIO BROWN

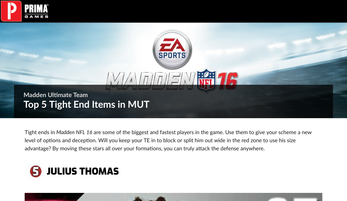

Style: Short Pass

Brown is an excellent choice for the top receiver spot because he really benefits from the new RAC (run after catch) move in Madden NFL 16. Brown can run any type of route, so making sure to use all the different types of catches will ensure he earns his number one spot.

TIP

Brown is one of the must-have players if you struggle to beat man coverage; his route running is excellent.

Madden Ultimate Team

Top 5 Tight End Items in MUT

Tight ends in Madden NFL 16 are some of the biggest and fastest players in the game. Use them to give your scheme a new level of options and deception. Will you keep your TE in to block or split him out wide in the red zone to use his size advantage? By moving these stars all over your formations, you can truly attack the defense anywhere.

5 JULIUS THOMAS

Style: Long Pass

Thomas is an excellent option in the red zone because of his size. His ability to out-jump defenders gives him a big advantage. Thomas should get separation from most defenders unless you split him out wide against a great press corner.

TIP

Thomas can out-jump defenders, so don't worry about throwing it to him when he is one-on-one.

4 GREG OLSEN

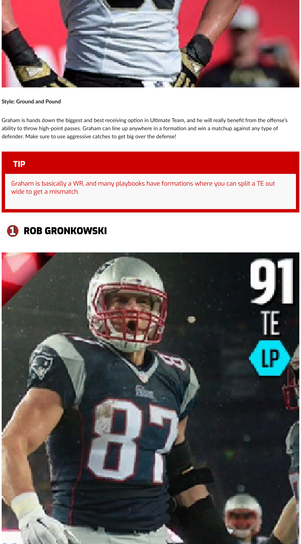

Style: Short Pass

Olsen is one of the best options in the game for players who can't grab Rob Gronkowski. Olsen can block and run every route that his peers can. He will also hang onto passes in traffic and has the size to steal even a bad throw from the QB away from the defense.

TIP

Olsen is a very well-rounded TE who can break big gains after the catch.

3 JASON WITTEN

Style: Speed Run

Witten is a perfect option for players who like to use their TEs as reliable options on third down. Witten won't burn past too many defenders, but his ability to hang onto passes is extremely valuable for certain offenses. He has a big frame and can shield defenders away, especially on low throws.

TIP

Witten is an excellent safety valve who has been converting big third downs for a long time.

2 JIMMY GRAHAM

Style: Ground and Pound

Graham is hands down the biggest and best receiving option in Ultimate Team, and he will really benefit from the offense's ability to throw high-point passes. Graham can line up anywhere in a formation and win a matchup against any type of defender. Make sure to use aggressive catches to get big over the defense!

TIP

Graham is basically a WR, and many playbooks have formations where you can split a TE out wide to get a mismatch.

1 ROB GRONKOWSKI

Style: Long Pass

Gronk is the best TE in Ultimate Team because he can simply do it all. He is a beast when it comes to run blocking but can also run crisp routes even with his incredible size. He has the speed to attack the seam and the size to pull aggressive catches down over defenders.

TIP

Gronkowski is once again a force in the red zone — throw to him unless he is in double or triple coverage!

Madden Ultimate Team

Top 5 Defensive Linemen Items in MUT

Defensive linemen are often overlooked in MUT, but their ability to get pressure on the QB can make defending the passing game so much easier. Keep an eye out for players who have the strength and block shedding to stop the run, as they can be tough to find. While most players have one skill, the best of the best are all-around forces that the offense must pay attention to on every snap.

5 GERALD MCCOY (DT)

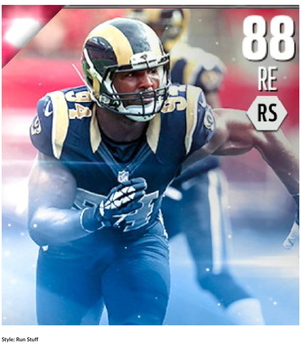

Style: Man Defense

Gerald McCoy is prototypical 4-3 defensive tackle who has enough strength to stop the run but also can get after the passer. These types of players are extremely rare, so hang onto them and understand their value. McCoy is so good that he can even play in a 3-4 defense if needed.

TIP

McCoy is one of the best defenders in MUT at rushing the QB from the interior of the line.

4 ROBERT QUINN (RE)

Style: Run Stuff

Quinn has a rare combination of size and power that allows him to attack any tackle in the game. He is capable of bringing down not only QBs with his great pursuit, but also ball carriers. Make sure to keep Quinn in a 4-3, where he will really excel at rushing off the edge.

TIP

Quinn is one of the most powerful rushing ends.

3 CAMERON WAKE (LE)

Style: Run Stuff

Cameron Wake is perfect for 4-3 teams that want to get after the passer all game long. Wake has an array of pass moves and can even slide inside and still get pressure on passing downs. Try switching up his assignments to take advantage of his elite athletic ability.

TIP

Wake is so talented that he can drop into coverage and take away an offense's first read.

2 NDAMUKONG SUH (DT)

Style: Zone Defense

Suh is an ideal defensive tackle in the 4-3 and will easily clog up rushing lanes. Where he becomes a nightmare for the offense is on third and long, where he can use his elite pass-rushing moves to get after the QB. Suh will consistently destroy even elite interior linemen.

TIP

Suh is so strong that he can play any position on the defensive line in a 3-4 scheme, too.

1 J.J. WATT (LE)

Style: Pass Rush

Watt is hands down the best defensive item in Ultimate Team due to his ability to play any position on the defensive line. Watt can terrorize defenses from a 3-4 or 4-3 look and has the quickness to get pressure from the inside or the outside. He is a great run stopper and can even score off turnovers.

TIP

J.J. Watt can dominate at any position on the entire defensive line.

Madden Ultimate Team

Top 5 Linebacker Items in MUT

Finding a great LB who can control the middle of the defense or rush off the edge is imperative to building a great defense. Make sure to determine if you have a 3-4 or 4-3 defense, because it will impact the number and type of players you need. OLBs are some of the most versatile players in the game because they can rush the passer, drop into coverage, or even drop down to defensive end. You can never have enough studs at the LB position in Madden NFL 16.

5 TERRELL SUGGS (ROLB)

Style: Pass Rush

Suggs is not only capable of rushing the passer and delivering big hits, he also does a great job in the run game. Allow him to play the 3-4 OLB positions, and any edge runs should get bottled up before they get outside.

TIP

Suggs is the best defender at setting the edge in the run game with his strength and block shedding.

4 BOBBY WAGNER (MLB)

Style: Man Defense

Wagner is one of the fastest LBs in Ultimate Team, and he can unleash devastating hits that force turnovers. Wagner is the perfect player in a 4-3 defense to mix in man coverage and slow down routes to the TE.

TIP

Wagner has a rare blend of speed and hit power. He can force turnovers for your defense.

3 LUKE KUECHLY (MLB)

Style: Zone Defense

Kuechly is one of the smartest defenders in MUT and is perfect for zone coverage. Leave him in a hook zone over the middle and allow his play recognition skill to do the work. He is a sure tackler and will lock down anything that comes through his area.

TIP

Kuechly is the ultimate set-it-and-forget-it LB. His play recognition is outstanding.

2 JUSTIN HOUSTON (LOLB)

Style: Pass Rush

Houston is built to rush the passer from the 3-4 defense. However, he is so talented and strong that even a 4-3 defense could use him at defensive end to get pressure. No matter what defense you like to play, unleashing him at the QB is a smart idea.

TIP

Houston can be a one-man pass rush for your defense, so don't worry if it takes a ton to get him on your team.

1 VON MILLER (LOLB)

Style: Run Stuff

Miller has excellent pass-rushing moves to go along with his speed and hit power. Miller is the best because he can drop into coverage or rush the passer and the offense can't key on him! Miller is so excellent that either a 3-4 or 4-3 defense will work for him.

TIP

Miller is an excellent pass rusher, but he can also cover most TEs pretty consistently.

Madden Ultimate Team

Top 5 Cornerback Items in MUT

Cornerbacks have an all-new value in Madden NFL 16 because now they can become playmakers and knock the ball away from receivers. An elite CB who can take away a number one WR on his own will make your entire defense better. Look for players who have a high Man Coverage or Zone Coverage rating depending on what style you want to play. Interceptions should be on the rise this season, and finding a CB who can get into position will be a big bonus.

5 PATRICK PETERSON

Style: Man Defense

Patrick Peterson is one of the most athletic CBs in the game, and he has the size to match up with nearly any receiver. Players who like to play man defense can look for him to be a lockdown player. If you like to mix it up a bit more, go with the more balanced but smaller Joe Haden.

TIP

In addition to being an excellent defender, Patrick Peterson is dynamic on special teams as a returner.

4 CHRIS HARRIS

Style: Pass Rush

Harris is the perfect option to match up against smaller receivers who try to use great route running to get open. If you place Harris in the slot on man coverage, he will completely lock down any quick passes over the middle and frustrate your opponent.

TIP

Harris is a lock-down man defender who won't give much separation to receivers on their cuts.

3 VONTAE DAVIS

Style: Run Stuff

Davis is one of the most physical secondary players in Ultimate Team. While he isn't enormous, his ability to press receivers at the line lets him match up with bigger players. His Man Coverage rating will have him knocking passes out of receivers' hands all game.

TIP

Take advantage of Davis's ability to jam receivers at the line of scrimmage.

2 RICHARD SHERMAN

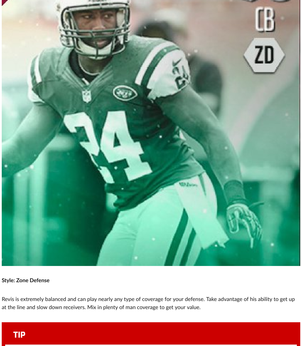

Style: Man Defense

Sherman is always one of the most popular players in MUT because of his ability to stop bigger WRs from catching balls downfield. He often turns into a playmaker of his own and can even turn defense into offense with interceptions.

TIP

Sherman is the CB you need to shut down big WRs who want to go for aggressive catches.

1 DARRELLE REVIS

Style: Zone Defense

Revis is extremely balanced and can play nearly any type of coverage for your defense. Take advantage of his ability to get up at the line and slow down receivers. Mix in plenty of man coverage to get your value.

TIP

Revis can stick with nearly any WR on his own all game long!

Madden Ultimate Team

Top 5 Safety Items in MUT

Knowing what to look for in a safety can completely change the way you play defense in Madden NFL 16. A great coverage safety can quickly cover ground and make plays that will frustrate the offense. A hard-hitting safety can drop down into the box and make the offense think twice about running the ball. Use these players to disguise your defense and force turnovers, which will have you winning more games.

5 RESHAD JONES (SS)

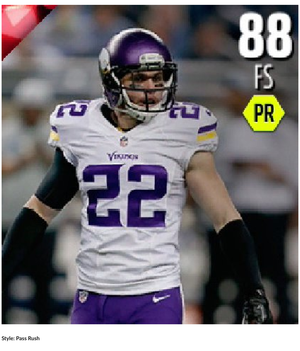

Style: Pass Rush

Jones's stock has been climbing consistently in Ultimate Team, and now he has cracked the top 5 with a great ability to be a stout defender in the run game. Jones has a good combination of pursuit and hit power that leads to him being a sure tackler.

TIP

Jones is a solid all-around talent who can be moved around before the snap to take advantage of his abilities.

4 HARRISON SMITH (FS)

Style: Pass Rush

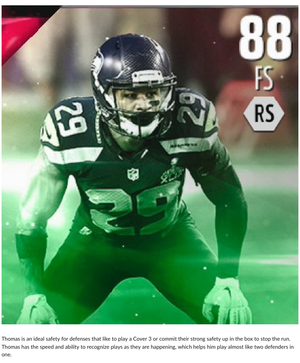

Smith is a very young talent who is quickly getting lots of attention. Smith is the perfect safety for Cover 2 man defenses because he has great zone coverage and the size to get over and help his corners.

TIP

Smith has premiere size, which is crucial to building a great MUT secondary.

3 EARL THOMAS III (FS)

Style: Run Stuff

Thomas is an ideal safety for defenses that like to play a Cover 3 or commit their strong safety up in the box to stop the run. Thomas has the speed and ability to recognize plays as they are happening, which helps him play almost like two defenders in one.

TIP

Thomas is one of the quickest defenders in MUT, and his ability to break up and intercept passes is legendary!

2 ERIC WEDDLE (FS)

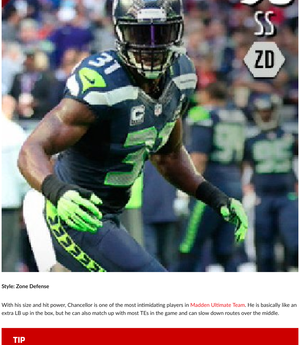

Style: Man Defense

Weddle doesn't have the best size, but he always seems to be around the ball making plays. You can rely on Weddle no matter what type of defense you want to play, and he will show up game in and game out. He may not have the hit power, but he is a sure tackler at the free safety spot, which can be rare.

TIP

Weddle is another player who has the play recognition to be in the correct spot at nearly all times.

1 KAM CHANCELLOR (SS)

Style: Zone Defense

With his size and hit power, Chancellor is one of the most intimidating players in Madden Ultimate Team. He is basically like an extra LB up in the box, but he can also match up with most TEs in the game and can slow down routes over the middle.

TIP

Chancellor is the perfect player to run Cover 1 Robber coverage with.

MUT Offensive Style Builds: Ground and Pound

GENERAL STRATEGY

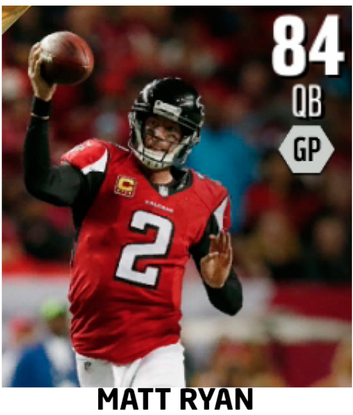

For players who love a power running attack, the ground and pound is a great style. Focus on building a strong offensive line with great run blocking to counter the strength and block shedding of a defensive line. Pick up a halfback whose trucking is better than his elusiveness, and learn to time your ability to break tackles with the right stick. Focus on building more of a between-the-tackles run game as opposed to heading outside. Learn to control the clock and cut down on turnovers to maximize your winning.

Key Ratings

- Trucking and Carry (HB), Run Blocking and Strength (OL/TE), Play Action and Throw Power (QB)

Strengths

- The new play action "shot plays" will work well with this playbook if you get into a second and short situation.
- You'll have a great matchup against teams that haven't built their lineup to stop the run.
- The ability to convert on short yardage downs allows you to keep the chains moving.

Weaknesses

- Fumbles are the enemy. Make sure to cover up the ball to limit the damage a big hit can cause.
- What you save on QB and WR skill positions, you must spend on the defensive side of the ball.
- It can be tough to come back from a big deficit if you can't run the ball early in the game.

MUT Offensive Style Builds: Speed Run

GENERAL STRATEGY

The speed-run style is perfect for a player who prefers to run outside the tackles and can make moves in the open field. While you won't have the consistency of a ground-and-pound attack, you can break off big runs that will frustrate opponents who can't contain you. Consider getting the QB involved in the run game, and look for a halfback who not only has an elusive style but can catch out of the backfield.

Key Ratings

- Speed and Elusiveness (HB), Run Blocking and Impact Blocking (OL/TE), Acceleration and Play Action (QB)

Strengths

- This play style requires an extra TE or WRs with decent run blocking to hold up on the edge.
- Focus on finding faster offensive linemen with great impact blocking to block defenders in motion.
- Running formations extend to shotgun and pistol, allowing you to spread out defenses.

Weaknesses

- Learning to beat a tackler in the open field is important to maximize this offensive style.
- Players must learn to abandon the edge and just pick up a minimal gain rather than losing yards on certain plays.
- Players must commit to running the ball on second and long and can't abandon the run game early.

MUT Offensive Style Builds: Short Pass

GENERAL STRATEGY

Players who want a balanced attack that is slightly in favor of passing the ball should look to build a short-pass style. If you throw quick routes to your backs and slot receiver, you can decrease how much you need to rely on the run game. Be sure to take the open read when it comes available, rather than waiting to go downfield. By making the smart consistent throw, you can limit your turnovers and keep the chains moving.

Strengths

- By getting the ball out quickly on offense, you don't have to invest as much into an offensive line.
- Learning how to free up receivers from press coverage can improve your timing between the QB and WR.
- The QB's short accuracy and medium accuracy are more important than ever before, so set your feet before throwing.

Weaknesses

- Don't throw high-point passes with your QB into traffic over the middle.
- Learn how to use the new conservative catch when in traffic to protect the ball on third and short.
- Look out for defensive linemen dropping into coverage on zone blitzes, which can take your quick read over the middle away.

Madden Ultimate Team

MUT Offensive Style Builds: Long Pass

GENERAL STRATEGY

Teams that can throw the ball downfield can light up the scoreboard and quickly dominate opponents. While it can be a riskier way to play due to turnovers, this is often how the best offenses play. By getting big targets on the outside and a strong-armed QB, you will have everything you need to pass up and down the field.

Key Ratings

- Throw Power and Deep Accuracy (QB), Spectacular Catch and Catch in Traffic (WR/TE), Pass Blocking and Strength (OL/HB)

Strengths

- With the ability to go up for an aggressive catch in Madden NFL 16, this is a great offensive style to choose!
- If a defense doesn't have a true lockdown defender, they will be forced to double-cover your number one wideout.
- Players can find excellent value in pocket passers with big arms who can make all the throws downfield.

Weaknesses

- Receivers must be able to get off the press so the QB won't have to hold the ball too long in the pocket.
- The offensive line must be able to block the defense one-on-one, and players must learn to look for heavy blitzes.
- This offense can stall inside the red zone once the field dimensions get tighter.

MUT Defensive Style Builds: Run Stuff

GENERAL STRATEGY

Stopping the run is one of the most crucial elements to consistently winning games in MUT. Picking the run-stuff style allows you to slow your opponents without committing extra resources into the box to stop the run. Once you get your opponent into certain passing situations, you can then ramp up the blitzing pressure. Consider the responsibilities of a 3-4 DE vs a 4-3 DE to determine what defense you want to build for the playbook you select.

Key Ratings

- Block Shed and Strength (DT), Pursuit and Tackle (MLB), Play Recognition and Hit Power (SS)

Strengths

- Early in the season, most players like to run the ball until they get comfortable passing, so this is a great style.
- Finding big, strong defensive linemen isn't too difficult, but keep an eye on their Block Shed rating, which is crucial.
- If you don't get a strong safety with a solid Play Recognition rating (85+), consider user-controlling him on a hook zone in the middle.

Weaknesses

- Picking up a player who can stop the run and rush the passer will cost you a solid amount of coins, so look for two players instead.
- If your opponent tries to spread out your defense, you may not need all the strength you picked up in the middle.
- Make sure to pick a second DT (4-3) or a second MLB (3-4) to maximize your base defense and match your team playbook.

MUT Defensive Style Builds: Pass Rush

GENERAL STRATEGY

A QB without time to throw the ball becomes just an average player to an offense. This is the power of a great pass-rushing defense that doesn't give the offense any time to let their routes develop. If you can simply get pressure from your front four linemen without sending blitzes too often, you will force your opponents to change their entire game plan. Pass-rushing players are extremely versatile in Madden Ultimate Team and one of the best ways to get the most value for your coins.

Key Ratings

- Power Moves and Finesse Moves (DE/OLB), Acceleration and Speed (OLB)

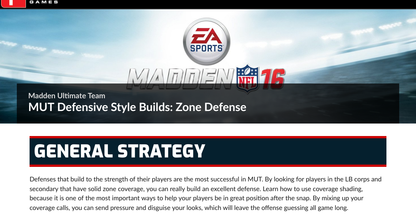

Strengths

- It will take a great offensive line (which is rare early in the season) to stop a great pass rush.
- If the offense has to keep an extra HB or TE in to block, you have won the battle.
- In Madden NFL 16, the QB's accuracy will suffer when under pressure, and that can lead to turnovers for the defense.

Weaknesses

- A run-heavy offense may be tough in the first half of a game, but most players will abandon it if you commit to stopping it early.
- Switch to man coverage if the offense is targeting HBs out of the backfield and you can't slow them down.
- Consider calling press coverage to slow down WRs at the line if the offense is passing the ball too quickly.

MUT Defensive Style Builds: Zone Defense

GENERAL STRATEGY

Defenses that build to the strength of their players are the most successful in MUT. By looking for players in the LB corps and secondary that have solid zone coverage, you can really build an excellent defense. Learn how to use coverage shading, because it is one of the most important ways to help your players be in great position after the snap. By mixing up your coverage calls, you can send pressure and disguise your looks, which will leave the offense guessing all game long.

Key Ratings

- Zone Coverage (CB/LB), Hit Power and Play Recognition (LB/S), Pursuit and Tackle (OLB)

Strengths

- Cover 4 is a great coverage that forces offenses to connect underneath, and it can frustrate even the best teams, especially those with a long-pass style.
- Height is a crucial factor for zone defenders; don't let an opponent target your smaller players one-on-one downfield.
- Consider calling "show blitz" before the snap to slow down the run game up the middle.

Weaknesses

- Every zone coverage has a weakness, so make sure to switch up your play calls and to find a rangy free safety to help with Cover 3 calls.
- In short-yardage situations, your zones can drift away from the line and allow quick passes, so try man coverage.
- Certain formations can cause tough alignments for zone coverages. Try using base align to balance it out.

MUT Defensive Style Builds: Man Defense

GENERAL STRATEGY

Man coverage is extremely improved in Madden NFL 16 with all of the new interaction that takes place in the secondary. With many players learning how to attack zone coverage, this can be an excellent style to really cause frustration for your opponent. Stick with this style early and often and your opponents will have to work to beat it all game long and prove to you they can do it consistently. It also allows you to make adjustments to slow down their favorite targets, such as corner routes. By mixing in press and some zone from time to time, man defense can be a great way to rack up wins this season.

Key Ratings

- Man Coverage, Speed and Agility (CB), Pursuit and Play Recognition (LB)

Strengths

- Start with Cover 2 Man and test your opponent's ability to beat it. Keep an eye on the TE position especially.
- Cover 1 allows a safety to get up in the box if your CB proves he can hold his own on the outside.
- If his coverage assignment stays in to block, a great MLB can drop into coverage and clog up passing lanes.

Weaknesses

- Make sure to add a QB spy or contain your DEs if facing a mobile QB.
- If a WR has excellent route running, he can find a way to get separation on cuts, and you may need to add a zone to help.
- Blitzing without any safety help (Cover 0) can be perfect if timed correctly, but it shouldn't be an every-down play call.

Top 5 Ways to Maximize Your Coins

Earning coins is one of the keys to building your ultimate team. Think about what your goals are when you start saving up your coins. Are you looking to be a head-to-head player or grind out solo challenges vs the CPU? Are you mainly into MUT for the collecting aspect and want to complete sets? Your focus will change your path slightly, but it doesn't change the fact that having more coins is always better than having fewer coins. By keeping a solid reserve of coins available, you will always be ready to pounce on deals and keep building your stack.

5 GRIND OUT SOLO CHALLENGES

New players are always looking for the quickest ways to earn coins, and solo challenges are a great place to start. There are plenty of great challenges that match your skill level early in the game and allow you to start building up to bigger rewards. Take a day or two and work on completing as many as you can; the sooner you get them done the more valuable the rewards will be. You should be able to get your time for each game down to a science and really maximize your coins.

TIP

Playing head-to-head seasons is a great way to earn coins, too. The rewards get bigger the higher you climb.

4 PLAY THE PROMOS

There are always great opportunities to build up your coins during promo events when new items come onto the market. Often you get rewards that go into sets, but instead you could flip yours for coins, especially if the reward doesn't interest you. Consider what the best path to making coins is and try to capitalize.

TIP

If a reward is a player who doesn't fit your team, you can always auction him on the market!

3 PULL PACKS

Opening packs is one of the best parts of building your ultimate team. The more packs you open, the more chances you have to get back valuable items that you can either use in your lineup or sell to the highest bidder at the Auction House. Manage your binder and try to get your value back from nearly all the items you pull (not just players). By spending some time checking the market, you can find some players who return more than you expect! Use all the filters available when searching to find the best deals, and then consider flipping your purchase for coins if you find a great deal.

TIP

Check the bundle topper to see if it is something you can use for your team or on the market.

2 PLAY THE WAITING GAME

For most player items in MUT, the longer you wait to pick them up on the market, the less they will cost. Over the course of a season, new content comes out each day that can lower the price of older items. Be patient and figure out the true positions, ratings, and players that are worth spending on for your scheme. If you really value QB items, consider getting the latest and greatest item, but know that you will likely spend some extra coins to get it on day 1. This also goes for players you test out and don't want to keep, so make sure to post them back as soon you know they aren't a fit for your lineup to get as much value back as possible.

TIP

It can be tough to keep up with the newest cards for a whole season, but you can look for similar items that may be a week or two older to save coins.

1 BE READY FOR SETS

The wealthiest players in MUT are the best at managing their binder and being ready for new sets to drop. They keep track of all the content in a notebook or online and are ready to strike while the values are at their peak. Consider holding onto and waiting to sell certain items in your binder when they are at their peak value, like in a set. By keeping an eye on the market each day, you will start to learn how things fluctuate each week, and you can quickly get well onto your way to becoming a MUT millionaire.

TIP

Keeping an eye on social media can be a great way to hear about the newest sets and items in MUT!

Top 5 Solo Challenge Tips on Offense

Often, the team with possession last is the one that wins the game. This can be a stressful way to take on solo challenges, but it can make them go by quickly. Smart players learn to maximize their possessions: They like to kick off and score before the half, and they are always looking to win on a field goal. Here are the best ways to increase your win percentage in solo challenges, to beat them faster, and to make more coins.

5 FIND A PLAYBOOK

Madden NFL 16 has no shortage of great playbooks, so finding one to fit your style should be easy. Most playbooks cover all the basic concepts, so it really comes down to what players you have and what formations you are comfortable using. Head into practice mode with a new book just to check out all your options before starting. Find plays for each situation and develop some formations you are comfortable running and passing from. Against the CPU, quick audibles and hot routes are very valuable, so learn to use them.

TIP

You shouldn't be changing your playbooks more than once per week. When you find a good one, dig deep and stick with it.

4 GO MOBILE

One of the toughest things for the CPU to defend is a dual-threat QB who can beat the defense with both his arm and his legs. If you have a chance, get a mobile QB even just as a backup and put him in him to fool the defense. Poor decisions can lead to turnovers with a mobile QB, so be smart. Turnovers are one of the quickest ways to lose challenges, but with a smart game plan, you can eliminate opportunities to lose possession!

TIP

Using your QB's legs in the red zone can be a great way to surprise a defense!

3 TAKE THE POINTS

If your drive doesn't end with a TD, taking the points is the smart option on anything over fourth and inches. While it can feel frustrating to get stopped or to not score a TD, taking the points is consistently the smartest move when taking on the CPU. The earlier in the game you get on the scoreboard, the better the position you will be in. If you are consistently stalling in the red zone, work on some new plays in practice mode for those specific situations.

TIP

Learn whether you can rely on your defense or if you need to go for it on 4th and short to win.

2 FIND A MISMATCH

Depending on your opponent in the challenge, their lineup will have certain strengths and weaknesses. Find any advantage that you have and look to exploit it. If you have a dominant offensive line or a big tall WR, look to get them in good situations to make plays. Every team is different, so taking a second to look for your opponent's best players with the matchup stick before the snap can be a very wise move.

TIP

Take a look before the snap to see if you have an advantage at the WR position.

1 CHEW THE CLOCK

Pounding the rock is an excellent way to defeat the computer in solo challenges. Not only does it cut down on the risk of turnovers, but it keeps the clock moving and limits possessions. Use the Cover Up button to help prevent your HB from fumbling, especially at the end of games or when running up the middle. Consider keeping a good trucking HB with high carry skills on the bench to ice the game. Using the Chew Clock option at the play-calling screen can make those seconds tick off and help the coins rack up.

TIP

Winning is the only thing that matters; win quickly rather than by 100 points!

Madden Ultimate Team

Top 5 Solo Challenge Tips on Defense

Defense not only wins championships in Madden NFL 16, it also can help you win solo challenges with ease. Having a stout defense that can get a well-timed sack and stop the run is the key to completing solo challenges quickly. Here are our favorite ways to lock up on defense and earn more coins to build our ultimate team.

5 USE FORMATION SUBS

It will cost you coins in the long run to keep additional players on your roster, even on the bench. A big key to fielding a great team is to get value from every position. Aim to build your lineup to fit your most important defensive set and then use formation subs at the play-calling screen to fit players in. For most solo challenges, you shouldn't need to have a full roster of backups to defeat the computer consistently. You can pay up front for a highly rated player who can do it all or pick up two lower-rated players who can each do one thing well and then sub them in to maximize their ratings.

TIP

Build your defense around your favorite formation and use it on over half your play calls.

4 FIND A USER DEFENDER

Look for a big, fast defender with poor play recognition to user-control on your defense. By taking control of him, you can react to plays quickly once you read what the opponent is doing. This is a great way to take a lower-rated player and increase his level of play. This should help you save coins in one area so that you can spend them on a position like CB to match up with an opponent's number one wideout.

TIP

You always want to user-control the most vulnerable area of your defensive play call!

3 STUFF THE RUN

Stopping the run on early downs is crucial to getting the offense in a bad situation on third and long. If you don't have a solid run-defense formation that you are comfortable with, you will be vulnerable to play-action passes. Make the computer run everything inside by spreading your defensive line in early downs. Their best runs will come if you lose containment to the outside, so protect there early. If you get them to a short-yardage situation, then look for the up-the-middle run. Keeping the ball in your possession during solo challenges really speeds them up, and stopping the run is important.

TIP

Run-committing is rarely needed, but it can be a big win on third and short if it forces a punt.

2 LEARN CONCEPTS

Keep an eye on the game situation and formation that the computer is calling to give you some potential information about what play they are looking to call. On third and short, they are more likely to call a concept like stick, where you will want to be ready to jump underneath and shade your coverage down. On third and long, they are more likely to use a verticals concept, so you want to protect the deep middle, especially to the TE. You will start to recognize patterns after seeing just one route on a play, and that will let your user get into a good position. Every playbook shares similar concepts — the difference is the formation!

TIP

Using coverage shading before the snap is extremely important when playing the CPU and using zone coverage.

1 GET A BLITZ

Getting the opponent to third and long is the key to winning solo challenges. It will make them one-dimensional and force them to pass the ball, which allows you to blitz. Learn how to sneak a slot CB in on a blitz off the edge, and the QB can either dump it off for a short gain or hold the ball and take a sack. This can also lead to turnovers, which is the quickest way to get a victory.

TIP

Make sure to have a secondary blitz call that can get in when an opponent blocks the HB!

Top 5 Offensive Playbooks in MUT

Working with a playbook that fits your offensive scheme is one of the biggest ways to improve your game in Madden Ultimate Team. Determine if you are a run-first or pass-first player and how your current team is made up. If you pull a big WR and a strong-armed QB, switch to a book that has some great plays for your playmakers. If you have a specific playbook you like that is run-heavy, consider selling those players and investing in your offensive line and an elite HB.

- Honorable Mention: Saints, Buccaneers, Ravens

- Key Run Set: Singleback Ace
- Key Pass Set: Gun Trio Offset

The Giants' playbook is excellent for players who have three receiving options and love to pass the football. Check out some of the new formations that feature players in the flex. This will make it easier to pass-block and give you the time you need to look downfield. Work screen passes into the mix to maximize your scheme.

TIP

Using formation subs at the play-calling screen is one of the keys to getting your playmakers good matchup advantages.

4 PHILADELPHIA EAGLES

- Styles: Speed Run, Short Pass
- Key Run Set: Gun Ace Twins Offset
- Key Pass Set: Gun Flip Trips Eaglet

Philadelphia is an excellent playbook for gamers who want to pass the ball short to set up the run game inside. Drill the defense with quick throws to the outside to show them the flats must be covered. Once you get them thinking outside, mix in some inside zones to gash them up the middle. As long as you can handle shotgun formations, this playbook has it all.

TIP

The Eagles' 23 shotgun formations are the most of any team; you must be confident from these formations to win!

3 SEATTLE SEAHAWKS

- Styles: Ground and Pound, Short Pass
- Key Run Set: Gun Doubles Wing Offset
- Key Pass Set: Gun Wing Offset Wk

Seattle's playbook has great versatility for running the ball depending on if you prefer to run up the middle or outside. They also can succeed with running the ball from under center, pistol, and shotgun. Work on getting the opposing defense into tough alignments, and then use a mobile QB as a backbreaker to take the ball outside. You also have some good formations to take big shots downfield, but don't risk it more than once or twice per half.

TIP

Seattle can use a power-rushing attack if you are committed to the ground game.

2 MIAMI DOLPHINS

- Styles: Speed Run, Short Pass
- Key Run Set: Singleback Wing Trips Open
- Key Pass Set: Gun Bunch Open Offset

Miami has some excellent spread passing formations for players who love to use unique alignments. Call a diverse game plan to keep your opponent guessing which formation you will use next. You can keep using similar concepts over and over as long as they are coming from new formations. If you like this playbook, check out the Raiders and Vikings, too. You will have the most success with a mobile QB, so look for one in the Auction House.

TIP

The Dolphins' playbook benefits from a great wing style TE/FB who can lead-block and catch passes in traffic.

1 NEW ENGLAND PATRIOTS

- Style(s): Short Pass, Long Pass
- Key Run Set: Singleback Tight Slots
- Key Pass Set: Gun Split Close Pats

The New England Patriots have some excellent formations for players who love to pass the football. If you have a big TE/WR, you will love the options on the outside for iso matchups. This playbook also does a nice job working with a WR using RAC over the middle. Keep your completion percentage high and work on short passes to move the chains.

Madden Ultimate Team

Top 5 Defensive Playbooks in MUT

The key to selecting a winning playbook is to match it to your defensive style. Think about if you would rather have a 3-4 or 4-3 base and go from there. Find a good formation that you feel comfortable using to stop the run. Consider what coverage style you like to play and how you will bring pressure on third down from your nickel and dime sets. Once you have answered these questions, picking the right defensive playbook to win you more games becomes easy! There is no problem with changing between playbooks, as many have similar concepts and can give you the edge you need.

- Honorable Mention: Bengals, Seahawks, Ravens

5 NEW ORLEANS SAINTS

- Base: 3-4
- Styles: Zone Defense, Pass Rush
- Run Defense Set: 3-4 Bear
- Pass Defense Set: Big Dime 1-4-6

The Saints' defense has a multitude of 3-4 formations that can keep opponents guessing where the pressure is going to come from. It also has some of the best passing defenses in the game if you like to have four CBs on the field at once. Keep bringing heavy pressure off the edges to get the most out of it.

TIP

Test out Cover 2 man this season and see if your opponents have what it takes to beat it consistently.

4 DALLAS COWBOYS

- Base: 4-3
- Styles: Pass Rush, Run Stuff
- Run Defense Set: 46 Bear
- Pass Defense Set: Big Dime 4-1-6

The Cowboys' playbook requires an excellent strong safety to maximize its effectiveness. If you land a great one and prefer an aggressive 4-3 style, this is the playbook to try out. Take advantage of all the unique ways to get your secondary defenders up in the box and force opponents to try to spread you out.

TIP

The 46 Bear is one of the best formations in the game for aggressive players!

3 GREEN BAY PACKERS

- Base: 3-4
- Styles: Pass Rush, Man Defense
- Run Defense Set: 3-4 Solid
- Pass Defense Set: Big Dime 2-3-6 Will

For a 3-4 player, the Packers' defense has a great mix of formations that should have them feeling comfortable. There are plenty of great nickel formations, which will get an extra CB on the field to help slow down all the new passing features. The only thing missing is the 3-4 Bear, which can be a solid formation in the red zone and on third and short.

TIP

Green Bay has the Nickel Psycho formation, which can bring heavy pressure if you have lots of LBs!

2 MINNESOTA VIKINGS

- Base: 4-3
- Styles: Run Stuff, Zone Defense
- Run Defense Set: 46 Normal
- Pass Defense Set: Nickel 2-4-5 Prowl

The Vikings' playbook is perfect for players who prefer to play heavy zone coverage from the 4-3. The 46 Normal should figure heavily in your game plan, as early offenses may struggle to spread it out. Keep switching between the Cover 2 and Cover 4 Show 2 looks to really maximize your game plan.

TIP

The Vikings have the 46 Normal formation, which can frustrate opponents.

1 PATRIOTS DEFENSE

- Base: Hybrid 3-4/4-3
- Style: Zone Defense, Run Stuff
- Run Defense Set: Nickel 2-4-5 Dbl A Gap
- Pass Defense Set: Nickel 3-3-5 Odd

The Patriots' defensive playbook is the only team playbook that has both 3-4 and 4-3 fronts. This allows you to mix up your looks and experiment with different lineups. Make sure to learn all of the nickel formations to really maximize the blitzes you can bring on third down.

TIP

If you have extra defenders at DE and LB, consider using the Patriots' playbook.

OFFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

- Sean McVay's offense is a multiple system that will use a lot of 11 personnel (3 WR) and 12 personnel (2 TE) to spread the defense out and create space for the run game.
- Jared Goff is a quick decision maker who will get the ball out of his hands quickly. He has a strong arm and can throw the ball deep down the field.
- Todd Gurley is the focal point of the offense. He is a powerful runner who can also catch the ball out of the backfield.

DEFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

- Wade Phillips' defense is a multiple system that will use a lot of 4-3 personnel (4 DL, 3 LB, 4 DB) to stop the run and create pressure on the quarterback.
- Aaron Donald is the best player on the defense. He has 10 sacks and 14 tackles for loss and will be a handful for the offensive line to block.
- Trumaine Johnson and Lamarcus Joyner are the starting cornerbacks and they will be tough matchups for the receivers.

OFFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

Cleveland's offense is built around a physical ground game and a quarterback who can extend plays with his legs. The Browns run the ball on early downs to set up play-action passes, and they have the personnel to stay committed to the run even when defenses load the box.

The offensive line is the strength of the unit. Joe Thomas and Joe Haden are both elite at their positions, and the interior group has the size to move defenders in short yardage. Center Joe Tippmann is a smart, reliable anchor who makes the right calls before the snap.

The passing game leans on Deshaun Watson's ability to create when the pocket breaks down. Wide receiver Amari Cooper is the go-to target on third down, and tight end David Njoku is a matchup problem in the middle of the field. The offense struggles when Watson is forced to throw from a clean pocket for extended drives.

DEFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

The Browns run a multiple defense that can line up in a base 4-3 front or spread out with five defensive backs, depending on the down and distance. They like to disguise their coverages before the snap and rotate safeties to confuse quarterbacks.

Myles Garrett is the centerpiece of the defense. He can beat offensive tackles with speed or power, and he draws double teams on most snaps. When he is on the field, the rest of the front seven has more room to work.

The secondary is deep at cornerback with Denzel Ward and Greg Newsome II. Both can play man coverage on the outside and are willing to support the run. Safety Grant Delpit is a physical player who fits well in the box.

OFFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

- Tampa Bay's offense is a run-first offense that will look to establish the run game early and often to set up the passing game.
- Tom Brady has a strong arm and is a veteran quarterback who can make all the throws and is adept at reading defenses.
- The Buccaneers have a deep group of receiving weapons, including Mike Evans, Chris Godwin, and Antonio Brown, who can stretch the field vertically.

DEFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

- Tampa Bay's defense is led by linebacker Lavonte David, who is a tackling machine and a playmaker in coverage.
- The Bucs rely on a variety of zone blitz looks and fronts — designed to confuse and disrupt young quarterbacks. They will also mix in man coverage and bring pressure from the edge.
- Defensive tackle Vita Vea is a dominant run stopper who can also collapse the pocket as a pass rusher.

OFFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

The Chargers have the potential to be a dangerous offense this year. They have a lot of weapons at the receiver position and a solid offensive line. The biggest question mark is at the quarterback position. Philip Rivers is still a solid quarterback but he is getting older and his arm strength is not what it used to be.

DEFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

The Chargers have an extremely talented defense. They have a lot of weapons on the defensive line and a good linebacking corps. The secondary is also very talented. They have the potential to be a top defense in the league.

Hot Tip:
Use the Chargers best receiver in the slot to create mismatches. Throw him quick passes to create YAC opportunities.

The Chargers can create the Y-Shallow/Stretch by either motion to the left or right. Both of these plays are designed to get the ball to the Y-Shallow receiver.

Pre-Snap Read: Look for the Y-Shallow receiver. If he goes, then it's the Stretch. Don't forget about the RB in the flat.

OFFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

- The Cowboys' offense has the ability to score points in bunches. Dez Bryant and Jason Witten are two of the best players at their positions in the league. Darren McFadden is a big-play threat at running back.
- The Cowboys have the personnel to run the ball effectively. Their offensive line is one of the best in the league. Their tight ends are also very good blocking the run.
- While they have the personnel to run the ball effectively, they rarely do. Instead, they rely on Tony Romo to throw the ball. Romo is a good quarterback, but he's not good enough to overcome the lack of balance in this offense.

DEFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

- The Cowboys' defense has the ability to be very good. They have a lot of talent on the defensive line and in the secondary. Their linebackers are also very good in coverage.

RED ZONE

Tua is not the most RZ efficient QB but he does have the mobility. This will open up the run game in the RZ.

Use Kenny Stills & Jakeem Grant in the RZ to spread out defenses. Tua is their best high risk/high reward player.

Don't forget about Mike Gesicki in the RZ. He's a matchup nightmare for linebackers and safeties.

Read Run Gun Twin TE Pro Win — Lead Read Opt

Pros

- Main route plays are the slant/flat combo. Tua likes this due to accessibility.
- Wide TE plays are also their bread and butter. Mike Gesicki will be a problem all day for the TE.

Concerns

- Tua has only 1 yr of starting experience.

OFFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

Key Takeaways

- Detroit's offense has been very balanced this season, with a slight lean towards the run game. They have a strong offensive line that has been able to create holes for their running backs. Their quarterback is also a threat to run the ball, so we need to be aware of that.
- Detroit has been very effective in the passing game this season. They have a good mix of short and long passes, and their receivers are all capable of making big plays. We need to be careful not to give up too much yardage through the air.
- Detroit has been inconsistent in the red zone this season. They have had some success, but they have also had some drives stall out. We need to be aggressive in the red zone and force them to kick field goals.

DEFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

Key Takeaways

- Detroit's defense has been very inconsistent this season. They have had some good games, but they have also had some bad ones. They have been particularly vulnerable to the run, so we need to be aggressive in the running game.
- The front seven has been decent, but not great. They have been able to get some pressure on the quarterback, but they have also been susceptible to giving up big plays in the passing game.
- The secondary has been the weakest part of Detroit's defense. They have been burned by both the run and the pass, and they have given up a lot of big plays. We need to be aggressive in the passing game and look to exploit their weaknesses.

BEST OFFENSIVE PLAYS

RED ZONE

Red zone offense is the most important part of the game. You need to be able to score points in the red zone in order to win games. The best way to score points in the red zone is to run the ball. The defense is usually packed in tight, so it is difficult to throw the ball. However, if you can run the ball effectively, you will be able to score touchdowns.

The Big Blocks is a run play that is designed to create big holes for the running back. The offensive line will block down on the defensive line, and the running back will follow the fullback through the hole. This play is effective because it forces the defense to commit to stopping the run, which opens up the passing game.

OFFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

- Mike McCarthy's offense has been thought of as a system that is heavy on timing routes and rhythm passing. Although this is true, the Packers have also been very successful in the run game over the last few years.
- Aaron Rodgers is the best quarterback in football. He is the most accurate passer in the league and has the ability to make any throw on the field.
- The Packers have a very talented group of receivers. Jordy Nelson, Randall Cobb, and James Jones are all capable of making big plays.

DEFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

- The Packers' defense has been one of the worst in football over the last two years. They rank in the bottom of the league in most defensive categories.
- The Packers' defense has been one of the worst in football over the last two years. They rank in the bottom of the league in most defensive categories.
- After the Packers' defense finished dead last in football in 2013, they made a number of changes to their defensive coaching staff. Dom Capers is the defensive coordinator, and Kevin Greene is the defensive line coach.

OFFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

- Overall the offense is very well rounded and has the ability to run the ball and throw the ball down the field. Their offensive line is very good in pass protection and run blocking.
- The Patriots' running back duo of Stevan Ridley and Shane Vereen are both very good. Ridley is a bruiser and Vereen is a speedy receiver out of the backfield.
- Tight end Rob Gronkowski is a matchup nightmare for defenses. He's a big target who can run after the catch. Gronkowski is a threat to score every time he touches the ball.

DEFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

- The Patriots' secondary is the main defensive key. Can they defend pass rushes, or will they succumb to the offensive onslaught?
- Defensive end Chandler Jones is a force to be reckoned with. He's a dominant pass rusher who can get to the quarterback.
- Linebacker Jerod Mayo is a tackling machine. He's a solid player who can defend the run and the pass.

OFFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

- Washington's offense is a run-first offense that will look to establish the run early and often to open up the passing game. Washington will run the ball on first down and will look to run the ball on second down if they are in a manageable situation.
- Washington will be throwing the ball on second down if they have gained a first down on first down or if they are in a long yardage situation.
- The Redskins' running backs will be the workhorses of the offense, but they will also look to get the ball in the hands of their receivers.

DEFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

- Washington's defense is a 4-3 defense that will look to stop the run first and force the opposing offense to throw the ball.
- While running a 4-3 defense Washington will blitz. They will blitz from all over the front 7 of the field. Expect your offensive line to be ready for anything.
- Washington's defense will look to force the opposing offense into mistakes and will look to capitalize on those mistakes.

OFFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

Seattle's offense is led by QB Russell Wilson, who is one of the most dangerous quarterbacks in the league. He has a strong arm and is very accurate with his passes. He is also a threat to run the ball, which makes him difficult to defend.

The Seahawks have a talented group of wide receivers, including DK Metcalf, Tyler Lockett, and Gary Jennings. They are all capable of making big plays downfield.

The offensive line is solid, but it has been inconsistent at times. They will need to play well in order to give Wilson time to throw the ball.

DEFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

Seattle's defense is led by linebacker Bobby Wagner, who is one of the most talented players in the league. He is a great tackler and can also cover receivers in the passing game.

The Seahawks have a strong secondary, with safeties Jamal Adams and Quandre Diggs leading the way. They are both physical players who can make big plays.

The defensive line is good, but it has been inconsistent at times. They will need to play well in order to put pressure on the quarterback and stop the run.

BEST OFFENSIVE PLAYS

RUN FIRE

Because the team has an effective passing attack, opponents often load up their defensive boxes to stop the run.

Running backs will have an opportunity to break off big runs if defenders are overcommitted.

The Seahawks' RB Rotation looks to be their strength on the offense. Expect them to run the ball often.

BEST RUN: Pass to Pro — Inside Zone

Inside Zone

- The Seahawks have an excellent offensive line that has consistently created running lanes.
- Wilson is also a threat to run with his legs which makes defenses hesitate. - Sid Hinks

Alternate Play

- The Seahawks have an excellent offensive line that has consistently created running lanes.

RUNNING PLAYS

BEST PASS: Just Tony 2 Pts — 2+ Crossers

Hawks Fade Smash

- Against man coverage, receivers run fade routes and the quarterback throws the ball to the outside receiver before they jump.
- Against zone coverage, the receivers run fade routes and run to the seam.
- Tight ends run to the middle of the field and run to the seam. - Ryan Wilson

Alternate Play

- Run the same fade routes with a crossing route.

OFFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

- Houston's offense is built around the run game, and they will look to establish it early. Arian Foster is a dangerous runner who can also be a threat in the passing game.
- Matt Schaub is a veteran QB who has been in the system for a long time. He's capable of making all the throws, but he's not very mobile.
- Houston's receiving corps is solid, but not spectacular. Andre Johnson is the only receiver who is a threat to make big plays.

DEFENSIVE SCOUTING REPORT

- The Texans have a solid defense that is capable of stopping the run and getting to the QB. They're not very good at defending the pass.
- Houston's defense is built around the front seven. They have a lot of talent at linebacker and defensive line.
- The secondary is the weakest unit on the defense. They don't have any standout players and they struggle in coverage.

Fantasy Football

What Is Fantasy Football?

Do you have what it takes to put together a winning football franchise? NFL.com Fantasy Football gives you the perfect chance to find out. Fantasy football, like other fantasy games, puts you in the front office and on the sidelines as general manager and coach of your team. You select from a list of the best players in the NFL, and they compete on a weekly basis for your team. Their on-field performance drives your fantasy point total and overall success.

Specifically, fantasy football works like this: You decide what type of league you want to participate in, acquire a roster of players (either through a draft or through autopick assignment), then set your lineup each week during the season and watch as touchdowns, field goals, yards gained, sacks, interceptions, and much, much more generate fantasy points for or against your team. Whether you win or lose and climb or fall on the leaderboard all depends on how well you maximize the talent on your roster each week. Will you make a risky move to start that backup running back, or will you play it safe and keep your starting lineup consistent?

From prize-eligible NFL-Managed leagues to fully customizable Custom leagues, NFL.com provides ample options to start your fantasy season. Want to compete to win official NFL prizes, including trips to the Pro Bowl and Super Bowl XLIX? Join an NFL-Managed league, where you will go head-to-head against other NFL fans across the country for the right to be called a league champion. Or are you looking to fully customize your fantasy experience, from the league and scoring settings to the users you will compete with on a weekly basis? Create your Custom league today and invite friends, family, coworkers and anyone else to compete in a season-long fantasy battle on NFL.com. Exclusive NFL.com Fantasy Football features, including instant video highlights and free Fantasy Game Center Live Scoring, await in all NFL.com fantasy leagues.

Will your team earn the title of NFL.com Fantasy Football Champion this season? Find the right settings to suit your interests and start building your winning franchise today!

Scoring Settings (NFL-Managed)

NFL-Managed leagues feature NFL.com default scoring and league settings, including standard roster sizes, starting positions, and head-to-head scoring. All NFL-Managed leagues are free to join, and team owners can opt-in to be eligible to win great prizes based on their season performance. NFL.com will act as league manager for NFL-Managed leagues, ensuring a fair, fun game for fantasy players of all skill levels. Users can join either Live Draft NFL-Managed leagues from the League Directory or create an Autopick team that will be placed in a league and drafted when you are ready.

These are the default scoring settings used in all NFL-Managed Leagues:

Offense

- Passing Yards: 1 point per 25 yards passing

Head-to-Head Scoring Format

All NFL.com Fantasy Football leagues feature head-to-head scoring. As in the games that take place across the NFL each Sunday, your team will be matched up against another team within your league. Similar to an NFL game being decided on the field with the team scoring the most points earning a win, your fantasy matchup behaves accordingly.

Based on your NFL-Managed league scoring settings, your team will earn points based on the actual statistics and results played out in the NFL that week. If your team earns more points than your opponent, you earn a win in the league standings. Fewer points? Take a loss. And if your game ends in a tie (you guessed it) it's a tie in the overall standings.

NFL-Managed Draft Types

Live Online Draft and Autopick Draft are the only draft types used in NFL-Managed Leagues.

Live Draft

The Live Online Draft feature allows you to select a full fantasy team, live, round-by-round in an interactive environment. The draft client features comprehensive stats, analysis, and chat functionality, all packaged in a user-friendly interface. In this draft application you can rank your players in real time, adding them to a queue that will update as players are taken by other teams in the league. You can search for players or filter the available players by position so that you can make fast, easy, and informed decisions to fill out your roster. When you have found the perfect selection, click “Draft Now” and the player you selected will be assigned to your team. You can track all of the action by round and by individual team, all in one place inside the draft application.

Autopick Draft

The Autopick Draft operates based on NFL.com fantasy experts’ default rankings or a team owner’s established pre-rankings. This draft type is an excellent choice for beginners as well as for leagues that can’t agree on a live draft time. In an Autopick Draft, players are assigned to your team automatically. NFL.com helps you fill your roster, either by going strictly off your Pre-Rank Draft list and Excluded Players list or by selecting the best available player at an open position of need on your roster. Select a day and time for your Autopick Draft, and that is all you need to produce a league full of fantasy teams for owners to manage as they see fit.

TOP 5 Must-Have Players

5 DEANDRE HOPKINS (WR), HOUSTON TEXANS

Hopkins is entering the season when he could potentially explode into a superstar and household name. Since veteran WR Andre Johnson left in free agency, Hopkins will have all the opportunities he can handle. All signs, including his 74 catches last season, point to him being able to handle it, and he just needs to increase his TDs to make him a must-have fantasy asset.

4 RUSSELL WILSON (QB), SEATTLE SEAHAWKS

QB Russell Wilson added a new weapon in the off-season in TE Jimmy Graham, who is looking to rebound with a big season. Wilson now has some excellent threats in the red zone and should see his passing totals increase. Wilson has slowly developed from a QB who can manage games to one who can fully take them over. The Seahawks still have all the pieces, and Wilson also racks up yardage with his legs, which is a bonus. If you don't land Luck, Rodgers, or Romo, Wilson is a great option.

3 JULIO JONES (WR), ATLANTA FALCONS

Julio Jones had an excellent rebound season last year and proved he is worth your consideration as a top fantasy wideout. His pairing with QB Matt Ryan makes him a consistent option, and he should get more chances to cash in on TDs this season. When selecting Jones, you should expect over 100 catches once again and hopefully double-digit scores to make it really pay off.

2 BRANDIN COOKS (WR), NEW ORLEANS SAINTS

The New Orleans Saints always put up huge passing numbers, led by QB Drew Brees. This season, they won't have TE Jimmy Graham or WR Kenny Stills to catch passes, so somebody will need to pick up the slack. The main candidate is WR Brandin Cooks, who should be a breakout candidate and not someone you will need to spend too early of a selection on. This is Cooks's big change to capitalize, and you want to buy before he hits it big.

1 DEZ BRYANT (WR), DALLAS COWBOYS

The Cowboys' secret ingredient is their offensive line, as it makes everything so much easier. It creates big holes in the running game and also gives QB Tony Romo time to create in the pocket. While most defenses can't cover Dez Bryant, no defense can cover him when he has time to get free downfield when a play breaks down. He has the full trust of his QB in the red zone, and his ability to consistently haul in touchdowns makes him a must-have player.

Fantasy Football

TOP 5 Sleepers

5 DAVANTE ADAMS (WR), GREEN BAY PACKERS

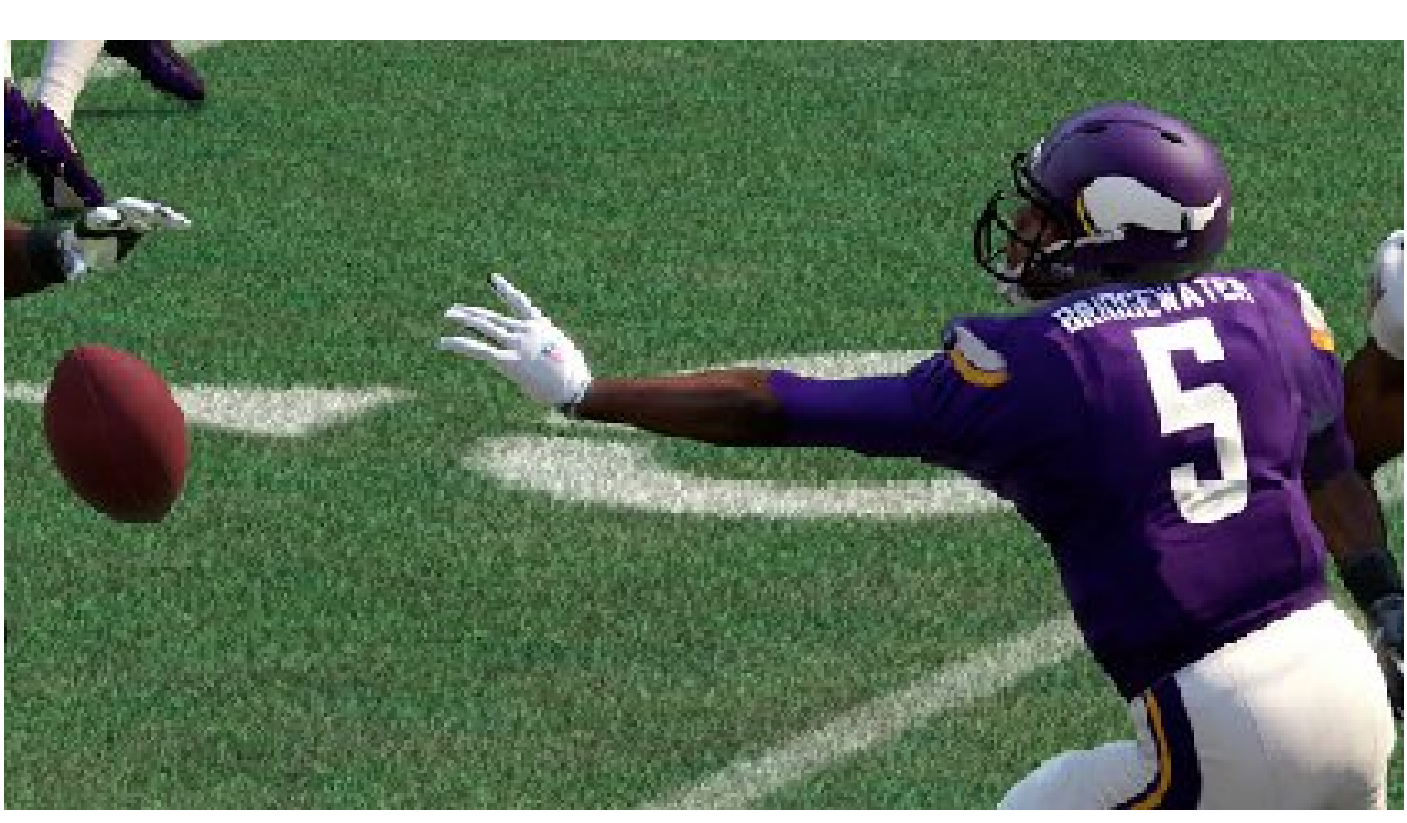

The Green Bay Packers always seem to sneak a sleeper player onto this list, and with good reason. QB Aaron Rodgers can seemingly turn any player into a star. Last season, Jarrett Boykin came up a little short of expectations, but WR Davante Adams showed some flashes. This could be his year to explode and help out this already-loaded WR corps. While Jordy Nelson and Randall Cobb will always be the main targets, Rodgers and the Packers' offense put up plenty of passing stats to go around.

4 BISHOP SANKEY (RB), TENNESSEE TITANS

Sankey was listed on most sleeper and top rookie lists last season but never quite became a top performer. This year, his competition in the backfield is gone and the job will be his to win. With a year under his belt, this could be the season that Sankey lives up to his projections from last year. The best part is that the expectations have calmed, and he should be available for a reasonable value.

3 TEDDY BRIDGEWATER (QB), MINNESOTA VIKINGS

During his rookie season, QB Teddy Bridgewater showed excellent promise even without star HB Adrian Peterson in the lineup. Bridgewater got plenty of experience and proved he could consistently complete passes and keep drives going. With more time to develop this off-season, Bridgewater and the Vikings should continue to improve, and the numbers could be solid with a full season of games. While Bridgewater may not crack the top 5 quite yet, he should be pretty consistent and should be a great player against the right defense.

2 MARTAVIS BRYANT (WR), PITTSBURGH STEELERS

Martavis Bryant is another talent that we projected for a stellar rookie campaign last year. While he got out of the gate slowly, he rewarded owners by proving he could make huge plays and find the end zone. This year, a full season should really amplify those numbers, and while defenses will be more aware of him and his big frame, Pittsburgh has too many weapons to focus only on him. Expect Bryant to be the benefactor of stellar WR Antonio Brown lining up next to him.

1 NELSON AGHOLOR (WR), PHILADELPHIA EAGLES

The Eagles' offense has put up big numbers both running and passing the ball since the debut of coach Chip Kelly. This season, they should continue to have balance and will rely on rookie WR Nelson Agholor to fill in the production of veteran WR Jeremy Maclin, who left in free agency. Kelly has already proven that a rookie WR can post big numbers in his system—WR Jordan Matthews had a great season last year.

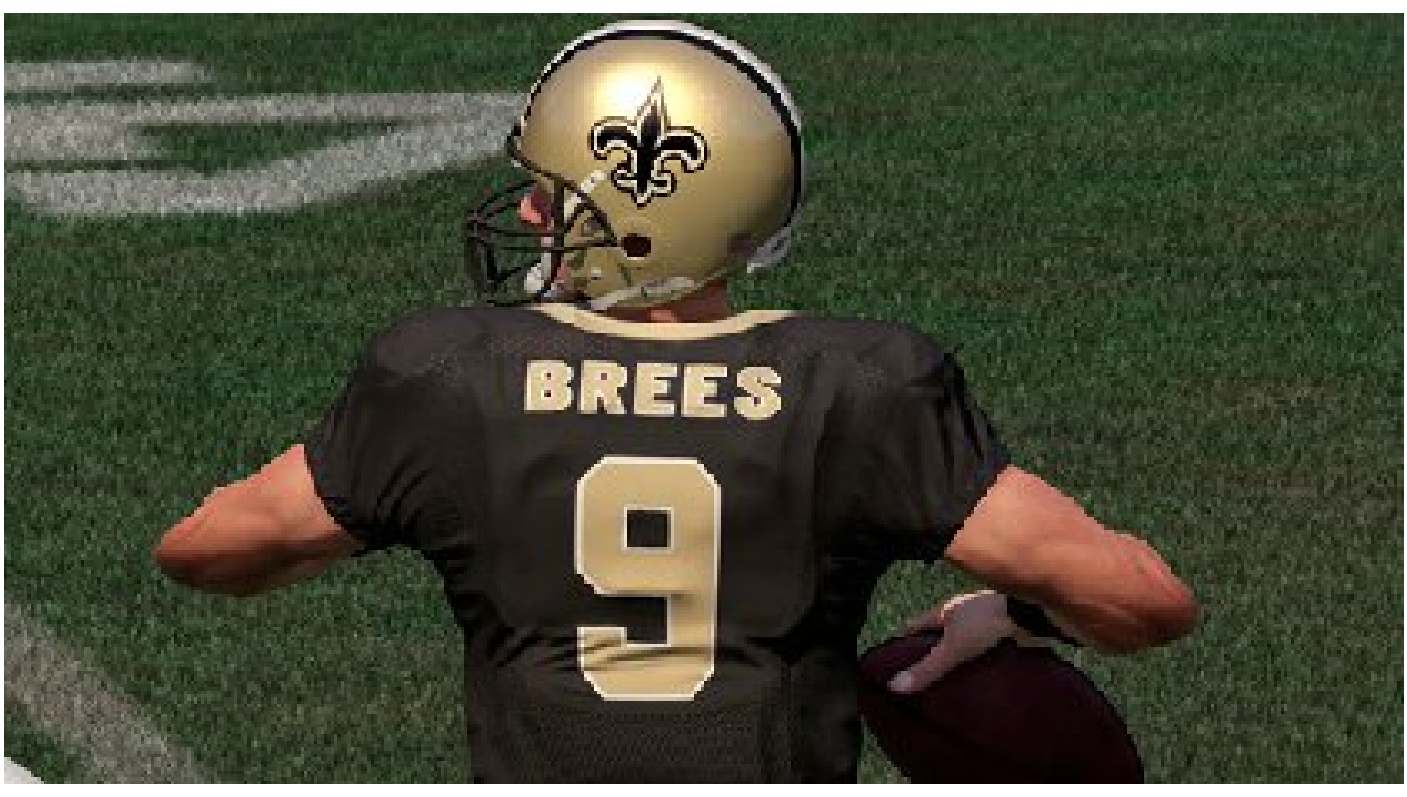

© 2015 Electronic Arts Inc.

Fantasy Football

TOP 5 Overrated Players

5 DREW BREES (QB), NEW ORLEANS SAINTS

Drew Brees has been a top fantasy QB for what feels like the last decade. The Saints' QB has always put up huge numbers in a pass-heavy scheme that can turn seemingly average players into stars. While the yardage and completion percentage was there last season, the TD/INT ratio approached a more mortal 2/1. Brees also lost his main red zone target in TE Jimmy Graham, which could also hurt his numbers. Don't take Brees off your board, but don't select him based on past performance only.

4 LESEAN MCCOY (RB), BUFFALO BILLS

McCoy was good but not great in his first season after winning the rushing title. Now, he will be taking handoffs in Buffalo rather than Philadelphia and must prove he can get back to that level of performance. Buffalo needs to show they have a QB who can take the pressure off the run game; otherwise, yards may be tough for McCoy. Let someone else draft McCoy, and once he gets settled in the scheme, look for a mid-season trade if you think he is going to hit his stride.

3 DEMARCO MURRAY (RB), PHILADELPHIA EAGLES

Murray delivered a monster fantasy season last year and should be high atop most draft boards. The key will be staying healthy and learning to fit in a new scheme, because he left Dallas for Philadelphia. Dallas has an excellent offensive line, so it will be interesting to see if Murray can deliver another huge season. Philly has some great depth in the backfield and a versatile scheme, so don't expect him to carry the full load again this season.

2 OWEN DANIELS (TE), DENVER BRONCOS

Daniels had a good season in Baltimore last year and will now be tasked with filling in for TE Julius Thomas in Denver. Daniels is a legit option but must prove he can be explosive and stay healthy. Most of your league members will be eyeing him, so try to grab his teammate, Virgil Green, who could deliver big value. QB Peyton Manning makes any receiving option a potential fantasy stud, so take the player with the most upside.

1 LEGARRETTE BLOUNT (HB), NEW ENGLAND PATRIOTS

Blount delivered big-time performances for the Patriots last season in some crucial games. Although he should be the option for the Patriots on running downs, nobody can be certain how many attempts that will deliver. New England is known for keeping a good rotation of backs and picked up some good pass catchers to fill in for Shane Vereen, who left during free agency and was a staple on third down. Blount is best when he is under the radar, so only grab him with the right expectations.

Fantasy Football

TOP 5 Rookies

5 KEVIN WHITE (WR), CHICAGO BEARS

Kevin White is in an excellent position from a fantasy football perspective. He is a talented rookie who will get a chance early with the departure of WR Brandon Marshall. However, defenses will mainly be worried about his teammate, WR Alshon Jeffery. This could mean big numbers if QB Jay Cutler, who still has a big arm, can get the offense back on track.

4 T.J. YELDON (RB), JACKSONVILLE JAGUARS

The Jaguars made Yeldon their second-round pick and hope to pair him with QB Blake Bortles to help turn the franchise around. While the Jaguars do have a solid stable of backs, Yeldon has the talent to get the bulk of the carries during his rookie season. In a point-per-reception (PPR) league, Yeldon should be even more valuable, as he should be an every-down back who can catch some passes out of the backfield.

3 JAMEIS WINSTON (QB), TAMPA BAY BUCCANEERS

Winston was the number one overall selection in the draft and is the top QB on our list. His big arm fits perfectly with his big targets on the outside, including WR Mike Evans. During his rookie season, Evans was a TD scoring machine in the red zone and should give Winston a big target that he can trust. The Bucs may not make a playoff run, but they should certainly be more competitive this season, and Winston will be a big part of it.

2 MELVIN GORDON (RB), SAN DIEGO CHARGERS

Gordon was the top back in college football last season and even finished second for the Heisman trophy. The Chargers moved up two spots in the draft to select him, and they will need him to deliver after losing RB Ryan Mathews in free agency. San Diego has an excellent leader at QB in Philip Rivers, who always has the Chargers near the top of the rankings. Look for Gordon to get off to a good start, because he is going to a team that consistently wins more than half its games.

1 AMARI COOPER (WR), OAKLAND RAIDERS

Last season, rookie WR Odell Beckham Jr. exploded on the field and even onto the cover of Madden NFL 16. While it is hard to imagine another rookie WR making those incredible plays, the statistical production is possible. Amari Cooper joins the Raiders, and although they don't have an explosive offense, they do have a young QB who needs to find a go-to option at receiver. Oakland struggled to run the ball last season, so they will need the passing game to help take the pressure off. Keep an eye on this combo early in camp to see if they can develop some chemistry that could lead to numbers like Bills' WR Sammy Watkins posted last season.

Overview

Many players watch football on Sunday and quickly learn the rules and strengths of the players. Madden NFL 16 is the most authentic simulation of football action, and there is plenty to learn even for a veteran player. Start with the basics and quickly add a few new adjustments to your game each week. Keep this page as a reference to make sure you understand the basics of football. The Skills Trainer is your best friend when it comes to learning all the mechanics in Madden NFL 16. There is also a list of full list of controls for each situation in the Game Settings menu.

A Gap — The gaps in the offensive line between the center and the guards are the A gaps. There is one to the right and one to the left. The fastest way to the QB is through the A gap since it's right up the middle.

Aggressive Catch — This catch mechanic allows computer players to go up and attack the ball at its highest point. It can be triggered manually by using Y (Xbox) or △ (PS) when the ball is in the air; you do not need to be clicked on the receiver.

Audible/Audibling — The act of coming to the line and then changing your play. If you call something in the huddle and get to the line of scrimmage and realize the defense is doing something different than you expected, you want to call an audible. This allows you to change your play to something you think will work better. You can set up to five audibles before the game to make sure you are ready for any situation.

B Gap — The gaps in the offensive line between the guards and tackles are the B gaps. There is one on each side of the line, and the B gap is the second quickest way to get pressure (after the A gap).

Blitz — On offense, the defense may look to blitz you by bringing more defenders towards your QB than you can block. On defense, you blitz by rushing more players at the QB than your opponent can block. This leaves your coverage vulnerable, but you may force the offense into a bad decision or get a sack.

Block a Halfback — Blocking a halfback is done by putting a player behind the line into a blocking hot route. This will help if you sense a blitz coming at your offense and want your HB to stay in and block.

Blue Route — This is a "block-and-release" route, which tells your offensive player (whose route is blue) to help block before releasing out on his route for a pass.

The Box — The area on defense before the snap where the defensive line and LBs line up. Looking at "the box" can help you decide if the defense is defending a run and has "eight defenders in the box" or not.

Bunch Set — Three players stacked tightly together on one-half of the field makes a bunch set. A bunch is great for flooding certain areas of the field. An example is Ace Bunch.

C gap — The C gap refers to the offensive line and is just outside of either tackle. It can be thought of as "the edge"; however, if a TE lines up there, it becomes another gap like the A or B gap. This is the slowest way to get pressure on the QB and generally is where offensive lines want to allow rushers.

Check Down — To dump off a short pass to the halfback or last option on a play, especially after seeing that your other options are covered.

Chew Clock — This setting in the play-calling screen allows you to run off additional seconds on the clock in between snaps. This speeds up the end of a game when the score isn't close.

Clicking onto a Player — This is the act of switching your player mid-play to control someone close to the action. "I clicked onto the WR and tried to make the catch."

Concept — A specific set of routes that work together to beat a specific defense. For example, a mesh concept is having two crossing drag routes on a play.

Conservative Catch — A catch mechanic that allows a receiver to focus on catching the ball and securing it rather than picking up more yards after the catch. This is a smart idea on the sideline and near the back of the end zone.

Depth Chart — The area of the game where you set your lineup. Access this by pressing the Pause menu to set which players play where.

Draw — This is a run play that pretends the offense is passing. The QB drops back and the receivers start to run routes. Once the defense is fooled, the QB hands off to the running back, who looks for open running lanes.

Dropping a Lineman — Placing a defender on the line of scrimmage into a zone assignment. This is most common with a zone blitz play.

Empty Set — A common formation with an empty set is Gun Empty. The backfield is "empty" because there are five WRs in on the play.

Flat — The area of the field near the sideline in line with the line of scrimmage. The most common term is a "pass to the flat," which means a short pass to the halfback who is running towards the sideline from out of the backfield.

Flood — When you send more receivers into a certain area of the field than the opponent has coverage. One example is Four Verticals against a Cover 3 defense. You have four receivers downfield and the opponent only has three defenders deep — therefore one must be open.

Formation — The formation is how players line up before the snap of the football. There are offensive formations and defensive formations. Singleback and Gun are offensive formations, for example.

Horizontal Passing Concepts — Attacking the field with a short-to-medium passing game that uses safe throws to keep the chains moving. This offense lacks the big plays of a vertical passing game but should yield a higher percentage of completed throws. The mesh concept is a horizontal passing concept.

Hot Route — Before the snap, you can change any of your players' route assignments to one of eight pre-set routes based on his position. If you read that the defense is weak in a certain area, call a hot route or use multiple hot routes to create a new play on the fly.

Hurry-Up Offense — After a play you can call your players back to the line of scrimmage without going back to the play-calling screen. The last play you called will be selected, and the defense won't be able to substitute. This up-tempo offense can be used to tire out the defense and keep them off balance. It is also known as a no-huddle offense.

Juke — Use the right stick to have your offensive player make a move to fake out the defender.

Line of Scrimmage — A line parallel to the yard lines where the ball is spotted right before it's snapped. The linemen blocking the defense take their places along this line.

Motion a WR — Before the snap, you can highlight an offensive player (WR, TE, or HB) and have him move to a new position. When the blue circle is underneath him, use the D-pad to move him to a new position. This can create new formations and forces the defense to watch where you move your player.

Option Run — A play where the QB can either hand off the ball to his teammate or keep it for himself depending on what he sees with the defense. Also known as Read Option.

Packaging — Using packages at the play-calling screen with the right stick can sub specific players into the game for special situations. For example, the Dual HB package will take out the FB and place another HB into the game at his position.

Pistol — This is a unique formation where the QB takes a shotgun snap but the HB still lines up behind him. You'll find the Pistol in the Redskins' playbook, for example.

Play-Action Pass — Play action involves faking a handoff to the back to try to fool the defense into thinking it's a run. The QB still has the ball and looks to throw.

Play Ball — This defensive mechanic allows the defender to try to play the ball at its highest point. This can force a knockout and is the best way to go for an interception.

Play Man — This defensive mechanic allows the defender to play the receiver as he is catching the ball to improve the chance that he can knock it out or force a drop.

Press Coverage — When press coverage is called, your defensive back will stand close to the WR and play physical at the snap. This forces the receiver to use his hands to get off the jam at the line and can throw off timing with the QB. The danger is that if the WR can get free, he will often get good separation from the defender. This is also known as bump-n-run coverage.

Quick Audible — Before the snap, you can quickly audible to another play if you read that the defense is weak against something. You can call a quick pass, deep pass, play-action pass, or run from any formation by using the right stick in a specific direction.

RAC — The "run after catch" mechanic allows a receiver to turn upfield as he is catching the ball to pick up as many yards as possible. It's controlled by X (Xbox) or □ (PS).

Read Option — An option run in which the QB either hands the ball off to his HB or keeps it. The QB must "read" the defender and make a quick decision!

Screen Pass — Screen passes are most often used when facing an aggressive defense. They look to hit the HB near the flat and try to get the offensive linemen out in front to block.

Set — Once you select a formation, the set is how your players will align within it. For example, 4-3 is a defensive formation, and then Over Plus is the set.

Shot Play — This is a specific play concept that the offense calls when they want to look for a big play downfield in the passing game.

Shotgun Snap — Any formation where the QB lines up 4–5 yards behind the center, who snaps the ball to the QB in the air. This increases chances for bad snaps and most commonly is used with formations that lean heavily towards the pass. The QB catches the snap and doesn't have to backpedal, so he is all set up to throw.

Slide Protection — Before the snap, you can tell your linemen to slide left, right, or pinch into the middle. This will help them pick up blitzers if you sense them coming from a specific area.

Stiff Arm — A stiff arm is a move by the ball carrier where he puts a straight arm out to prevent the tackler from getting in range to make a hit. This is generally a more effective move for power back than for elusive backs. Make sure to check a player's Stiff Arm rating to see how effective he will be at performing the move.

Strafe — On defense, strafing will square your hips to the line of scrimmage and give you better control of your player. You will not be able to move as fast when strafing.

Strip — A tackle who is running for a ball carrier can go for a "strip," where he tries to knock the ball loose, rather than a tackle. This can force a turnover, but it can also result in a broken tackle. It is best to go for a strip only when you have lots of teammates in the area.

Swat — Having your defender try to knock the ball down rather than go for the interception. He looks to knock away the pass, which gives him more range and can be safer than trying for an interception.

Tight Set — Tight sets bring your receivers into the middle of the field rather than out wide as in most formations. This will create a lot of action in the middle of the field and force the defense to bump into each other as they try to cram into a tight area. Shotgun Tight Flex is a tight set.

Trips Set — These formations place three WRs onto one side of the field. This forces your opponents to shift their attention towards that side since there are more players on that side of the field. Trips sets are great for flooding zone coverages. Shotgun Trips is one example.

Truck — A ball carrier who tries to run over a defender when being tackled is a truck. Trucking is most common with power backs, especially near the goal line.

Under Center — Any formation where the QB lines up directly behind the center and takes a handoff directly from him. This is the opposite of a shotgun snap.

Usering/User Control — When you actively control a player during a play. Whatever player you use on defense is who you are "user-controlling." The best players believe they can make more plays than if the computer were controlling the same player.

User Catch — The act of clicking onto a WR and holding the Catch button to go after a pass.

Verticals Passing Concept — This passing concept looks to stretch the field aggressively towards your opponent's end zone. Most often the deep pass audible, by flicking the right stick right, will give you this style of play. The most common way to attack the defense is with Four Verticals, which floods coverage deep by sending all four receivers deep downfield.

YAC — Yards after catch for a receiver or yards after contact for a running back.

Zone Blitz — The art of bringing pressure from one area of the field while dropping defenders into another. This is a tactic used to confuse the offense.

Defensive Pre-Snap Adjustments

Blitz — You can make any selected player blitz by using this hot route command, a.k.a. a blitz straight down since the player's rush angle will appear straight down on the screen.

Bluff Blitz — This hot route makes your defender attack the line of scrimmage before dropping into his zone. You can fake pressure with a linebacker before he drops over the middle.

Curl to Flat — The "buzz zone" zone defender will drop 8–10 yards deep and defend the curl; if there is no route threatening that area, he will move to the flat. A buzz zone is also known as a purple zone because of the zone color.

Deep Zone — This dark blue zone will drop back and play deep assignments.

Flat Zone — This light blue zone will drop down and play the flat. It is great for guarding short-throwing offenses and players who like to dump off passes to the halfback.

Guess Play — Predict a pass or commit to a run to one side or up the middle. Use LT (Xbox) or L2 (PS) and the right stick before the snap.

Hook Zone — This yellow zone will guard a 3- to 5-yard radius around wherever it is assigned. It is great for covering the middle of the field.

Option Adjustment — Contain the QB or RB on option plays depending on your pre-snap command.

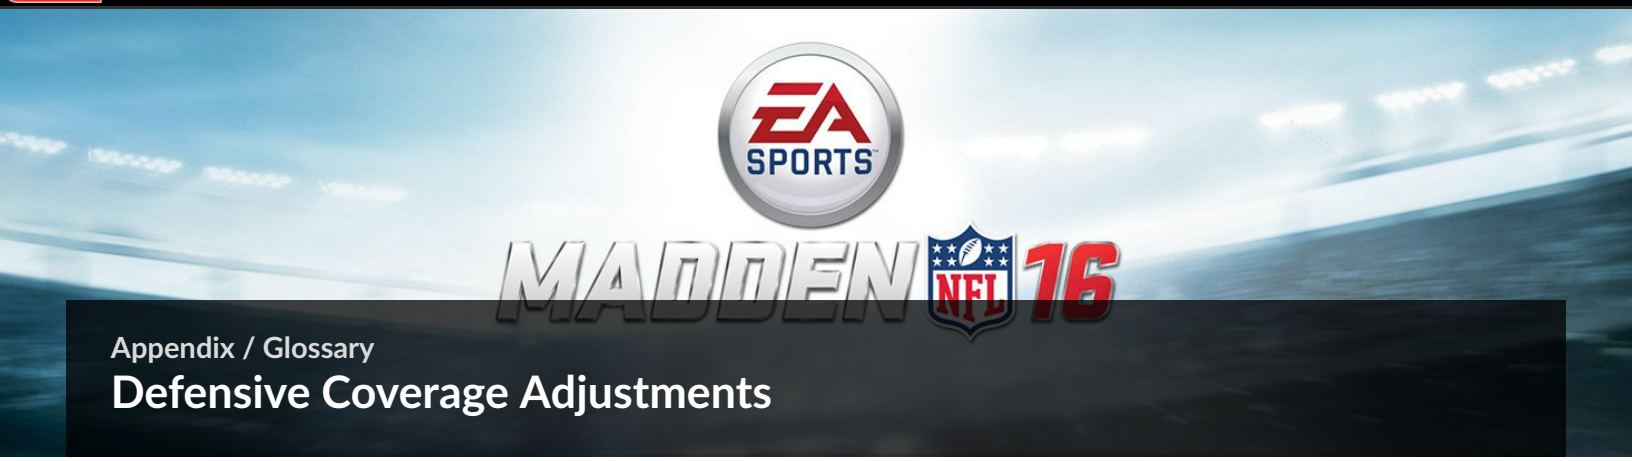

QB Contain — You can place your defensive ends in contains by using LT (Xbox) or L2 (PS) before the snap and pressing RB (Xbox) or R1 (PS).

QB Spy — A QB spy tells your defender to watch the QB and attack him if he runs past the line of scrimmage. This is a great way to stop scrambling QBs. This route also helps stop short throws right over the middle.

Shift Defense — Pinch, spread, or shift your defense in either direction with LT (Xbox) or L2 (PS) and the left stick.

Quick Adjustments — These allow you to control your secondary players without clicking onto them before the snap.

Defensive Coverage Adjustments

Base Align — This allows defenses to align their defenders in the general settings of the formation. As offensive formations change they can alter how a formation looks and plays. To prevent that from happening we use base align.

Give Cushion — If you want to play bend-but-don't-break defense, use "give cushion" coverage. This moves your defenders farther away from the line of scrimmage and puts them in a "prevent" defensive position.

Inside — Your defenders will attempt to get inside position against the receivers and jump routes like ins and slants.

Man Align — Your defenders, especially LBs and safeties, will line up closer to their assignments, which is useful on Cover 0 blitzes.

Outside — Your defenders will play the receiver outside and jump routes like corners and outs.

Over Top — Your defensive zones will stay back against the receivers. They won't get beaten deep by vertical concepts but won't be able to break down on routes as easily.

Press — This will jam receivers at the line of scrimmage. Pressing slows down offenses and allows blitzes more time to get after the quarterback. It can leave your defense vulnerable if the WR beats the press.

Protect the Sticks (Sticks) — Your defenders will keep in mind the down and distance and drop their zones to that depth. This is a great adjustment for third and long.

Quick Adjust — Allows you to make adjustments to defenders before the snap without clicking onto them.

Show Blitz — A great way to load the box up with defenders is to utilize show blitz. Most formations in the game will create a Bear front, which is great for stopping the run and blitzing your opponent.

Underneath — Your defensive zones will play underneath their targets. This is great for clamping down on the horizontal passing game.

Offensive Hot Routes

Remember that you can only make one hot route before getting to the line in Madden NFL 16. For all other offensive hot routes, you must wait until the QB finishes his animation before inputting another.

Check-and-Release — This blue route tells your back to help block before releasing to the flat.

Comeback — A route for outside WRs that runs about 15 yards downfield before turning around.

Curl — The WR starts out on a straight pattern and turns around sharply after 8–10 yards.

Drag — A drag runs straight across the field after a 2-yard move forward.

Fade — This route starts the WR moving a few steps towards the sideline and then runs straight downfield.

Flat — A short route by the HB that runs to the flat and gives the QB a short option near the sideline.

Hitch — Similar to the curl route but runs shorter and is only available on the inside.

In — The receiver runs straight for 8 yards before cutting 90 degrees towards the middle of the field. This is the opposite of an out route.

Option — A route by the HB that gives the player the option to sit underneath zone or continue towards the sideline against man-to-man.

Out — The receiver runs straight for 8 yards before cutting 90 degrees towards the sideline. This is the opposite of an in route.

Slant — This route starts like a streak for a few steps and then breaks sharply at an angle across the field.

Smart Route — By pressing down on the right stick, you can tell your WR to run his route to the first down marker. This is great for third-and-long plays where the standard route won't run far enough downfield.

Smoke Screen — The WR on the outside turns towards the QB to quickly catch the pass and get upfield. This route is best against defenses that are playing far back off the receiver.

Streak — This route runs straight downfield (a.k.a. a "go" or "9" route).

Swing — The back in the backfield will swing out to the left or right.

Wheel — This route starts like a flat route but cuts upfield on a streak once it reaches the sideline.

Zig — A zig appears to start like a slant route, but the receiver pivots and cuts back to the outside towards the sideline.

Positions

Offense

Quarterback (QB) — The player who takes the snap from the lineman and either hands off, passes, or runs the ball.

Halfback (HB) — The player who usually lines up behind the QB and takes handoffs on run plays (a.k.a. RB — running back). On pass plays he can either run a route and become a receiver or stay in to help block.

Fullback (FB) — Lines up in front of the HB and looks to block players trying to tackle the HB. Can also catch and block on pass plays.

Wide Receiver (WR) — Receivers line up outside the linemen and look to get open downfield on pass plays. The QB throws them the ball and they can run after they catch it.

Tight End (TE) — Most commonly lines up outside the linemen and can either block on run plays or go out on pass plays.

Slot Receiver — This receiver lines up outside the tackles and is a receiver but lines up inside the farthest WR. These players most often run routes over the middle of the field or use their speed to get deep.

Offensive Linemen (OL) — These players block for the QB and HB. The center (C) is in the middle and snaps the ball to the QB on every play. There are guards on either side of the center (RG and LG) and two tackles (RT and LT) flanking the guards.

Defense

Defensive End (DE) — The defensive end matches up against the other team's lineman on the outside and is most known for trying to sack the QB on passing plays. You have two DEs on the field in most situations (3-4 and 4-3 defenses).

Defensive Tackle (DT) — The DT plays in the middle of the defensive line, usually closest to the center. He is mostly known for plugging up the middle and is usually one of the biggest players on the team (there's one DT in a 3-4, two in a 4-3 defense).

Outside Linebacker (OLB) — These LBs line up outside and can cover receivers or blitz on pass plays. They must tackle anything that gets past the line on a run play. You have two OLBs on the field in a 3-4 or a 4-3 defense.

Middle Linebacker (MLB) — This player controls the middle of the field for the defense. He stands behind the defensive tackle and must tackle everything that comes through the middle. You have two MLBs in 3-4 and one in a 4-3 defense.

Cornerback (CB) — These players play outside and must cover the WRs on passing plays.

Free Safety (FS) — This player backs up the cornerbacks and helps give them support in the passing game.

Strong Safety (SS) — This player helps in the passing game but can also be brought towards the line of scrimmage to help in the run game as well.

Special Teams

Kicker (K) — The kicker (or placekicker) is responsible for a team's field goal or extra-point kicks.

Punter (P) — The punter's role is to catch the ball from the long snapper and kick it downfield to the opposing team on fourth down to help his team's field position.

Long Snapper (LS) — The long snapper is a specialized player who snaps the ball to the holder on field goals or to the punter so they can set up to kick it.

Kick Returner (KR) — The kick returner catches the kickoff from the opposing team and tries to return it for as many yards as possible to set his team up with good field position.

Punt Returner (PR) — The punt returner is an elusive-style player who catches punts from the opposing team and works to get return yardage.

Third Down Running Back (3DRB) — The third-down running back is often a specialized back who is strong in the passing game as a route runner or a pass blocker against blitzes.

Kickoff Specialist (KOS): The kickoff specialist's only job is to kick the ball off to the other team. Often the kicker shares this duty, but teams will sometimes bring in a player with a stronger leg, since accuracy isn't as important in this role.

Player Ratings

Ratings have never had such a huge effect over the results of gameplay as they do in Madden NFL 16. Make sure to test your assumptions and get players with high ratings in positions to make plays.

Acceleration (ACC) — How quickly a player gets to top speed.

Key Position: HB, WR, DE, OLB, CB

Agility (AGI) — How quickly and tightly a player is able to cut.

Key Position: HB, WR, CB

Awareness (AWR) — How smart a player is on the field; a good Awareness rating is great for CPU-controlled players.

Key Position: All positions

Ball Carrier Vision (BCV) — How well a CPU-controlled player can find holes in the defense and use moves.

Key Position: HB, WR, QB

Block Shedding (BSH) — How good a player is at getting off a block while trying to defending the run.

Key Position: DE, DT, OLB

Break Tackle (BTK) — How well a ball carrier can break tackles against a defender. This plays against a defender's Tackle rating.

Key Position: QB, HB, FB, WR

Carry (CAR) — How well a ball carrier holds onto the ball; a higher number means a lower chance of a fumble.

Key Position: HB, FB, QB, WR

Catch (CTH) — How well a receiver can catch and hold onto the ball; a higher number means fewer dropped passes.

Key Position: WR, TE, HB

Catch in Traffic (CIT) — How well a receiver is able to catch and hold onto a ball in traffic. A higher number means a better chance of hanging onto the ball when being tackled by a defender.

Key Position: TE, WR, HB

Deep Accuracy (DAC) — This affects how accurate a quarterback is on throws over 40 yards.

Key Position: QB

Elusiveness (ELU) — How good a player is at using elusive moves to get away from defenders. Elusiveness is more common in speed backs.

Key Position: HB, WR, QB

Finesse Moves (FMV) — How good a player rushing the QB is at using a finesse move to get off blocks. An example is a swim move.

Key Position: DE, DT, OLB

Hit Power (POW) — How hard a defensive player can tackle a ball carrier. A higher number means more hit stick and fumble chances.

Key Position: OLB, MLB, FS, SS

Impact Blocking (IBL) — How good a player is at making blocks in the open field. The higher the rating, the bigger the chance for a big block that can knock an opponent off his feet. These are more common in the special teams return game.

Key Position: Offensive linemen, FB, TE

Injury (INJ) — How good a player is at staying healthy. The higher the rating, the less of a chance a player will get injured during the game and over the course of a season.

Key Position: All Positions

Juke Move (JKM) — How well a player can use a fake step juke move to get away from defenders. The rating can affect the tightness of the move and the amount of ground covered when juking.

Key Position: HB, WR, QB

Jumping (JMP) — How high a player can jump.

Key Position: WR, TE, CB

Kick Accuracy (KAC) — How accurate a player is when kicking a field goal, punting the ball, or kicking off.

Key Position: K, P

Kick Power (KPW) — How far a player can kick a field goal, punt the ball, or kick off.

Key Position: K, P

Man Coverage (MCV) — How well a defender can stick with his receiver while he is running his route. The higher the number, the closer he will play his assignment. This rating goes up against a receiver's Route Running rating.

Medium Accuracy (MAC) — This affects how accurate a quarterback is on throws between 20 and 40 yards.

Key Position: QB

Key Position: CB, FS, SS

Overall (OVR) — This rating provides a great snapshot of a player's attributes. Although you need to dig deeper to find out exactly what type of player you have, this will allow you to make quick decisions about whom to start.

Key Position: All players

Pass Blocking (PBK) — How well an offensive lineman is at blocking a defender who is rushing the QB on a passing play.

Key Position: Offensive line

Play Recognition (PRC) — How quickly a defensive player identifies what type of play the offense is running. A higher rating means less of a chance to be fooled on play action and the quicker the player will attack the line on run plays.

Key Position: OLB, MLB, FS, SS

Power Moves (PMV) — How good a player rushing the QB is at using a power-style move to get off blocks. An example is a bull rush move.

Key Position: DE, DT, OLB

Press (PRS) — How good a defender is at lining up in front of a WR and not letting him off the line of scrimmage. The higher the number, the better the defender will be at playing bump-n-run coverage. This goes against a receiver's Release rating.

Key Position: CB, FS, SS

Pursuit (PUR) — How good a player is at taking proper angles to track down a ball carrier.

Key Position: OLB, MLB, FS, SS

Release (RLS) — How good a receiver is at getting off of press coverage. The higher the rating, the better chance he has to beat press coverage. This matches up against a defender's Press rating.

Key Position: WR

Return (RET) — How good a player is at catching the ball on special teams.

Key Position: KR, PR

Route Running (RTE) — How well a receiver can run sharp routes that can get him space from the defender. This will determine separation against a man-to-man defender based on the defender's Man Coverage rating.

Key Position: WR, TE, HB

Run Blocking (RBK) — How good an offensive lineman is at blocking a defender on a rushing play.

Key Position: Offensive line, FB, TE

TIP

Run Block Strength (RBS), Run Block Footwork (RBF), Pass Block Strength (PBS), and Pass Block Footwork (PBF) are no longer used in MUT or gameplay. They are used only in CFM simulation games.

Short Accuracy (SAC) — This affects how accurate a quarterback is on throws under 20 yards.

Key Position: QB

Spectacular Catch (SPC) — How well a receiver is able to go up and make jumping or unique catches. A higher number means a better chance of amazing catches over defenders.

Speed (SPD) — How fast a player runs.

Key Position: All players except offensive linemen

Spin Move(SPM) — How well a ball carrier can use a spin style move to get away from defenders. The rating can affect the tightness of the spin radius.

Key Position: HB, WR, QB

Stamina (STA) — This affects how long a player can stay in the game before becoming tired. The higher the rating, the more snaps a player will have before having to rest.

Key Position: All positions

Stiff Arm (SFA) — How good a ball carrier is at using his free hand to ward off tacklers.

Key Position: HB, WR, QB

Strength (STR) — How strong a player is and how well he can stand his ground or get pushed during a line battle.

Key Position: Offensive and defensive lines

Tackle (TAK) — How well a defensive player can tackle a ball carrier. A higher number means a lower chance of broken tackles.

Key Position: OLB, MLB, FS, SS

Throw Accuracy (THA) — How accurate a QB is when throwing the ball. A higher number means more consistent throws downfield.

Key Position: QB

TIP

Throw Accuracy (THA) is important only in games that are simulated.

Throw Power (THP) — How fast and far a QB can throw the ball. A higher number means better downfield throws.

Key Position: QB

Trucking (TRK) — How good a player is at using power moves to run over defenders. Trucking is more common in power backs.

Key Position: HB, FB, QB

Zone Coverage (ZCV) — How well a player will track his receiver in zone coverage. The higher the number, the more he will be able to cover a play in his zone during a pass play.

Key Position: OLB, MLB, CB, FS, SS
